GANDHI ORDERS INDIA CONTINUE WAR ON BRITAIN

Action Removes Hope for Peace.

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi and his colleagues in the working committee of the All-India National congress, who were released from prison last week to confer on Prime Minister MacDonald's offer of a qualified dominion status for India, voted unequivocally today for continuance of their civil disobedience program.

Thus all hope for immediate peace was abandoned, and if the civil resistance campaign is intensified Gandhi and other prominent Nationalists probably will eventually be back in the jails which they left only a few days ago.

Demand Prisoners' Release.

Gandhi has declared all along that all political prisoners must be released before the Nationalists will treat with the government, and the principal resolution adopted today embodied the demand for the freedom of these prisoners.

Other resolutions declared for continuance of the Nationalist activities which were begun almost a year ago—for the picketing of foreign cloth, narcotic and liquor shops; for the right of the people to make their own salt, and for withdrawal of "repressive government measures" against Nationalist activities.

It was clear from today's decision of the working committee that under existing conditions the congress will have nothing to do with a second round table conference to be held in India, as envisaged by Prime Minister MacDonald.

May Scorn Indian Delegates.

It is considered even doubtful whether Gandhi and his associates will treat with the Indian delegates returning from the London round table meeting, unless the latter recognize the demands formulated by the working committee as a condition precedent to peace.

Unless, therefore, MacDonald capitulates on these latest demands—which is considered altogether improbable at present—it is believed here that the unrest, uncertainty and economic stagnation resultant from the congress program must continue indefinitely.

In the meantime Great Britain will deal with that section of the Indian people not within the orbit of congress influence in the hope that they will accept the offer of the Indian provincial autonomy within the British empire, accompanied by safeguards.

The only ray of hope appearing now on India's horizon is a meeting scheduled at Bombay this week between Gandhi and associates and the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce. The representatives of "big business" embraced in this powerful organization may succeed in persuading the wizened little mahatma to modify his demands—or, at least, to call an armistice that the MacDonald proposals may be discussed in a quiet and dispassionate atmosphere.

A number of the wealthy members of this federation have been financing the congress campaign out of patriotic motives, but it appears now that they are ready to call a halt. The civil disobedience activities have created such havoc with business through out India, threatening even large firms with bankruptcy, that these men are said to feel that the time has come to take what England is ready to give, leaving the other demands for future negotiation.

Sees No Hope for Peace.

After today's meeting Gandhi announced all members of the committee were unanimous in insisting that the present civil disobedience movement cannot be withdrawn or slackened unless government officials call off the repressive measures against the congress activities.

"It is obvious that a mass movement like the present one cannot suddenly and without reasonable hope of a final peace settlement be stopped nor can it be called off unless hope of settlement is shared by the vast mass of the people," he continued. "This can never happen so long as the government's repression in its present virulent form continues."

Gandhi cited numerous instances in which he alleged repressive acts by police, adding:

"I don't see how it is possible to conduct peace negotiations with such suppressions fouling the atmosphere hour after hour."

FIND UNSECURED LOANS BY BANK ARE 42 MILLION

Slain Rothstein Is Among Debtors.

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Arnold Rothstein, the slain gambler, was among the scores of men who were able to borrow an aggregate of $42,000,000 from the Bank of the United States without putting up any securities, it was revealed when the inventory of the closed bank's resources was made public today by Superintendent of Banks Joseph A. Broderick.

The thousand page inventory gives no indication of the percentage of their savings which will be paid depositors, nor does it show, except by inference, the conditions which forced the bank to close.

Depositors May Get 70 per Cent.

Based entirely on book values, the inventory led some familiar with the situation to the conclusion that after final liquidation the more than 400,000 depositors may receive between 65 and 70 per cent of their money. Banking department officials declined, however, to sponsor this estimate pending completion of the liquidation now in progress.

The inventory, which is to be filed tomorrow morning with the county clerk's office, gives the resources of the bank as $237,863,937.57. These are listed in detail. No list of liabilities was appended but a detailed statement obtained from another source and confirmed as authoritative showed the total liabilities corresponding with the assets.

A figure of $75,000,000, nearly one third of the bank's assets, covering impairment, in one way or another, of the assets, was obtained from a study of the inventory and comments thereon by examiners for the state banking department.

Inventory Based on Estimates.

Broderick emphasized the fact that the inventory was based solely on the bank's own estimates as to the worth of its assets. Reductions made by state officials wiped out the surplus and undivided profits of the bank, totaling more than $17,000,000.

The report lists resources in detail. Eight hundred of its pages are devoted to lists of loans owed the banks. These loans constitute by far the largest item of resources, totaling $148,026,997.

Loans to affiliates totaled $24,381,574, of which only one item of $1,500,000 was listed as secured, and this security was in units of the bankrupt affiliate, the United States-Bankus corporation.

The inventory also sets forth that $17,103,945.43 of the bank's resources is tied up in "frozen" and "slow" mortgages and building loans.

Seventeen Directors on Notes.

Of the thirty-three directors of the bank, seventeen are listed as borrowers or endorsers of the notes of others, or both. The personal loans, most of them unsecured, totaled $2,578,632. Their endorsement of notes brought the total obligations of the directors to $5,140,454.

It was also revealed that in addition to Rothstein, who got an unsecured loan of $32,000, prominent figures in the "night club racket" as well as persons of national prominence and local bankers and politicians, obtained loans amounting in all to millions of dollars.

Some of the more prominent endorsers of notes were A. E. Lefcourt, William Randolph Hearst, Arthur W. Smith, son of the former governor; George J. Atwell, contractor, with an unsecured obligation at the time of $36,250; Judge Martin T. Manton of the federal Circuit court here, who appears as indorser on two notes, one for $69,000 and another for $175,000; Samuel S. Koenig, Republican leader of New York county, listed with an unsecured loan of $25,000; the Republican county committee of the city, with an unsecured loan of $20,000 obtained on a note indorsed by Richard B. Scandrett Jr., nephew of Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey; Florenz Ziegfeld Jr., with unsecured loan of $50,000; Emil E. Fuchs, former judge, with unsecured loan of $500.

Republican Club Had Loan.

Some others were the National Republican club with an unsecured loan of $5,000; the Meenan Coal company, $100,000 unsecured, obtained on indorsement of William F. Kenny, friend of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith; Will Oakland, night club entertainer, $6,000 unsecured, and Arkee Schwartz, one of the owners of the raided Club Abbey, $4,528 unsecured.

The Amtorg Trading corporation, local financial representatives for the soviet government of Russia, discounted notes for $76,944, and Joseph F. Tumulty, secretary to late President Wilson, discounted notes for $1,116.

Plumbers Act to Rid Union of Racketeers

More than 50 members of the Plumbers' union held a meeting yesterday under the auspices of attaches and police of the state's attorney's office and paved the way to oust union officials who they say are hoodlums and racketeers. Prosecutors say they expect to seek the indictment of the accused officials.

A meeting to protest against racketeering officials was called last week in the union's regular meeting place, 1340 Washington boulevard. But the meetings ended in confusion when the lights were turned out. At that time, however, word was spread among the 2,700 union members of the plans for yesterday's meeting, which was held in the Majestic ballroom, 5247 West Madison street.

Discuss Years of Terror.

The discussion throughout the meeting centered on the eleven years of terrorism through which the union members have lived. No election of officers had been held in that time—at least no meeting at which the rank and file were allowed to vote, the dissenters declared. Members have been slugged and intimidated and, according to many, robbed.

"There has not been a legitimate audit of our books in the 11 years of hoodlum rule," one member declared.

Investigate "Relief" Fund.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald F. Thompson, who last week seized the records of the union, said a fund of $110,000 had been collected in the last six months through an enforced assessment of the working plumbers and supposedly for the unemployed plumbers, but that there was no record of its disbursement. This will be investigated, and if the facts warrant, evidence given to the grand jury, Mr. Thompson said.

It was decided yesterday to give notice to all members of another meeting to be held next Sunday afternoon, at which a vote will be taken on the question of declaring all offices vacant and electing new officials. The plumbers are promised sufficient police protection.

The Rev. T. V. Shannon, pastor, said money had been missing from the box for some time.

DO-X Ready to Fly at Dawn to Cape Verde

[Copyright: 1931: by the New York Times.]

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Feb. 2 [Monday].—The giant flying boat DO-X is ready to take off at dawn for the Cape Verde islands on the second stage of her trans-Atlantic flight.

Trouble with one of her motors, which prevented a start yesterday morning, has now been repaired. If the weather permits the great plane will roar off on the 850 mile jump to the Cape Verdes, almost on the equator, and later on the longer and more perilous crossing to Natal, Brazil.

Finds Engine Defect.

A recurrence of bad luck which has pursued the DO-X for the last two and a half months kept her tugging restlessly at hawsers in this mountain locked harbor yesterday.

Capt. Christiansen said he intended to hop for the Cape Verdes, but after a short spin over the city at dawn to test the motors a defect was discovered. The plane came down with a gentle splash into the bay and the crew started work immediately on repairs.

Viewed by Hundreds.

Curious hundreds from the interior of the island flocked into town throughout the day in their blue denim suits and canvas sandals to inspect the giant flying boat. Small boats filled with sightseers rowed out toward the DO-X's wings, but were kept at a safe distance.

GIRL, 11, KIDNAPED AND RETURNED TO MOTHER UNHURT

As Mrs. Helen Hoffman and her 11 year old daughter, Jean, alighted from a bus last night to walk to their home at 3658 Wellington avenue a man in a small sedan drove up to the curb. He leaned from the car and called the girl to him. Thinking he was some one who knew her she went to the car. Pointing a revolver at he, he said:

"Get in here."

The mother reported to the Gragin police the child had been kidnaped and descriptions of the car and the abductor were broadcast. However, some three hours later Jean was returned unharmed. The kidnapers changed cars, she said drove around a while, and then let her out in front of her home. She said the man made no attempt to harm her. She is a student in the sixth grade of the Peter Reinberg elementary school.

Plane Crash Kills Heath, Air Pioneer

Edward W. Heath, 42 years old, pioneer in the aviation industry and noted for his experiments with small, light airplanes built at low cost, crashed to his death yesterday afternoon while on a trial flight in a tiny plane of his own manufacture. The plane fell on a farm near Morton Grove.

Heath was president of the Heath Airplane company, 1727 Sedgwick street. He had been flying for more than 20 years, was said to have been the first man to complete a loop the loop with a glider, and had won several prizes at the national air races last year.

Works on Baby Plane.

Within the last year he had become interested in the manufacture of a baby plane weighing only 320 pounds and powered with a motor known as the Heath B4, which was practically a four cylinder motorcycle engine, rebuilt. The plane was to be sold for less than $1,000.

Yesterday afternoon Heath appeared at his airport at Dempster street and Potter road, near Des Plaines, which he used for experimental purposes, and announced to Merle Lambert, manager of the field, that he intended taking up a newly built plane. Lambert had flown the plane in the morning and had found nothing wrong with its performance, he said.

Farmer Sees Plane in Trouble.

The small plane made a quick ascent and circled over the field at an altitude of 1,500 feet. It headed eastward for a short distance. Fred Stoelting, a farmer, saw the plane overhead and noticed that the motor seemed to be misfiring, he said.

Heath apparently tried out the plane in a short dive, witnesses said. When he endeavored to straighten out the dive, one of the wings was seen to collapse. The ship went into a nose dive and crashed on Stoelting's farm. Heath was instantly killed, the motor being driven back into the pilot's seat.

Maj. Reed Landis, special deputy coroner in charge of aviation deaths, who went to the scene, found that one wing of the plane had been completely severed and the other was partly broken. He will hold an inquest today.

Became Glider Enthusiast.

The tiny plane had a wing spread of only 25 feet. Heath claimed that it would make 70 miles an hour. He became interested in the small type of airplane after becoming a glider enthusiast and making many flights in the motorless planes. The motor of the small ship was only 75 cubic inches in size and Heath's company advertised the plane as "the smallest in the world."

Heath is survived by his widow, Berna, and a daughter, Dickie Marie, aged 15. He lived at 633 Fullerton parkway. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery, in accordance with Heath's expressed wish. Many of his flying comrades are buried there. Funeral plans await the arrival of the flyer's mother, Mrs. James Currie, from Phoenix, Ariz.

PILOT, STUDENT KILLED.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Owen William King, 20 years old, a student pilot, and James Ross, 22 years old, his flying instructor, were fatally injured here today in the crash of their plane. The plane appeared to be in trouble shortly after taking off from Casa Loma airport, and steadily lost altitude. When it was fifty feet in the air it nosed over into a walnut grove.

53.5 Degrees Above in Minneapolis; Record

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The highest February temperature in the 40 years' history of the Minneapolis weather bureau was recorded here today when the thermometer reached 53.5 degrees at 3 p. m. Marks of 50 or higher were common throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas.

THREE ALLEGED RAPISTS FREE ON MINOR CHARGE

Bride-to-Be Victim of Gang Attack.

Prosecutor Charles J. Mueller announced last night that he would present today to the special grand jury evidence that three men arrested for rape had been allowed to go free through police neglect or connivance. Mr. Mueller said there were reports that $3,000 had been paid to "fix" the case.

The prosecutor stated that he had been unable to get a satisfactory explanation of the apparent miscarriage of justice from the police of the West Chicago avenue station who made the arrests, Peter Ward and John Fleming, or from their commanding officers, Capt. Joseph Palcaynski, Lieut. Daniel O'Hara, and Sergt. William Kostrewski.

Story of the Case.

The young woman in the case has disappeared, the prosecutor said. The men involved had not yet been interviewed, he said. The information on which he acted was this:

Miss Pearl Heller of Wausau, Wis., came to Chicago to be married, and on June 19, 1930, a day or two before the wedding day, she was pricing second hand furniture near Chicago and Ashland avenues. In some way she was induced or forced to enter an apartment at 842 North Ashland avenue. Her screams brought Policemen Ward and Fleming, a flivver squad of the West Chicago Avenue station.

They arrested Constantine Benortowski, 1340 Holt street, and Zigmund Cielinski and John Dubinsky, whose addresses are not given.

Hospital Examines Woman.

Lieut. O'Hara took a statement from Miss Heller and sent her to the county hospital, where a physical examination was made and a report given to the police that she had been ravished. One of her eyes was blackened, her lips were swollen and bruised and her arm was black and blue, the internes at the county hospital reported.

Attaches at the county hospital last night said they recalled that Miss Heller appeared intoxicated, but a nurse who attended her said she was a very young looking girl, that her body was bruised, and that she complained that three men had attacked her.

On the day after Miss Heller appeared at the hospital the three men arrested were charged with disorderly conduct and admitted to bail of $25 each. In court on the following day before Judge William E. Helander the prisoners were discharged. Mr. Mueller said he understood no evidence regarding what had happened to the young woman was given in court.

Policemen Are Questioned.

When this story reached Prosecutor Mueller, who is in charge of the special grand jury's investigation of the police department, he said he summoned Capt. Palcsynski. The captain, Mueller said, declared he did not recall the case and denied having authorized the release of the men on the disorderly charge.

Lieut. O'Hara, according to the prosecutor, denied having given the authorization and said he had gone home after his tour of duty and had left orders that no action be taken pending his return next day. In the interim the men were freed, he said.

Sergt. Kostrewski was acting as lieutenant on one of the shifts at the time and when ordered to report at the state's attorney's office for questioning about the case he refused. Later he was ordered to go there by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. He was held during Friday night after he had torn up a subpoena issued for his immediate appearance before the grand jury, but was released on his promise to appear today.

Sergeant Denies Knowledge.

Kostrewski denied any knowledge of the freeing of the rapists. He said he was off duty the day they were arrested. He declared he did not go to the state's attorney's office last Friday because the man that notified him to appear could not be located when he telephoned the office.

"When I did go I was questioned by Detective Michael Ahern," Kostrewski said last night. "He told me to come back next day. I told him I had a physician's certificate showing I was sick. He tore it up."

He said Mr. Mueller later questioned him and wanted to know about the rape case, and that he reiterated he was off duty that day.

"Then I was ordered placed in a cell in the Warren avenue station," he said, "and I didn't get even a glass of water all night. They wouldn't let me out till next morning at 9 o'clock."

Mr. Mueller said he did not know whether or not Miss Heller was married after the attack or what had become of her. Regardless of whether he obtains verification of the charge that $3,000 was paid to free the three prisoners, and that some prominent politician was interested, the prosecutor said he will ask the indictment of the policemen on the "clear record of a conspiracy to obstruct justice."

At Wausau last night a policewoman recalled that Miss Heller had returned to Wausau last summer, saying she had married in Chicago. The policewoman had not heard of her since then, but said she believes the young woman is living in Wausau. She said Miss Heller was of a good family.

The special grand jury also will hear the statement today of Albert R. Brunker, chairman of the civic safety committee, who made startling statements in a speech at Boston last Thursday. Brunker was reported to have expressed pleasure at the opportunity of repeating his speech to the grand jurors. "The published version greatly exaggerates what I said," Brunker told Mr. Mueller yesterday.

Just what portions of the speech, as quoted, were exaggerations, he did not say, according to the prosecutor. Mr. Mueller expressed a desire to hear first hand about the statements Brunker was reported to have made at Boston, such as: "Al Capone has 6,000 officials on his pay roll"; "80 per cent of the Chicago judges are criminals"; and "the police know who committed the Valentine day massacre and are covering up."

Mr. Brunker was not available for interviewing yesterday. He sent an announcement from the University club that he was misquoted and announced his willingness to so testify.

Eye Police Reinstatements.

In addition the grand jurors are expected to inquire into the reinstatement in the police department of twelve men who had been discharged during the period between 1921 and 1927. Many of the policemen were charged with serious offenses but they were allowed to regain their former positions through court orders after according to charges—the city failed to make the proper defense to the suits.

Mr. Mueller said he believed the matter was properly a subject for the special grand jury's consideration.

The grand jury is to continue in session until its work is completed, although it is handicapped by the delay of the county board in appropriating $50,000 for its needs, Mr. Mueller said. The prosecutor has been interviewing policemen all over the city and has been seeking to get enough material to present to the jury through ordinary channels while waiting for money with which to employ investigators.

DOUBTS LEGALITY OF CITY PLAN TO MEET PAY ROLLS

Strawn Questions Use of Special Funds.

Silas Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee formed to help the local governments finance themselves, expressed doubt yesterday as to the legality of the plan of City Treasurer August B. Singer to borrow money from special funds to pay the salaries of city employés.

The treasurer revealed on Saturday that the city plans to dip into the traction, special assessment, and other trust funds to cover the $1,000,000 pay roll of the police and fire departments, due tomorrow, and that money to meet school board pay rolls will be transferred from the building fund to the educational fund. Canceled checks of the employés paid would be the only guarantee of repayment to the special funds, according to Singer's plan.

Doubts Legality of Plan.

"It would seem to me to be improper, to say the least, for such a plan to be carried out," Mr. Strawn said. "Of course the money in the special funds can be used for the purchase of tax anticipation warrants, but there will be no 1931 tax warrants for a while yet.

"I have not been informed as to exactly what process they are going to use to put this plan into effect, but I am sure our committee will watch it with interest. At this time I don't see just how it can be done legally."

Informal borrowing from special funds to meet corporate obligations has been condemned in the past, although it was resorted to last year when the city was in financial trouble. Shortly afterward, however, George K. Schmidt, then controller, and Charles S. Peterson, then city treasurer, announced that they would not permit the practice again because of its extralegal character.

What the Law Says.

Chapter 24 of the Illinois statutes provides that the city treasurer "shall keep a separate account of each fund" in the city treasury and the law elsewhere specifies that the funds are not interchangeable.

"All moneys received on any special assessment," the law says, "shall be held by the treasurer as a special fund to be applied to the payment of the improvement for which the assessment was made, and said money shall be used for no other purpose whatever, unless to reimburse such corporation for money expended for such improvement."

One section of the law allows the purchase of tax warrants from special funds, but it provides that the warrants shall be the security. Nowhere in the law is there any specific authorization for borrowing from special funds with canceled checks as security.

Ireland Abandons Plans for Exhibition at Cork

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Feb. 1.—It is officially announced today that the international exhibition which was to have been held in Cork in 1932 has been abandoned because of the world depression.

WATCH HIM TODAY.

THE GROUNDHOG.
[(C) Paramount News Photo.]

Today is the day that the fate of winter is supposed to be written by the possible flicker of a shadow, as cast by the weather man's annual rival, the groundhog.

Some time before sunset, according to tradition, the shy rodent is expected to emerge from his underground hibernation. If the sun is beaming the animal sees his shadow, becomes frightened at it, and darts back into his hole for six more weeks of winter. If the sky is overcast and no shadow frightens the groundhog he stays out and winter's as good as over, and the outdoor addicts may begin lugging out golf bags and other sports paraphernalia.

Of course, the government forecaster does not subscribe to the fancied divinations of the groundhog, and guarantees no accurate prediction of the weather menu beyond two or three days—and then with reservations.

MRS. BOGLE, RICH COAL MAGNATE'S WIDOW, ARRESTED

Mrs. Alta M. Bogle, widow of Walter S. Bogle, millionaire coal magnate, was arrested yesterday by the Sheffield avenue police at her home at 837 Wolfram street on a warrant charging disorderly conduct. The warrant was obtained by Clarence A. Le Roy of the same address.

Reasons for the issuance of the warrant were not divulged. According to Mrs. Bogle, she is manager of the Wolfram street building and Le Roy is a tenant. Efforts of Policemen Emil Bottcher and Ellsworth Erickson to serve the warrant Saturday were unsuccessful. Yesterday, according to the policemen, they threatened to kick down the door of her apartment before she submitted to arrest. She gave bond later and was released.

Mrs. Bogle will be arraigned in Town Hall court today. She was married to Bogle in 1921. He died in 1922, leaving her $75,000 through a prenuptial agreement. Subsequently Mrs. Bogle sued for a dower share in his estate of $5,000,000.

LYLE ATTACKS POLITICS' SWAY OVER SCHOOLS

Albert Hits at Judge's Campaign Manager.

The need for elimination of graft and politics from the Chicago public schools was emphasized by Judge John H. Lyle yesterday as he carried his campaign for the Republican mayoralty nomination into two widely separated sections of Chicago.

JUDGE LYLE.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert at the same time, also campaigning for the nomination, continued his attack against Judge Lyle, asserting that the judge's campaign is directly linked with former Senator William Lorimer through the association of John L. East, Lyle's campaign manager, with the Lorimer interests.

Ald. Albert also assailed the action of Acting Police Commissioner Alcock in transferring Capt. Thomas Condon from the Hudson avenue district to Brighton Park. The alderman said he had predicted that Capt. Condon would feel the pressure brought to cause his transfer because he kept the lid clamped down in the Hudson avenue district.

Promises War on Racketeers.

"This is a case of an officer getting punished for his honesty," Albert declared, "but he has this to anticipate—that after I am elected mayor of Chicago men like Condon will come into their own. I'll use him and the others like him to drive the racketeers out of Chicago, particularly the political racketeers who feather the nests of the other outlaws."

In declaring that Lyle's campaign is hooked up with Lorimer interests, Ald. Albert said East's offices are in the same suite occupied by Lorimer's paving materials company in the Civic Opera building.

"I make no charges," Albert said, "but it looks peculiar, at least, to find a mayoralty candidate having his campaign managed by a man who occupies the same offices as a company which has received paving contracts from the city and which probably will seek other contracts from the city."

Lyle Speaks in Churches.

Judge Lyle spoke at the Trinity Evangelical church at Austin boulevard and Fillmore street yesterday morning and at the Sunday evening forum of St. James's church, 46th street and Ellis avenue, last night.

In each address the judge reiterated his pledge to divorce the public schools from politics and abolish "graft and grafters from the administration of school affairs."

"Not a day passes," Judge Lyle said, "without some teacher asking me: 'Do you really mean it? Are you going to take the schools out of politics?' I wish to reiterate that I do mean it. When you think it over, when you turn back your recollection to numerous scandals—or disclosures, if the word 'scandals' offends sensitive ears—that have marked the records of the board of education in recent years, you will join me in regarding as shameful that even the suspicion of graft should attach itself to any action of the school board, whether applying to building contracts, supplies, purchases of school sites, jobs, or anything else among its wide activities calling for the expenditure of ninety million dollars or so yearly.

"Every dollar of this huge trust fund should be spent honestly for the schools, for the education of Chicago's children, and not a dollar in waste or graft. When contractors know that they need not pay 20 per cent for the greasing of palms, their bids will be that much lower, a distinct saving to taxpayers.

"By eliminating waste and misuse of public funds in the school system and by instituting economy in expenditures, I believe that the hackneyed slogan of 'a seat for every child' can at last be realized."

In his evening speech at St. James's church, Judge Lyle described the campaign for the Republican mayoralty nomination as a fight between the gangsters, hoodlums and racketeers "who have fed, fattened and thrived under Thompsonism" on one side, and the forces of law and order under his banner on the other.

"Last Stand for the Gangs."

"These Capones, Morans, and Druggans are making their last stand, and they know it," the judge said. "They have all rallied to the Thompson cause, along with the professional bondsmen, crooked lawyers and other elements who make their livelihood from outlaws. They have prospered under the Thompson administration, and they know they won't prosper under me. I'll drive them out and they know that unless they can put Thompson over again their day is done in Chicago."

Judge Lyle said the Chicago crime commission had defined the issue exactly when, during the judicial campaign last fall, the commission broke its precedent of 11 years to indorse him for judge and made "Lyle or Lawlessness" the battle cry.

Plan Women's Headquarters.

Lyle headquarters announced that a branch to be devoted exclusively to handling the women's activities of the campaign would be established today in rooms adjoining the general headquarters in the La Salle hotel. Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, Red Cross and welfare worker, will be in charge. The opening of this headquarters will make a total of 27 rooms in the hotel occupied by the Lyle campaign forces.

The indorsement of Judge Lyle's candidacy by the Bethlehem Baptist Sunday school convention of 11,000 members in the first, second and third wards was announced yesterday. The convention, comprising a dozen churches in the south side area, announced that the indorsement of Judge Lyle was made unanimously after all the candidates had been considered. Matthew Burgess is president of the convention.

Little interest was evinced at Lyle's general headquarters in the window smashing attack on a Lyle branch headquarters at 421 West North avenue early yesterday. A passenger in an automobile which sped past the headquarters hurled a brick through the front window.

Democratic Luncheon Today.

The Democrats have arranged a luncheon at noon today in the Bal Tabarin at the Hotel Sherman, at which State Senator Thomas J. Courtney is to speak on the necessity of electing a mayor who would have the respect of the state legislature, if the city is to be given the legislation it requires. Courtney said yesterday that the legislature would respect Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee, but would ignore all other candidates.

THEATER JANITOR FOUND DEAD.

UTLER TO FACE TRIAL ON FEB. 16 IN PHILADELPHIA

spects Vanderbilt to Prove Mussolini Story.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special] — Tentative arrangements to try Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler on charges at Philadelphia on Feb. 16 were announced by naval officials today. In the meantime some modification is to be made of the rigid arrest order which since last Wednesday has kept the pepper marine officer a close prisoner in his own reservation at Quantico.

Navy department officials indicated that the charges which are to be filed against Maj. Gen. Butler in connection with his recent criticism of Premier Mussolini of Italy as a hit and run driver will be ready by tomorrow.

Prepare Court Precept Today.

As soon as these become known, Secretary of the Navy Adams expects to prepare the court precept announcing the date of the trial and the place where it will be held. It is expected Butler will be accused of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline. All indications today were that President Hoover rather than Secretary of the Navy Adams was responsible for the court martial order.

Philadelphia tentatively has been chosen as the place where the court martial board of seven will hold its sessions because as many as 250 witnesses, most of them living at Philadelphia, are slated to be examined. Prosecuting and defense attorneys now are planning to call every person, including reporters, who attended the now famous meeting of the Contemporary club Jan. 19. It was at this meeting that the Butler speech was delivered.

Day's Developments.

Other developments today in the now celebrated Butler-Mussolini court martial proceedings included the following:

1. Disclosure that counsel for Maj. Gen. Butler plans to call Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., supposed to be the source of the Butler hit and run story, which precipitated the court martial proceedings, using a subpoena, if necessary.

2. Disclosure that Maj. Gen. Butler probably will be permitted to make trips to Philadelphia or New York, if they are necessary in the preparation of his case.

3. Receipt of information in Washington that clemency petitions are to be circulated in North Carolina, Pennsylvania and other states and directed to the White House, in an effort to stave off drastic treatment of Maj. Gen. Butler.

4. Disclosure that friends of Maj. Gen. Butler, many of high national standing, are interceding with John W. Davis, New York lawyer, in an effort to persuade him to head Butler's defense counsel. In this connection an emissary of Maj. Henry Leonard of Maj. Gen. Butler's defense forces will see Mr. Davis tomorrow.

Pacifist Tinge to Trial.

Indications were also plentiful today that a pacifist tinge may be given to the Butler court martial proceedings by the summoning, as witnesses, of Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, a nationally prominent pacifist, and Dr. William L. Hull, now professor of history at Swarthmore college. These two speakers were on the Contemporary club program on which Maj. Gen. Butler appeared. At that time Maj. Gen. Butler used the Mussolini hit and run story as an argument to prove that in the present condition of the world complete disarmament is impossible.

According to reports from Philadelphia, Maj. Gen. Butler debated the disarmament question with the two pacifists, taking the position that so long as certain nations hold the views that they do, the United States can not be certain they will always live up to the agreements they sign.

Butler's remarks are quoted in the Philadelphia newspapers as follows:

"I agree with Dr. Hull of Swarthmore if we would all lay down our arms there couldn't be any war. But there are mad dog nations who won't get the word who will refuse to sign the agreements, or, if they sign, refuse to abide by them.

"A friend of mine said he had a ride in a new automobile with Mussolini, a car with an armored nose, that could knock over fences and slip under barbed wire. He said they drove through the country and towns at seventy miles an hour. They ran over a child, and my friend screamed Mussolini said he shouldn't do that, that it was only one life and the affairs of the state couldn't be stopped by one life. Now can you talk disarmament with a man like that?"

Husband Fights Her Son and Friend

MRS. MURIEL SNYDER.

In Court Today

A disturbance in the apartment of Mrs. Muriel Snyder, 1544 Estes avenue, early yesterday in which her estranged husband, Samuel W. Snyder Jr., 35, and his former friend, Norman L. Scott of Wilmette, 25 years old, were arrested on disorderly conduct charges, will come up for settlement this morning in Town Hall court.

Snyder, the son of a wealthy contractor who built the Chicago Stadium, charged that he found Scott hiding in a closet without a coat when he called at his wife's home at an early hour Sunday morning. Carleton Yarrington, her son by a former marriage, 17 years old, was in the apartment and his nose was broken in a fist fight which Snyder fought with his stepson and Scott, causing neighbors to summon police.

According to Mrs. Snyder, she was injured some time ago in an automobile accident and suffers from heart trouble so that it is necessary for her to be propped up in bed. Her husband deserted her, she declared, and she sent for their mutual friend, Scott, who had since been helping her 17 year old son to care for her.

Attorney Benjamin Davis of Socrates and Davis, who is representing Mrs. Snyder, filed a suit for separate maintenance on her behalf a week ago, he said yesterday. Snyder is living at the Wellington Arms hotel, 2970 Sheridan road.

DUCE DID SEE VANDERBILT.

ROME, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Italian foreign office, which last week was quoted as saying that Premier Mussolini never had met Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., said today it did not mean the premier had not met Vanderbilt, but merely that he had not driven with him.

This was in connection with the affair which has caused Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the United States marines to be summoned for court martial, as Butler is accused of implying that Mussolini was a hit and run driver and is said to have based his account on the story of a motor ride Vanderbilt took with the premier.

"Vanderbilt had an audience with Premier Mussolini about five years ago," said a foreign office statement, "but it merely was a brief audience such as hundreds of foreigners have been granted.

"We wish to reiterate emphatically that Vanderbilt never had been driven in an automobile by Premier Mussolini."

Sees Duce Back Down.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Italian foreign office afforded Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. a hearty laugh tonight, and evoked from him his first definite intimation that he may, should conditions change, break his silence regarding Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler's Philadelphia speech picturing Premier Mussolini as a hit-and-run driver.

"Ha!" Vanderbilt chuckled, informed upon his return from an automobile ride of the foreign office's amendment of its last week's statement that Premier Mussolini "never met Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr."

"They seem to be backing down a bit, don't they?" Vanderbilt asked. He laughed outright at the characterization of his visit with Il Duce as "merely a brief audience such as hundreds of foreigners have been granted."

"That interview," he remarked, still chuckling, and referring to a published interview of 1926, "was about 4,000 words long!"

GIRLS' QUARREL SOLVES MURDER OF POLICEMAN

Slayer Seized, Confesses; Woman Held.

The murder of Patrolman James Corcoran of the Des Plaines street district, mysteriously shot to death nine weeks ago at 29th street and Prairie avenue, was solved yesterday as the result of a quarrel between two young women.

POLICEMAN CORCORAN.

Thomas De Sett, 34 years old, in youth a coal miner at Herrin, but for the last eight years a pander and drug peddler in Chicago, was seized by a Cottage Grove police squad early yesterday as the killer. Questioned for four hours by Capt. William Stapleton, he finally confessed having killed Corcoran with the policeman's own gun when Corcoran sought to arrest him.

Two Girls Are Held.

Held as material witnesses are Donna Bevier, 23 years old, and Peggy Smith, 25 years old, described by Capt. Stapleton as inmates of a disorderly house at 2904 Prairie avenue. The Smith woman, who is said to have left her husband three months ago when she came under De Sett's influence, may be booked later as accessory to murder, according to the police.

In view of De Sett's confession the police plan today to reopen their investigation into the death of his wife, Mary, who succumbed to narcotic poisoning five years ago and for whose murder a coroner's jury recommended De Sett be held at the time. In that case De Sett refused to talk, and the charge was eventually nolle prossed for lack of evidence.

Investigation of Patrolman Corcoran's death presented peculiar difficulties, according to Capt. Stapleton. Corcoran, who was 33 years old, unmarried, and esteemed by his superiors, as a likeable and efficient officer, had set out in his car on Thanksgiving eve from his rooming house on the west side. At 11 p. m., four hours later, he was found dead, with a bullet in his neck and his pistol missing, the body lying ten feet away from his car. He had been off duty at the time and was wearing civilian clothes.

Woman Tells of Killer.

Capt. Stapleton was about to drop the case when, late last Saturday night, the Smith woman came to the station with a complaint that her roommate, Miss Bevier, had snatched $50 from her in a hair pulling match. The other girl was brought in from a flat at 1752 Roosevelt road, where the two resided. Angry over her roommate's accusation, the Bevier woman brought up the Corcoran murder.

"She calls me a thief," the girl exclaimed. "Well, ask her about that copper's death. Ask her if her sweetie did it?"

The Smith woman admitted that De Sett had returned to her on Thanksgiving morning after an extended absence, with his hands bloody, his clothing awry, and bearing a pistol, which he told her to dispose of. The woman said she called a cab, drove to the Halsted street bridge, and dropped the weapon in the river.

Captured in Raid.

The hunt for De Sett was started. Squads raiding houses in the residential streets in Maywood found the suspect asleep in the home of his brother, Peter. Under questioning he admitted the crime.

De Sett said he had just left the Smith woman in the Prairie avenue house when Patrolman Corcoran drove by. The officer called on him to stop, displaying his star. As De Sett quickened his step to flee, Corcoran drew his pistol, according to the confession. De Sett then turned, grappled for the gun, and wresting it from Corcoran's grasp, fired twice, he admitted. He ran to the corner, boarded a passing street car and fled, leaving the day after Thanksgiving for Herrin, where he remained until the need for money brought him back to the Smith woman in Chicago.

ICE BREAKS UNDER AUTO; 3 DROWN IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Duluth, Minn., youths were drowned and two others swam to safety tonight when their automobile crashed through ice on Superior bay.

Those drowned were Andrew Lovelace, Harry Lind, and Vern Nielson, driver of the heavy sedan. William Schinnin and William Howalt escaped from the car and clung to the ice until help arrived.

The mishap occurred as the five went to the aid of a truck stalled on the ice. The ice, weakened by today's unseasonably warm temperature, sank under the car and carried its occupants down in 15 feet of water.

FOOD POISONING KILLS 7 MORE; TOLL IS NOW 10

Two Other Persons Are Expected to Die.

Grafton, N. D., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Seven more Grafton residents died last night and today from what doctors have identified as botulism, a form of food poisoning, bringing the death toll to nine.

Two other persons are ill from the same malady and not expected to recover, said Dr. S. W. Glaspel, public health officer, who has taken charge of the cases.

The twelve became ill late Friday after having attended a party at the Edward Hein farm home, two miles from here, Thursday night. Home preserved peas used in a salad are believed to have contained the poison. The victims became ill late Friday.

Five New Victims Women.

Those who died last night and today were: Mrs. Thomas Chapiewski, 40; Mrs. Elmer Stokke, 28; Mrs. Edward Hein, Miss Elizabeth Hein, 20; a daughter of Mrs. Hein; Arthur Lessard, 25; Marguerite McWilliams, 20, Grafton telephone operator, and Edward Hein.

Those who died previously were Arthur Jorandry, 30; Harry Chapiewski, 15, son of Mrs. Thomas Chapiewski, and Edward Hein, Jr., 15.

The two persons who are critically ill are Genevieve Hein, 16, and Joe Leach, 26. They are in a hospital here suffering, Dr. Glaspel said, from a paralysis of the throat, which all the victims had before they died.

State Examination Asked.

Dr. Glaspel today asked Dr. H. E. French of Grand Forks, supervisor of the state health laboratories, to make an examination of the contents of the victims' stomachs. Dr. French said it was the first time such cases had been brought to his attention from North Dakota.

TAXI DRIVER IN WAUKEGAN SLAIN; HUNT FOR CLEWS

Chief of Police Edward Ahlstrom of Waukegan and State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county were cooperating yesterday to solve the mystery of the death of Ewing Cambridge, 30 year old independent taxi driver, whose body, with a bullet through the chest, was found yesterday morning in the west end of the town.

Cambridge, who had driven a cab for seven years and did a thriving business taking elopers to one of the marrying justices, was last seen alive in a sandwich shop in the downtown section near the railroad station, where his stand was located. He had just returned after taking his wife, Lucille, to their home at 918 Walnut street. An unidentified man opened the door of the shop, asked to engage his cab, and Cambridge left.

Nothing more was heard from him until yesterday, when his body was discovered lying on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stoffel, 202 Washington park. The cab was 50 feet away. The motor had run till the gasoline was exhausted. The fare meter registered 60 cents. The Stoffels and other neighbors recalled they had heard a noise about midnight which they thought was "a car backfiring." Cambridge always carried a .32 caliber revolver in an armpit holster, but apparently he had not had time to draw it. His watch and $1 were found in his pockets.

HOOVER FORCES TO HOLD FIRM IN RELIEF DISPUTE

Can't Compromise, Tilson Asserts.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.] — Administration forces stood firm today against any compromise on relief legislation. The senate Democrats showed no disposition to make concessions. The question of a special session hung in the balance, but with each side hopeful that the other would weaken before the present congress comes to an end on March 4.

The opposition of administration Republicans to any compromise was expressed by Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], majority leader of the house. His position was approved by Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate.

Not a Time for Compromise.

"In all matters of legislation where no question of principle is involved compromise is not only customary, it is ofttimes necessary," said Mr. Tilson. "But in connection with the proposed $25,000,000 dole there is no proper place for compromise. The amount of money involved in the initial appropriation is of relatively minor importance. Once the door to the federal treasury for a dole to aid citizens in distress is opened, the appropriation used as the opening wedge, whatever its magnitude, will soon pale into insignificance in the wake of what will follow.

"Once the Red Cross is destroyed, as it must inevitably be by a federal dole, and our local charities paralyzed, as they will be when the federal government takes over responsibility for charitable relief, the appropriations that must follow as a consequence of such a policy would now stagger belief.

Calls it Choice of Evils.

"The house does not desire an extra session of congress. There is not the slightest need for an extra session, so far as the public interests are concerned. There is no legitimate excuse for an extra session. The country should be saved from an extra session. But deliverance from it should not be bought at the sacrifice of an important principle. Those who insist upon such a price must take the full responsibility for an extra session and whatever consequences may follow from it."

As the situation now stands, the Democrats, through Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader, declare their intention to tie up important appropriation bills, thus forcing President Hoover to call a special session of the new congress, unless six different relief proposals are enacted into law.

Hitched to Supply Bills.

Already five of the six proposals have been added in the senate as amendments to appropriation bills.

The sixth item in the Democratic program, the only one not already attached to an appropriation bill, is the Caraway $15,000,000 loan for food in the drought area. This will be offered by Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] this week, probably when the independent offices appropriation bill is taken up. The senate previously approved it as part of the bill providing loans for seed, feed and fertilizer, but its senate supporters were forced to accept defeat at the hands of the administration, in order not to hold up final passage of that measure.

Payne Asks Donations.

John Barton Payne, head of the Red Cross, tonight made a nation-wide appeal for support in the drive to raise $10,000,000 for use in the drought area, $4,883,159 of which has been pledged up to date.

"No thoughtful member or friend of the Red Cross will be deceived by the charge made in the senate that in refusing to administer a $25,000,000 general relief fund proposed ,to be voted by congress the Red Cross is 'playing politics.'"

Church Dedicates Memorial Window to Actress

Bishop Officiates

The Lotta Crabtree memorial stained glass window was dedicated yesterday morning by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, at St. Stephen's Episcopal church, 3533 North Albany avenue. The window was the center of a controversy in a New York church some time ago, and, due to Lotta Crabtree's alleged notoriety as an actress, the window was refused by the church.

The Rev. Irvin St. John Tucker, pastor of St. Stephen's church, applied for the window.

BISHOP CANNON GOES TO HOSPITAL ON EVE OF TRIAL

BISHOP CANNON. [Acme-P.&A. Photo.]

Hospital attachés declined to reveal the nature or seriousness of his illness. They referred inquirers to Bishop Cannon's physician, Dr. Roy L., Sexton. He could not be reached.

The bishop had but recently recovered from an attack of arthritis which confined him to the hospital for several weeks.

A board of twelve clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, is scheduled to convene Tuesday to hear Cannon's answer to charges brought against him by four traveling elders of the church. The nature of the accusations never has been revealed.

Bandits Fire at Fleeing Girl in Holdup on Street

Two shots, both of which missed, were fired last night at Miss Emily Simon, 19 years old, 4411 South Wells street, as she fled from an automobile in which two bandits held her up with her escort, John Kowach, 21, of 5542 Princeton avenue, at 80th street and Emerald avenue. The robbers, with Kowach in the rear, drove his machine in 80th street to Halsted where they struck another machine, and escaped on foot.

RELIEF WORKERS RENEW HOPE OF ATTAINING GOAL

Meet Better Response as Drive Nears End.

Chicago's $5,000,000 campaign for unemployment relief enters its final fortnight today with a total of $4,142,536 subscribed, leaving $857,464 to be raised. Philip R. Clarke, campaign chairman, has announced his group will cease solicitations on Feb. 11, regardless of success or failure.

The individual gifts division, headed by Joseph Cudahy, to which Mr. Clarke delegated the task of raising $1,000,000, secured $66,130 in pledges in the last week, boosting its total to $539,450, or approximately 53 per cent of the quota.

List Some Larger Gifts.

Among the larger individual gifts received were the following: R. Douglas Stuart, $6,000; Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, $5,000; Lester Armour, $5,000; E. N. Hurley, $2,000; Eugene S. Pike estate and Mrs. Charles B. Pike, $1,500, and the following $1,000 donors: Robert Allerton, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lehman, Edgar Uihlein, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, D. Mark Cummings [additional], Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Worcester, H. F. Perkings, Frank K. Hoover, Edward T. Blair, R. M. Eastman, Mrs. John W. Gary, and D. M. Ryerson.

"Although still a long march to our goal," said Mr. Cudahy, "we are encouraged by the results of the last few days. Our committee is well organized and, with a merited response, we should be able to have a commendable showing by Feb. 11. We feel that the coming week will witness widespread and generous response to our appeal in behalf of the needy and destitute."

Clarke Offers an Example.

A nurse on the south side sent $20 with this comment: "The enclosed isn't a great deal, but it is all I can give. I wish it were many times more. May it help, in a small measure, to relieve the suffering in our midst."

"It is just such spirit that will enable us to reach our quota," said Mr. Clarke, "and it should serve as an object lesson to individuals and business concerns. That $20 gift represented real sacrifice."

Motor Sales Official Is Missing; Police Open Hunt

Police last night were requested to search for George Worth, 35 years old, 130 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, vice president of the Worth Motor Service company, Oak Park, who disappeared last Friday after telephoning his wife from the loop. He had just returned from a visit to Vienna, Ill. In his conversation Worth told his wife he would be home for dinner, but failed to appear.

LURE OF LAKES IS TOO MUCH FOR OLD CAP NELSON

In the coast guard station, near the harbor entrance, last night sat Capt. John O. Anderson looking at two pictures—one of a three masted schooner, the other of a square toed, square shouldered, square chinned figure with legs like capstans, a chest like a cask, and a grizzled, weatherbeaten face, whose eyes were overhung by shaggy brows and lips almost hidden by a great walrus moustache.

The schooner was Our Son and the figure was its master, Capt. Fred Nelson, Norwegian born, reared to the sea as a sailor before the mast.

"Yes," Capt. Anderson was saying of Capt. Nelson, "73 years old, and the best skipper that ever stood on the after quarter of a lake schooner. Learned his trade around the Horn and back again, when sail was sail. He taught me all I know about ships. That's where the story comes in."

Pines Again for Sea.

The story is that old Cap'n Nelson is homesick again for the lakes. It was in September of 1930 that Our Son, last of the sailing vessels on the great lakes, outbound from Sheboygan, foundered in a terrific sea, sinking within 30 minutes. A passing freighter rescued the master and his crew.

Cap'n Nelson announced then he was through. Steam had forced him from the sea.

"Well, he can't stand it any longer," continued Capt. Anderson, "so he's applied for a job on that big steam scow, the Milwaukee, the ferry that carries locomotives and freight cars from Milwaukee to Muskegon. He's going to be a lifeboat man on the ferry—him that's sailed the lakes as skipper for 40 years.

He Tests His Teacher.

"Now a lifeboat man has to have a certificate, and before it is issued to him I have to put him through an examination as to his seamanship. And that's what I had to do with Cap'n Nelson—me who as a kid apprentice—he's 23 years my senior—sailed under him on the schooner Alice way back when.

"I'll sure never forget how I felt when I asked him 'What's a thole pin?' and the like. And I'll never forget how he answered me, with never so much as a gleam in his blue eyes to let me know the absurdity of it. He took it on the chin like a man. He's a seaman, is old Cap'n Nelson."

Gets Red Cross Aid; Has Food Hoarded in Home

Cabot, Ark., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—When City Marshal Duckworth and Constable James of York township, equipped with a search warrant, invaded the home of E. E. Ray, Holiness preacher, they reported that they found a barrel of flour and a 45 pound can of lard unopened, 30 pounds of beans, and other food. Ray had been receiving supplies from the Red Cross, they said.

Ray was arrested on a charge of false pretense.

DIES SUDDENLY IN HOME.

John B. Danciger, 77 years old, a retired business man, died suddenly yesterday from apoplexy in his home at 1229 Hood avenue.

Wins Three Cups

Blonde and brunette kitties sharpened their claws and crooned their prettiest tunes yesterday in an effort to win ribbons and cups at the 25th annual exhibition of the Beresford Cat club at the Hotel Sherman, but a redhead outshone them all. "Sunkist Boy," a tawny red ball of fluff owned by Mrs. Franc K. Lake, 4222 North Laramie avenue, carried off three cups and eight points. He needs but two more points to become a champion.

"Little Rags Too," the property of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wright of Indianapolis, was designated by the judges as the best of all the kittens entered. "Little Rags Too" was one of an entry of forty cats by his owners.

SOUTH'S PLIGHT IS WORST SINCE CIVIL WAR DAYS

Many Thousands Are Fed by Red Cross.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—When the soldiers came home from the civil war they found empty cupboards and ruined crops, much as there are today. Not since the days of reconstruction has the south faced such problems as it faces this spring, in government, finance, business and agriculture. There is no quick remedy in sight and it will take months, perhaps, to build a new, sound structure of prosperity in the agricultural communities.

The silver lining to the cloud of desperation is the Red Cross. This organization, although a little late in getting started, is doing a magnificent work in the drought sections, not only through the national organization, which has sent 40 experts in relief into this state alone, but through the devoted local chapters where 6,000 volunteer workers are busy carrying food and cheer into humble cabins in all the low lands and highlands of Arkansas.

See Long Task Ahead.

Red Cross and state drought relief committee workers meeting here today see a long task ahead of them, a job of feeding half a million persons until the new crops come in. The number keeps increasing so rapidly that the relief directors have made no effort to estimate the peak load that they may have to carry. The latest figures show 519,516 on the relief rolls of this state, which has a population of 1,800,000. There has been an increase of 100,000 in the last few days.

These are not an improvident people. They worked hard all last summer and fall on their crops, father, mother, and children toiling in the fields. Their homes are neat and shining. Now the last resource of their short crops is gone. The mules have wandered off into the woods to die. The children cannot go to school for lack of clothes. The Red Cross is the last resort. And it has not failed. Many of them have contributed to it in the past. Now they know what it really means. As for the Negroes, they think the Red Cross is "de good Lord" Himself, descended from a heavenly fish fry to help his poor earth people.

The state drought relief committee has no funds with which to do anything and is applying its efforts entirely to backing up the work of the Red Cross in each community.

In some counties nearly the whole population is under Red Cross rations. The sum of $65,000 has been set aside for luncheons for school children.

"We want it understood that we are mighty grateful for the work of the Red Cross in Arkansas," said Dudley Haddock, secretary of the state organization. The Red Cross does more than feed people, although that is their main task now. After the flood they built homes for the people. Now they are planning to help them with new crops and they are keeping many cattle, particularly milch cows, alive.

A new seed distribution is to begin soon and it is planned to start planting about Feb. 15. This state has an opportunity of getting fruits and vegetables to the market before the northern crops are harvested and will seek to take advantage of it. A permanent program of this sort is being fostered by the state agricultural extension society and may result in a lessening of the one crop farms.

Professional Men Suffer.

Landlords, doctors, merchants are getting in about as bad shape as the workers. The failure of 150 banks in this state has complicated the situation enormously. The tenants on the big plantations who have always looked to the owner for food find that supply failing. Always in debt and making no provision for the future they have been thrown on the poverty line from the start. In Chicot county, down in the river bottom, out of a population of 22,646, the Red Cross is feeding 21,912 at last reports. In Desha county, where Gov. Harvey Parnell has a large plantation, the Red Cross is feeding 15,647 out of a population of 27,814.

Pulaski county, where Little Rock is, has a population of 137,727. Of these 9,000 are on the relief rations. The county has raised $13,000 of its last Red Cross quota of $36,000. In Phillips, St. Francis, Cross, and Lee counties, more than half of the people are on the Red Cross rations. The system of giving out requisitions on local storekeepers, who are later paid in cash by the Red Cross, has been the main support of many merchants. Seventy carloads of food and vegetables have been shipped in here from other states, chiefly Colorado, Idaho, and Nebraska.

IDENTIFY BANDIT IN $2,500 HOLDUP OF LOOP THEATER

Another Suspect Confesses a Crime Wave.

Identification of Elzia Thorps, a Negro, 22 years old, who gave his address as 4732 South State street, as the robber who held up the Majestic theater last Wednesday, was announced at the detective bureau yesterday. The prisoner was reported to have confessed the Majestic robbery as well as eight others.

G. Settergren.

According to Sergt. Ray Crane, Gustave Settergren, assistant treasurer of the theater, identified Thorps as the man who took $2,500 in cash and $258 in checks from him in the theater lobby. The prisoner spent several nights in making whoopee at Negro cafes, had given money for the defense of two of his friends who are in the county jail, and had only $60 of the money left, according to Sergt. Crane.

Seized After Another Robbery.

Thorps was arrested Saturday night by Sergt. Crane and his squad after the robbery of the butcher shop at 4338 South State street. Witnesses reported seeing the robber go into an apartment building at 4400 South Michigan avenue. Sergt Crane and his men crept up the stairs and forced open a door on the third floor.

Thorps tried to dive out a window when the police entered. A revolver was found under a pillow.

Among the other robberies the police say Thorps confessed was that of the Owl theater, 47th and State streets, last week, in which the door man, William Witkins, 4330 Champlain avenue, who identified Thorps, was assaulted. Sergt. Crane was seeking to trace all the expenditures reported by Thorps and he would not reveal the names of the county jail prisoners Thorps had aided financially.

"I knew I would get caught and I wanted to have a good time with the money," the police quoted Thorps as saying.

"Midget Bandit" Seized.

William Walls, 20 years old, a "midget" bandit, kept detectives busy yesterday checking up crimes he was alleged to have confessed. Walls, who is just 5 feet 2 inches in height, was captured late Saturday night after he robbed a gas station at 3067 South Ashland avenue, taking $21 from Ralph Johnson, the attendant.

Sergt. Albert Jenner learned the bandit had been seen going into a nearby drug store where he had a slight cut on his hand dressed. The druggist said the man had boarded an Archer avenue street car. Sergt. Jenner and his squad caught up to the street car and found Walls on it, armed with a revolver.

"I was the terror of Indianapolis until four days ago when I came to Chicago," the police quoted Walls as saying. "I guess I must have prowled a hundred flats there and they had special squads looking for me.

"I got a diamond ring in a home which I was afterwards told was the home of Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, the president of the Stutz Motor company. I sold it for $150 and then I read in the paper it was worth $3,500 and I was prety sore."

Tells of Police Record.

Walls confessed the robbery of a delicatessen store in Chicago and the burglary of the home of R. J. Abramson, 6 South Mason street, an instructor at the Armour Institute of Technology, who reported that he and his wife had evidently been drugged by the burglar as they woke up with headaches. Walls said he had recently served time in an Arizona jail and he had been in a reformatory in his home town, Crumpton, Md.

The police were seeking the third of a bandit trio that engaged in a revolver battle Saturday night with Policeman Conrad Lucey of the Cragin station, who killed one of them. The slain bandit was identified by his mother as Thomas Tureiko, 18 years old, 2453 North Luna avenue. Peter Horchrevic, 21 years old, 1135 North Damen avenue, shot in the abdomen by Policeman Lucey, was arrested when found staggering around North and California avenues by Policeman Robert Barr of the Shakespeare avenue station. Horchrevic confessed other robberies and named a third man as Frank Rutke, 22 years old, 2453 North Luna avenue, according to the police.

Policeman Lucey, in civilian clothes, was in an automobile with Miss Helen Goggin, 1109 North Spaulding avenue, at a filling station at 3230 West Grand avenue. The three youths jumped on the running board and ordered Lucey and Miss Goggin to get out and be robbed. Lucey answered with shots that killed Tureiko and wounded Horchrevic. The robbers fired at him and Lucey was wounded in the right hand. Miss Goggin stood guard over Tureiko while Lucey ran after the others. The third man escaped.

Seized After Auto Crash.

At the detective bureau showup two young robbers were viewed by holdup victims while a third was being sought. The prisoners are Louis Liptha, 19 years old, 1335 South Paulina street, and Tony Margeon, 20 years old, 4319 South Wood street. They were robbing the drug store of Frank J. Welch, 8339 South Paulina street and had made him lie on the floor. Welch's son, Edward, returning from an errand, looked in the back way and saw his father's plight. He called the police, and Sergt. Joseph McCarthy and his squad caught them a block away when their automobile hit another car. Liptha and Margeon confessed their part in the robbery, but refused to name their accomplice, who escaped, the police said.

Eugene Toro, young money guard who was shot by bandits a week ago in an attempt to steal $18,000 in receipts of Hillman's Pure Food store, 24 West Washington street, was reported in a serious condition at the Passavant hospital last night. A blood transfusion was resorted to. Toro was wounded when he resisted the attempted holdup with Max Axelrod, also a guard. Axelrod was slain.

The police continued their search for two robbers who late Saturday held up a branch store of the Hartman Furniture and Carpet company at 3801 West 26th street. The robbers escaped with $1,031 in this, the fourth large store robbery of a week.

Chief White Buffalo Bear, Chief Lone Bear and twenty-five of their tribesmen from the Pine Ridge reservation at Rushville, Neb., who have been roaming far afield from their own hunting grounds, passed through Chicago yesterday on their return trip. The group of American Indians have just completed a tour through Europe with a circus, where they gave the Europeans a vivid idea of what their ancestors on the American continent looked like and wore, and how they lived.

William J. Kershaw, a Menominee Indian, who is an attorney in Milwaukee, was the main speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Grand Council Fire of American Indians, in the assembly hall of the Stevens building, 17 North State street. Attorney Kershaw is an authority on the history and customs of his people. His talk was listened to by members of the Optimists club of Wilmette, by special invitation from Scott H. Peters, a Chippewa and president of the Council Fire.

Bandit Boards Victim's Auto in Loop; Gets $1,400

After leaving a loop theater at 11:30 last night Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jameson, 5435 East View park, walked to their car, parked at Adams and La Salle streets, and started to get in. As they did an armed man jumped on the running board and, sitting in the rear seat, had Mr. Jameson drive to Sherman and Polk streets, where he robbed Mrs. Jameson of jewelry valued at $1,000 and Mr. Jameson of $32 in cash, and a watch and ring worth $400. The robber fled.

working committee began. One thousand congress adherents, who live in way stations, decided to come to Allahabad for the meeting, but neglected to buy tickets and protested vociferously when railroad officials demanded fares. All refused to pay and set up considerable of a demonstration, waving congress flags and refusing to quiet down even when the district magistrate and a strong police force arrested some of them.

They quieted down only when Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the congress, conferred with authorities and effected an arrangement for their travel.

Army Officer Slain in Riot.

RAWALPINDI, India, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The cooking of beef by a Mohammedan teacher in a boarding house today led to wild disorders in a village forty miles from here, in which a native officer was burned alive and an undetermined number of persons were injured.

The officer killed was a Sikh jamadar, or native army lieutenant.

The rioting, which was of a communal nature, recalls one of the causes of the outbreak of the Indian mutiny, which also arose from the cooking of beef.

To the Moslems a cow is simply something to be eaten, but to the Hindus it is a sacred animal and one for which they will fight. When neighboring Hindus and Sikhs learned that the teacher was cooking beef they reprimanded him, whereupon he summoned Moslems from adjoining villages to his aid.

Loot Village; Burn Shops.

His call was answered by several hundred infuriated Mohammedans, who looted the village, set fire to fifteen shops, and threw all the beef they could find into the Hindu temple. This started terrific fighting which ended with the burning alive of the Sikh officer.

The trouble was not quelled until a deputy commissioner and a police superintendent took a large force into the village.

The slaughtering of cows always had been a source of trouble between Moslems on one hand and Hindus and Sikhs on the other, and was regarded even by the recent round-table Indian conference as one of the most serious obstacles in solving the delicate communal question.

When Moslems throw beef into a Hindu temple, as they did today, it is as certain a way to start a sanguinary battle as for Hindus to heave the body of a dog into a Mohammedan mosque.

ROBBERIES SET NEW RECORD IN REPORT ON 1930

Assaults on Women Also at New High.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Never before has an administration finished its last year with so many official complaints of holdups and robberies, criminal assaults upon women, and enticement of girls into white slavery as has been placed against the present régime for 1930. In these three respects the present city administration has chalked up a new high water mark.

The Chicago crime commission is credited with forcing the publication of their record. Two years ago it declared that the figures had been juggled or suppressed.

The Chicago crime commission tabulates monthly the number of robberies citizens report to the police stations, which in turn are reported by commanding officers to the secretary of police. The secretary's records show more robberies in January, February, and March of 1930 than in the same three months of any year back to 1918. But the principal point was that there had been a "big drop" in robberies from January to March.

Two Reports Do Not Agree.

The number of robberies given to newspapers does not agree with the crime commission's copy of the police secretary's records. A comparison of the commission's tabulation and the police figures for those three months follows:

Month—	—No. of robberies— Police.	Crime commission.
January	927	758
February	673	576
March	553	389
Totals	2,153	1,723

Nineteen thirty was the big robbers' year, according to the record. There were more robberies in June of 1930 than in any previous June for eleven years. July of 1930 surpassed that month in each of the previous eleven years. Last August had nearly twice as many as any August back to 1919. September, October, November, and December each had more robberies than in the same month for eleven years back.

When Thompson was elected the second time he started it with a relatively high number of robberies reported by the secretary of police in the first year. But each year they kept going down until he finished that term with 38 per cent fewer robberies in his last year than in his first.

Then came the Dever administration, which showed a "big drop" in its first year in the police report, then the number ran up, and was reduced yearly for the next three. The Dever "big drop" in robberies was 31 per cent. Thompson came in again, and the robberies for the first year jumped upward from the last Dever year. But in the second Thompson year, 1928, the records show that the robberies were a little more than half of what they were in 1927.

Then Commission Acts.

Then the crime commission stepped in. It showed that the number of complaints for robbery in the police stations for 1926 were 7,191, while the number on file in the office of the secretary was only 1,311. This last calendar year of the Dever administration showed 5,580 robbery charges not filed with the secretary, according to the crime commission.

With reference to 1927, the first year of the Thompson administration, the commission showed 4,928 robbery complaints filed at the police stations and only 2,330 reported to the secretary of police. The 2,598 suppressed represent more than 53 per cent.

The crime commission referred to the tabulation of miscellaneous complaints "as absurd on its face." It continued: "According to it there were no safeblowings in 1927, no attempted safeblowings, no picking of pockets, no larceny as bailee, and no purse snatching. No criminal complaints were filed in the secretary's office based upon obtaining money by false pretenses, while the annual official report shows 1,023 arrests because of this charge."

Chamberlin Attacks Reports.

In his report to the crime commission, Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director, called attention to some methods of concealing reported crimes as follows: "Bombings have been tabulated under the heading of malicious mischief. I also find that rape is reported on the accident report sheets. Just why, I am unable to determine, not being acquainted with the theory of accidental rape."

It was that sort of attack which prodded the police chief to have the complaints reported by the captains to the secretary of police on robbery and prevented last year "a big drop" in this crime which would be of benefit to Thompson in his campaign.

HOUSE MEASURE PROPOSES BEER IN WET STATES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Wet states would be permitted to manufacture 3.75 per cent beer and dry states would be kept arid under proposals advanced today by Representative Cochran of Missouri, a Democratic anti-prohibitionist.

Measures prepared for introduction tomorrow would amend the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of 3.75 per cent beer and amend the Webb-Kenyon act to give dry states the right to prohibit manufacture and sale of liquor.

"Former Governor Alfred Smith of New York," Cochran said in a statement, "defended in a speech recently the doctrine of states' rights, asserting that no one wants to make Kansas wet when Kansas desires to be dry, but he added that Kansas had no right to tell other states to be dry.

"My bills are in line with Gov. Smith's views, as they will permit Kansas or any other state to remain dry and at the same time permit Missouri, New York, or any other state to sell nonintoxicating cereal beverages."

OLD N. U. PLAYER HELD AS SUSPECT AFTER INJURY

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Unconscious from a head injury, which surgeons say probably will cause his death, Guy H. Davis, 35, former Northwestern university football star, today was taken to the prison ward of the General hospital. A formal charge of suspicion of robbery was lodged against him.

Police said there was no evidence of wrongdoing, but rules required booking the man until he becomes conscious and could explain the mystery of his injury.

Davis was found unconscious in his room at the Rosslyn hotel late Saturday night by the manager. The room maid reported she was unable to gain admittance throughout the day. There was nothing in the hotel room to give a clew to the cause of the head injuries.

Police Surgeon Blacher today said that Davis' head injury had been incurred between 24 and 48 hours previously.

BROOKHART HAS HIS OWN SYSTEM OF ECONOMICS

Iowa Radical Favors Limit on Industry's Profits.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Mr. Henning herewith presents the sixth of a series of articles dealing with the radical movement in congress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—There are numerous shades of radicalism in the senate group of left wing Republicans and Democrats.

SMITH W. BROOKHART.

There are those, like Senators George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] and Lynn J. Frazier [Rep., N. D.], who advocated public ownership of power plants and all other public utilities, including railroads. There are those who like Senators Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.] and Robert B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], who hold that public ownership of public utilities should be limited to the degree that produces regulation of rates by competition between public and private plants. And there are those like Governor Elect Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania who do not believe in public ownership at all but in stringent federal and state regulation of utilities.

Brookhart Says He's No Socialist.

But all of the radicals and near radicals laugh at the classification of Socialist and communist which the conservatives seek to pin upon them. Although they subscribe pretty generally to the platform of the La Follette third party in 1924 which was indorsed by the Socialists, they insist they are not Socialists, for the reason that they do not believe in the public ownership of all instrumentalities of the production of wealth. They believe in private ownership and operation of everything except public utilities.

Even Senator Brookhart, widely regarded the most radical of the group largely because of his support of the Rochdale coöperative system of organization of all lines of business enterprise and because of his advocacy of the limitation of all business profits, insists that his political philosophy is the antithesis of socialism.

The Iowa senator who promised to shake the rafters of conservatism when he should stamp into the senate in his cowhide boots believes that the earnings of capital should be limited to less than 4 per cent as matters now stand.

"Why do you put it that low?" I asked him.

Iowa Senator Tells Why.

"We have about a 90 billion dollar national income," he replied. "About 70 billions of this is spent for living and for the operating expenses of our industries, leaving a net income of about 20 billion dollars each year since 1920, until 1930 when it probably was greatly reduced.

"This net income represents the wealth of our country. From 1912 until 1922 this percentage of wealth increase was only about 5½ per cent upon estimates of the census, but coming down to 1928 on estimates of the national industrial conference board, it is reduced to about 4½ per cent. It is therefore certain that 1930 would reduce it below 4 per cent and during the history of the whole country till 1912 it was less than 4 per cent. Also, in this less than 4 per cent was included the value of all the new territory acquired. Therefore it is evident that if we give to capital all of the new wealth we produce in our country, and give it an even distribution, the return of capital would be only about 4 per cent a year. But capital is not entitled to all the wealth production. Labor, invention, genius and management are entitled to some share in the new wealth of the country over and above a mere living and operating expense.

Many Laws Aid Capital.

"We are constantly passing laws relating to the production and distribution of wealth, but in none of these have we ever considered the fact that there is only a 4 per cent of new production to distribute. With a transportation act we fixed the value of the railroads by law at over 7 billion dollars more than their market value. Then again, by law we gave them a return of 5¾ per cent upon all of this value, water and all, when there is only about 4 per cent in the American pool.

"We also allow the capitalization of unearned increment, include excess profits of inside subsidiary corporations in operating expenses and fail to remove the waste of competition, thus increasing transportation charges by a further vast sum. Under the water power laws we are giving 50 years' monopoly without as yet regulating the capital return. Under the banking laws we permit great combinations for the control of credit.

"Under the tariff laws we give the protected industries the power to fix the price of their products at the factory without foreign competition and without any regulation of the profits they can charge. Under the patent laws we give an absolute monopoly with no regulation of profit. The corporation laws are mostly state laws, but they organize great combinations of capital and then congress permits them to come in to interstate commerce, where it has control, without any regulation of profits.

"These various laws have created an economic situation that permits great blocks of capital to dip out of this American pool of production a rate of return far more than the 4 per cent which we have found to be in it, thus leaving nothing for agriculture and many other blocks of capital. In fact, agriculture has had no capital return since 1920 and the capital itself has been depleted by nearly 30 billions of dollars."

Reduction of their great buying power is the biggest cause of the present depression, Mr. Brookhart continued, "and all the time we have had enough national income, if it had been properly distributed, to have made agriculture prosperous and thus avoided the present depression. In fact, with a national income of 90 billion dollars, coöperative organizations could easily accumulate a surplus that would prevent all substantial depressions, but as long as we create economic organizations to go out and battle for 10 per cent, 50 per cent, and 100 per cent, when the whole prize is only 4 per cent, we will have these cycles. Our prosperity is always a false prosperity, built upon a pretense of values which do not exist.

Stock Values Too High.

"Even now, after all the deflation of stock values, Irving Fisher's survey shows that the average value of stocks is still 208 per cent above the 1914 level, and that level is 33 per cent above the next preceding level. It must therefore follow that these stock values are still too high and are seeking to take from the people an earnings they cannot afford to pay.

"Is there any economic guide for this reorganization?" I asked.

"Yes," said the senator. "Government, state and municipal ownership of public utilities have answered that part of the question. As to other business, the great Rochdale principles have answered it for most of the world. What is the central idea of this answer? Limit the earnings of capital. Why should not capital have a fixed and definite wage the same as men?

Based on Three Principles.

"The genuine coöperative organization is based upon three simple principles:

"1. One man has one vote as he does in the government of the United States. Capital does not vote at all.

"2. The earnings of capital are limited as above described.

"3. Twenty-five per cent of the net earnings of enterprise are kept in the surplus and the other 75 per cent distributed back to the members in proportion to the business transacted with the enterprise.

"If these three amendments were made to the articles of any great corporation in the United States, that would change it into a coöperative, and change the whole theory of American business."

RAID LOS ANGELES FARO GAMES; WOMEN AND MEN FIGHT BACK

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Women in evening gowns and their escorts in formal attire fought a squad of detectives who raided a gambling house in the exclusive Wilshire district early today. In the mêlée seventy-five escaped through windows and doors, and sped away in their automobiles, but twenty-seven players, ten women and seventeen men, were arrested. The detectives participated in the games of roulette, chuck-a-luck, faro, poker, and dice before revealing their identity. Screams followed their announcement that it was a raid, and women pushed and scratched the law's intruders.

Many of the players, according to Detective Lieutenant D. McD. Jones, head of the vice squad and known as the "millionaire policeman," were from the Hollywood motion picture colony.

One Killed, Four Injured in Berlin Street Fights

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The usual week-end street fights between communists and Fascists resulted in the death of one man and severe injuries to four in Berlin. Another battle occurred at Nagold, where Fascists disturbed a communist meeting, starting a mêlée which resulted in 27 being injured.

FORD REPORTED QUITTING RUBBER PROJECT IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Information reaching here from the northern city of Para states that Henry Ford, after investing several million dollars, apparently is giving up his huge rubber experiment on the Tapajos river. Recently the employés have been reduced from more than 3,000 to 200, while some of the Americans working on the project have resigned and others have been assigned to an Australian post.

The terms of the 6,000,000 acre Ford concession in the state of Para provide for the clearing and planting of 2,500 acres annually. This has been a difficult task with several thousand men and, it is said, will be impossible with the handful remaining on the plantations.

American circles here understand Mr. Ford believed he had a federal concession when he started the vast enterprise, not realizing that it was merely a state grant backed only by state authorities. Some trouble occurred last year on the plantation and police were forced to fly from Para to quell it. It was explained that residents on the land objected to an eviction order and marched on the headquarters armed with guns, pitchforks, and other weapons. This and other similar troubles are blamed by some for the apparent abandonment of the project and others hint that communism is connected with it.

Ex-Kaiser Disappoints Birthday Greeting Senders

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—To the dismay of countless monarchists in Germany who had hopefully awaited letters of thanks with the royal autograph from former Kaiser William in a reply to their messages of congratulations on his recent birthday, the former kaiser announced today that he was so overwhelmed with such messages that he cannot reply to them individually.

MAY SENTENCE SHEPARD TODAY FOR WIFE POISON

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Maj. Charles A. Shepard, army medical officer convicted by a federal jury of murdering his wife with poison, will appear for sentence tomorrow. The 59 year old defendant expected a new trial to postpone sentence. The jury, in finding him guilty last December in Kansas City, Kas., specified capital punishment should not be imposed. A life term is the only alternative.

Shepard's counsel filed a motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment, alleging error in court procedure and testimony.

If Judge Richard A. Hopkins overrules the motion for a new trial and sentences Shepard, the way will be open for an appeal. A fund has been raised to carry the case to a higher court.

Shepard has been stationed at Fitzsimmons General hospital at liberty under bond of $20,000.

NEW LAW TO CUT IMMIGRATION IS DUE FOR BATTLE

Say Present Regulations Are Sufficient.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Emergency immigration restriction, proposed as a means of aiding the unemployment situation, is encountering new stumbling blocks. Not only has a committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States declared against any action at this session, but formidable opposition is developing in congress. Two dissenting reports have been filed to the bill reported from the house immigration committee early last week and a third is to be presented within a day or two.

ALBERT JOHNSON. [Central News Photo]

The bill as reported by Representative Albert Johnson [Rep., Wash.], chairman of the immigration committee, reduces existing quotas of all countries by 90 per cent for a period of two years. A similar reduction of 90 per cent is provided for nonquota countries in the western hemisphere from the number of visas issued during the last fiscal year. A ban is placed against immigration from the Philippines.

State Department Satisfied.

The horizontal reduction is satisfactory not only to the department of labor but also to the state department, which objected to other schemes which would have threatened more difficulty in dealing with Mexico and Canada, which are nonquota countries.

Dissenting reports thus far filed are by Representatives E. F. Cooke [Rep., N. Y.] and Samuel Dickstein [Dem., N. Y.].

"Consular agents of the government, acting under instructions from department of state," said Mr. Cooke, "have during the last five months compelled a strict adherence to the provisions of the present law requiring the applicant immigrant to show that he or she is not liable upon admission to become a public charge and have reduced immigration below the quota allowances more than 90 per cent.

Says Law Is Needless.

"This method is effective in procuring the results desired to be obtained; possesses the desirable quality of flexibility and cannot be deemed to be the expression of a national policy; it gives no offense to the countries whose nationals are involved."

Fruit Growers' School to Be Held at Mount Vernon

Mount Vernon, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Starting Tuesday, a school will be held for fruit growers in Mount Vernon. It will last two days. This is the tri-county school, and it is expected to have a large attendance from Marion, Jefferson, and Washington counties. The meeting will be in charge of Farm Advisor L. R. Caldwell and Prof. R. S. Marsh.

LEADING DULUTH BANKER SUICIDE IN HIS OWN HOME

David Williams Shoots Himself in Heart.

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—David Williams, for more than twenty years a leading banker in Duluth, committed suicide at his home here this morning. Mr. Williams' body, shot through the heart, was found by a maid.

Until a couple of weeks ago, Mr. Williams, 68 years old, was chairman of the board of the First and American Exchange National bank, the oldest and largest bank in Duluth.

He had resigned as chairman of the board, it was announced, because of private business. Previously he had been president and vice president of the First National bank, which merged with the American Exchange a couple of years ago.

Mr. Williams had been associated with the First National bank here since 1908, when he came here from Webster, S. D., where he was president of a bank. He had also been at the head of other banks in that section of South Dakota.

Despondency over ill health, worry over personal affairs, and fear for investments of friends whom he had advised, were given as the reasons for the act by close friends.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Winnifred Williams.

PRINCE OF WALES SALUTES HAVANA CROWD FROM SHIP

HAVANA, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and Prince George, who are traveling to South America as royal drummers, were in Havana this forenoon on the liner Oropesa, but left for Jamaica without disembarking. The Oropesa steamed into the harbor at 6:40 a. m. and lifted anchor for Kingston, the next stop, at 11:44 a. m.

Despite the earliness of the hour Cubans and tourists lined the docks and seawalls but the liner merely dropped anchor in the center of the harbor while immigration and customs officials boarded her, along with the British minister, Thomas J. Morris, Francisco M. Fernandez, Cuban secretary of state, and Enrique Soler y Baro, official representative of President Machado.

As the boat left, the Prince of Wales came on deck and waved to some 2,000 persons, among them many members of the British colony here, who were clustered on Morro Castle's heights.

Mexican Volcano Erupts for First Time in 18 Years

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Dispatches to La Prensa from Tonila tonight said that peasants in the state of Jalisco were fleeing from the neighborhood of Colima volcano, which is in eruption for the first time in 18 years. A column of flames and heavy smoke emerged today from the crater of the volcano, which is 12,750 feet high. Continuous subterranean rumblings from the crater added to the alarm.

THE DECAY OF THE STATES.

Drought relief has developed the fact that most of the states afflicted are impotent in will and resources. They have so conducted themselves that they are either exhausted or they are willingly dependent. Arkansas seems to have expended its credit if the statements of its officials against the proposed bond issue are credible. Others if they have not dissipated their credit have exhausted their independence. Some of them are supposed to have great natural wealth, but apparently it is not available as a resource in emergency.

It is not to be expected that all regions of the country can be equally self-sufficient in times of unusual need and the nation is prepared to recognize that, but there is more than an economic fact revealed here. There is a political tendency. The consequences could be expected. They have not only been expected. They have also been dreaded.

The federal government has been destroying the competence, the independence, and the self-reliance of the states. It has been taking over their responsibilities, their police powers, and their obligations. It is the rule of an overlying sovereignty to extinguish the smaller sovereignties if it can. They, if they have any vitality, try to extricate themselves. Modern nations fought their way out of several overlying systems, feudal, imperial and ecclesiastical. The smaller sovereignties get loose and then there is the effort to subordinate them again, now feebly represented in the league of nations or vaguely in Briand's United States of Europe.

Generally there is a great moral idea urged to support the concentration of authority. That is nearly always the case in the United States. Prohibition is an instance. There has been no experience to prove that in so large a country as the United States with its advantageous diversities the disappearance of self-reliant and competent states will be good. One element of strength in the Union has been the flexibility of law and administration in the various state sovereignties. The Union itself had been brought to unquestioned integrity and stability. It was safe from disintegrating influences, but that being determined the Union has proceeded to break down the integrity of the states.

It was not to be expected that the federal government could take over authority without being handed responsibility. If it is to control the morals and habits of citizens in the states it will be given their needs to care for. If the assumption is that they are not adults and competent they will respond that they can't manage their own affairs. They have been taught to look to Washington for moral authority and they will go to it for their material needs. Why not?

Cities in southern California need a water supply and they get it from the federal government in the Boulder dam enterprise. Senator Johnson's constituents have no better right to a federal water supply than Senator Robinson's destitute Arkansas constituents have to federal food. If the United States properly may provide a water line in Los Angeles it can properly provide a bread line in New York and an electric power line in Alabama. After Boulder dam no request on the government at Washington could be wholly unreasonable. After the Volstead act no interference by it in the state could be unexpected.

Washington is to assume responsibility for child nurture, education, railroad rates, wine making, wheat production, canning, retail and wholesale trade, personal habits, book censorship, campaign expenses, and the cultivation of nasturtiums. Why should the states continue to burden themselves with any responsibilities or look elsewhere than to the national capitol for anything they need? They can go on the loose and a Washington commission or bureau will get them out of their trouble and take their obligations off their hands. They will expect a federal appropriation and get it. As they get out from under their obligations they sacrifice their independence and competence.

The federal government, sapping the powers of the states, grows into a great hulk in which inertia must become the prevailing rule. It's bad business. In the name of service and the better life the priceless advantages of the American Union of self-governing states are being sacrificed. The American people seem to be heading into an autocracy.

A HERITAGE FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

The London county council tried to permit an evasion of the old British Sunday observance law and allow Sunday movies to be shown. Three lord justices of the Court of Appeals, Scrutton, Greer and Slesser, have stopped it, declaring that the council acted unlawfully, irregularly, indefensibly and illogically. The theaters are licensed under an act which forbids Sunday opening.

It is plain enough where the United States got its prohibition idea. It came from the varieties of religious experience in Great Britain. The Englishman regards American control of the individual as a moralistic device mechanized over here. It was obtained from him. America furnished continental Europe an escape from political injustice, but Englishmen used it as a refuge from clerical domination. The refugee was two things. He was a victim of regulations he did not like, but he also had been the imposer of them. He did not bring here the sympathies of the victim but the desires of a foiled autocrat. In the whirligig of church upsets in Great Britain nearly every sect or creed at one time or other enjoyed the privileges of supremacy and suppression and also had to endure the humiliations and dangers of them.

The heritage of this intolerance is more apparent now in the United States than in Great Britain, but the British have the original strain of it. Caste society has been able to resist some of the emotions in Great Britain which have prevailed in this democracy. A government of superior people could restrain an evangelical urge for the improvement of the lower classes if that urge threatened a restriction of personal privileges regarded as highly desirable. The parliament wine cellar has been one good reason why the charwoman should have her gin and bitter.

PROSPERITY IN THE MAKING.

The automobile show this year evidences faith in the doctrine that a better article will sell. Whatever other business men may have been doing in the last year, the automobile manufacturers have not been sitting back waiting for good times to overtake them. The motor cars in this year's show are better—and generally cheaper, as well—than the automobiles of a year ago. There are marked improvements in the transmission to provide ease and quietness of gear shift and economy in fuel consumption. Greater comfort has been created by such devices as insulated bodies. On the whole, the show demonstrates that in America's pacemaking industry the difficulties of 1930 have served as a stimulus to better the product.

That is the way the country will work out of the depression. Business men who think the government or the reserve board or the bankers can rescue them are going to be disappointed, for most of the sure cure remedies which these agencies are urged to apply are compounded of wishful thinking and economic quackery. The life of trade continues to be competition because through competition comes better and cheaper merchandise, and therefore greater demand and wider markets. Hard times by accentuating competition stress the benefits which will accrue to the business man who devotes himself to improving his product.

The savings banks report enormous deposits which are available for purchases. There is no shortage of money in the country, and it will flow back into the channels of trade when business men offer goods of a quality and at a price to attract it.

Other industries can take their cue from the automobile makers. The railroads would have less reason to fear the competition of buses if the speed of passenger trains was increased from 50 to 100 per cent. Our trains operate now, even the best of them, under wraps. A hundred miles an hour is feasible for the longer runs, and fifty or sixty miles could be attained without much difficulty on local schedules. Electrification of terminals would boom business and the elimination of dust and smoke would take away one of the great advantages of highway as against train travel. The more progressive railroads have already provided more comfortable seats, but a great deal remains to be done to raise the general standard of comfort in train travel. In freight service the railroads can speed deliveries and collect shipments at the door and deliver them at the door.

Better freight and passenger service will result in increasing the good will of the railroads with the consequence that the interstate commerce commission will find itself impelled by public opinion to grant the railroads relief from grinding regulation.

There is room in every industry for improvement in its product or its service. So far as the daily newspapers are concerned, they have been lagging behind other advertising media in the depiction of merchandise. The appeal of color is to be found in all sorts of goods from kitchenware to automobiles, but it has not been possible until recently to suggest that appeal directly in newspaper advertising. Under the leadership of THE TRIBUNE the newspapers and press builders of the country will be driven to exploit existing color processes to the full and at the same time perfect the processes.

Improvements of this sort make for both individual and general prosperity. An advertisement in color sells more goods and therefore stimulates manufacture and retailing as well as edvertising. At the same time it provides additional employment in the printing plant. Through efforts such as have been suggested the business health of the nation can be speedily restored.

Editorial of the Day

EMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

[New York World.]

The recent experiences of Great Britain and Germany with their insurance systems—commonly designated as doles—show that much is yet to be learned about this method of dealing with unemployment before it can be accepted as a model to be followed in this country. Indeed, the advocates of unemployment insurance for the United States are among the most outspoken critics of the European methods and point out that their demonstrated defects are a useful guide in devising a sound system for this country.

Discussions like those at Albany last week strengthen the conviction that the proposals should have much further study than they have yet received before any plan is adopted. The consensus among the advocates of this form of insurance is that it should be under state rather than federal control. But if one state adopts it and neighboring states do not there is the possibility that the added burdens it imposes may drive industries into these other states. The suggestion made at Albany by some of the proponents that the insured workers who are unemployed should be compelled to move to other places where work is available or forfeit their insurance gives some indication of the complicated nature of the problem. It suggests the possibility of a loss of individual liberty which is quite unprecedented in our social organization. On the other hand, if there is not some such control over the insured, there is the danger that the insurance may defer the shift of workers from declining to expanding industries and thus prove a bar to necessary economic readjustments. A situation like this is now said to prevail in England largely because of the dole.

Questions like these need to be threshed out by experts. Our present method of dealing with recurring unemployment is far from satisfactory, but the evils we now encounter do not justify the hasty adoption of untried methods which may raise new problems of equal or greater difficulty.

HAIR ON BALD CATS.

THE Journal of the American Medical Association began the new year with an editorial which is liable to start something more than a year. The hair question is a live issue. It is not surpassed by the Norris controversy in the United States, the bisecting of an arc, or the conquest of the racketeers in Chicago. The editorial is by way of comment on the success of a German clinical research man in growing hair on bald cats. For this purpose he used a solution of mustard gas in alcohol, water, and glycerin. His recipe is:

Mustard gas, 1-100 of 1 per cent.
Alcohol, 49 per cent.
Glycerin, 2 per cent.

To protect against criticism of the mathematics of the above the authors compensate by advising that a short cork be used. When this mixture was applied to the hairless skin a nice lot of natural fur appeared. It grew fast and it grew long, and no other local application—not even those widely touted as hair restorers—gave such satisfactory results. Thus we see that the same science serves us in both peace and war. Or, peace has its victories as well as war. Or, the sword shall be beaten into a plowshare. One can take his choice.

But the liver conservative journal drops a fly into the ointment; in fact, it rather decorates the ointment with these insects. First, it reminds us that man is no cat. This discovery, while it is a boon for bald cats, may not promote the pulchritude of man.

The second insect is also quite disturbing. By inference in some instances, by direct statement in others, the reader gets the impression that the growth of hair is stimulated by greasing the skin with yellow vaseline but not with the purified white product; by wetting it with alcohol and water, equal parts; by applications of a solution of tincture of cantharides, 1 per cent mustard oil, tincture of cinchona, and some other local applications. We have been accepting as final various reports that greasing the skin and using alcohol on it did not cause hair or beard to grow.

Another fly is not of particular interest to the ordinary reader. Rendered into plain terms it is—if you skin a man with rays, or with strong mustard gas he will not be in danger of cancer of the skin.

TREATING BELL'S PALSY.

H. B. writes: Recently I read in your column about an individual whose face was paralyzed on one side, caused by Bell's palsy. He had not improved under his doctor's treatment. When my case was diagnosed as Bell's palsy electric galvanic treatments were recommended. I am happy to state that, while the treatments were not pleasant, yet my face today is 90 per cent normal. I took not more than a dozen such treatments from a specialist in that line and even since the treatments the improvement has continued.

IT IS NOT SERIOUS.

R. D. writes: The toenail of the large toe on my right foot is turning yellow on the end. I can pick parts of it off with a razor blade, as though decayed. There is no pain. Is this serious? Is it a symptom of a serious ailment? Do you think it could be caused from improper shoes?

REPLY.

It is not serious. The shoes are not an important factor. It is probably due to infection with a fungus. Bathe your feet frequently and apply one of the ringworm ointments.

GRINDING YOUR OWN WHEAT.

J. C. writes: I read so much in your articles about the wheat germ in foods, I would like you to tell me where to buy it.

REPLY.

Can you buy freshly ground flour? Some grocery stores carry it. I am sure you can buy ordinary wheat and a coffee mill. With any simple mill you can grind your own.

Some of the breakfast foods and crackers contain the whole berry, including germ.

AUTOMATIC RENEWAL.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A rents an apartment from B. B says it is immaterial to him whether or not there is a lease—meaning a written lease. A prefers a one year lease, which is executed. This lease says nothing about notice of termination or notice of renewal. In November, 1928, A buys a car and rents a garage from B. Prior to renting the garage A paid B $75 each month by check in advance. After renting the garage A paid B $80 per month. In December, 1929, A notifies B, orally, of his intention to move at a date regarded by B as giving "reasonable notice." B demands payment—but not occupancy—until April 30, 1930. Is A bound by the original lease to pay rent to April 30, 1930? If so, how much? If not, what notice is required? H. A. R.

Where a tenant under a lease for a definite term holds over beyond the term and the landlord accepts additional rent, these circumstances, in the absence of other circumstances showing a contrary intent on the part of the landlord, result in a renewal by implication so that neither party can terminate the tenancy nor increase the rent during such renewal.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, an American citizen, married B, an alien, in 1916 and they have children. B is still an alien. 1. Does A lose her citizenship in this case? 2. Can A vote and do the children lose their citizenship? T. H.

1. Yes.
2. No.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A CITIZEN NOW.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—I entered the United States from Switzerland on March 10, 1921, at the age of nine. My father and mother were citizens of the United States at the time. Will I automatically become a citizen at the age of 21?

I have been told that Swiss citizens do not lose their Swiss citizenship on becoming American citizens. Is this true? W. J. K.

Under the facts stated the writer is now a citizen. The matter of Swiss citizenship should be taken up with the Swiss consul.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

a pleasant quiet stroll in chicago

mister and missus marmaduke spiggs are just quiet homebodies that love their little flat and their dog neptune and their cat priscilla and their parrot rochambeau. but the other night mister spiggs said well sweetheart lets lock the menagerie up and go down the street and see that war movie. we live such quiet lives we're liable to get stagnated and we need to see a good thriller now and then to start the old pulse moving faster and lift us up out of the humdrum routine of every day. it is a fine idea said missus spiggs chicago is a lovely place but sometimes i wish we had lived in the brave days of old when knights were bold and fought with lance and shield on the field of honor and every now and then rescued lovely young girls from castle towers. thats jake with me said mister spiggs only i would have liked to live in the pioneer days of this country when the red indian roamed the plains and his hideous war whoop resounded through the stockade at night where the brave frontiersmen with their trusty rifles were fighting for those they loved best. i should have liked to hew my way single handed through a tribe of bloodthirsty apaches. but thats all past. there is no excitement no adventure no romance left in the world. come along.

so mister and missus spiggs walked down the street and when they reached the alley two holdup men shoved revolvers against their stomachs and they had to give up their pocketbooks and rings. i hate to get held up so quick after leaving the house said mister spiggs. now i cant even buy an evening paper or a package of cigarettes let alone take you to the movies. it is quite vexatious said missus spiggs.

yes indeed said mister spiggs and its so embarrassing to have to tell the next bandits we meet that we havent any money or anything for them and that they have gone to a lot of trouble for nothing. but they kept on walking because while they couldnt go to the movies they could get the fresh evening air and that was something. they were not held up again until they reached the corner and the robbers waiting there were quite peevish when told that mister and missus spiggs had been robbed at the alley and there was nothing left. so the bandits walloped them both over the heads with their guns and told them to keep off the street if they didn't have any money.

the two kept on walking and were only held up three times in the next two blocks which mister spiggs said was a record as those two blocks were usually good for five holdups any night. they stopped at the corner as a large number of hijackers and rum runners were having a battle and missus spiggs was afraid that mister spiggs would get hit again like he had been five nights before and have to stay away from the office and get docked. times are so hard said missus spiggs as she walked behind a tree to get away from a half bushel of machine gun bullets, that perhaps we had better turn round and go home. anyhow we cannot have the fun of going to the movies and being thrilled and lifted out of the dull routine of every day life.

i hate to go home said mister spiggs you know three or four gunmen will be waiting for us inside the porch and take us into the house and rob the place and put sticking plaster on our mouths and lock us in the china closet. oh of course said missus spiggs but i dont mind it near as much as i used to and besides we will go away on our vacation next summer and will enjoy the birds and the flowers and the running brooks all the more after home life in chicago. so they walked back to their flat and were held up only twice and while they had no more money to lose the bandits made them both take off their shoes which the robbers took and mister spiggs overcoat and his necktie and pants. here we are bandits said mister spiggs cheerily as he got back to the porch of the flat make it snappy and dont put any more of the sticking plaster over my mouth than you can help as it is very nasty tasting. so mister and missus spiggs were bound up with rope and their mouths pasted tight and they were put in the china closet.

after awhile some neighbors came in to play bridge and they opened the china closet door and took mister and misses spiggs out and unbound them and soaked the sticking plaster off their faces. missus spiggs told her friends they had started for the movies to get a few thrills and forget the sameness of every day life but they had been frisked for their coin and had to come back home. well said the friends lets dont play bridge then because that doesnt lift one out of dull routine because we play so much that bridge itself is pretty dumb. about all we can do for thrills is to turn out the light and sit in the dark and everybody will tell the most horrible ghost story he ever heard full of yawning graves and misers gold and bloody daggers driven through the heart of beautiful bess berryl by unseen hands. oh goody goody said mister and missus spiggs clapping their hands lets do tell ghost stories, anything for excitement.

FORMULA.

Do you remember the school-day scheme
We used when we were in doubt—
Her name and your name on a slate,
Like-letters canceled out?
Mary and William, John and Lenore:
What did the formula state?
We counted the letters, one, two, three—
Friendship or love or hate?

Now that we're older we wish we might Determine with school-day ease,
How much there is to be canceled
In our smug philosophies;
Forgetting our pride and the make-believe,
Leaving the truth on the slate,
What would the formula tell us?
Friendship or love or hate?

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 2, 1915.

LONDON.—London and several other English cities tonight suffered a severe attack of the "jumps," caused by rumors of German raids that never materialized. In London the people were looking for something to drop from the skies, as five Zeppelins were reported approaching the city. Lights were extinguished as a precaution and extra guards were placed about Buckingham palace, the houses of parliament, Westminster abbey, St Paul's, and other public buildings.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Somewhere northwest of Milwaukee and east of Minneapolis, probably in the central portion of Wisconsin, the Northern Pacific Great North Coast Limited is stuck in the snow. The train left Minneapolis shortly after midnight Sunday and since then the local officials have received no report.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Democratic defense of President Wilson's ship purchase bill suddenly crumbled in the senate and left the measure in its pending form virtually a dead letter. Seven Democrats voted with the Republicans in favor of halting consideration of the bill.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 2, 1901.

CHICAGO.—The Cook county grand jury voted indictments against the county civil service commissioners, James D. Morrigon and Walter Lantz, and also against George W. Lovejoy, who until in the morning was a member of the commission. The charge against the three men is that they certified applicants for appointment under the civil service law without holding "public, competitive, and open examinations."

COWES, Isle of Wight.—The remains of Queen Victoria were taken from Osborne house and transported across the Solent to Portsmouth harbor with imposing pageantry. The yacht with the dead ruler passed through lines of warships to the salute of scores of guns. The royal families followed the land cortège on foot. The final rites for the dead queen will be held in London tomorrow.

CHICAGO.—Smallpox germs are supposed to have been inclosed in a letter which Dr. Rodermund forwarded to the firm of Chambers, Inskeep & Co., 90 Wabash avenue, the day after he caused so much excitement at Appleton, Wis., by starting out to demonstrate his theory that smallpox is not contagious. Dr. Rodermund wrote on an order for merchandise: "Smallpox germs on this paper. Look out when you receive this. I will be in."

CHICAGO.—Judge Tuley gave a decision in the McCaffery will case, holding that Mrs. Ellen Keller is not the daughter of the testator and upholding the position of the heirs of Mrs. Nancy Mulligan of Philadelphia, who is now declared to be the real Nancy McCaffery. The litigation involves the distribution of the greater part of the $600,000 estate of John McCaffery.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 2, 1881.

LONDON.—The Charley Ross excitement in Aldonaugh has been increased by the arrival of a woman from Toronto. Little doubt is now entertained that the boy there is the lost child.

LONDON.—The house of commons has been in continuous session for thirty-two hours debating the Irish coercion bill. Everybody's temper is at the breaking point. John Bright declared his patience is completely exhausted and said he considers the present obstruction unparalleled and the grossest insult to parliament.

NEW YORK.—The story that New York subscriptions to the Grant fund had failed and that Messrs. Vanderbilt and Gould had withdrawn their subscriptions is pronounced upon good authority false. It seems now that Philadelphia is likely to be second in the struggle for the credit of conferring pecuniary honors on the general. George Jones of the New York Times said: "We have $225,000 of our proposed subscription already and have not heard from Boston. I have no doubt of the result." The subscriptions range from $10,000 down to $100. The names of the donors will not be published.

COURT MARTIALED.

Mount Vernon, Ind., Jan. 30.—Kipling has immortalized the woes of Tommy Atkins, the English private, but not a voice has been raised in behalf of a still more benighted individual—the American army and navy officer.

In time of war he may have [and if he belongs to the wrong party he may not] the rare privilege of fighting and dying for his country. If he wins he may get the half hearted thanks of congress and the momentary acclaim of the mob or he may be discarded through the political influence of a higher up.

In time of peace he may quell insurrection or pursue international bandits amid howls of protest and derision from his nitwit fellow countrymen that he is serving; or he may dig canals, build bridges or engage in the sorry business of fighting rum runners.

If none of these jobs is at hand he may keep his mouth shut, speak in whispers, tell polite lies or utter inane remarks. If he displays the fearlessness in speech that he is expected to display in battle he is court martialed and disgraced, regardless of the purity and patriotism of his motives.

W. H. STROWD.

THE BATTLE OF A SABER.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Has the rattle of Mussolini's saber scared the authorities at Washington so badly that they find it necessary to offer apologies on hands and knees and all but hang Gen. Butler, and for what? ARMIN SEITZ.

CONCEALED WEAPONS.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 24.—Legislation now is threatened which will better the chances of the holdup man committing his crimes and escaping with a whole skin. I refer to the proposed change in the concealed weapon law designed to eliminate the possibility of a law abiding citizen carrying a weapon in his car at all.

I am one who travels by automobile constantly, covering a great many miles after dark. I have been stopped on three different occasions and forced to give up my money and valuables; on one of these occasions I also lost my car. Although I am a rather good shot with a pistol I am at the mercy of bandits carrying weapons because the law does not permit me the same privilege.

As a much greater advance toward law and order, let me suggest legislation that will permit qualified citizens arming themselves after a course in shooting under the tutelage of the police. When the bandit realizes that there is a chance that his intended victim may be in position to defend himself holdups will lose in popularity.

TRAVELER.

WHY WETS ARE WET.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Ninety-nine per cent of the whining people do about prohibition is done in the same spirit they yap about bridge, maids, golf, the stock market, and gangsters; they think it is the thing to do to be in the swim, and you are aware of it. Naturally I realize your anti-prohibition propaganda is done in behalf of moneyed interests, your own included, but don't think that we are all sheep and will jump whichever way you point or swallow whatever you print. CAROLINE B. HARRIS.

ASSESSMENT AND REVIEW.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—After numerous trips to the board of assessors at the county building and after months of waiting the taxpayer was finally advised that the board of assessors had turned over the books to the board of review for revision. The board of review immediately employed about one hundred extra clerks, had very large complaint sheets printed at a cost of ten of thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money, going through the motion of receiving complaints. The time for filing complaints was extended in order that these numerous clerks could draw extra pay, and now, after waiting week, we are informed that the board will not have time to hear the complaints and all hearings have been closed without public notice of any kind.

The best the board of review will advise is that inasmuch as complaints have been filed they are a basis for an appeal to the County court. A great number of the taxpayers were obliged to go to a great deal of expense to get attorneys to gather the data in order that they might file the complaints before the board of review. Now all the time and money is wasted. The taxpayer always pays. There seems to be no good reason why the board of assessors could not have turned over the books a town at a time and complaints filed accordingly and hearings had while the complaints were being filed, thus the taxpayers would have had fair dealings. Why a board of review that does not function? Organized effort by the taxpayer is absolutely essential in order to secure any sort of equalization and fairness.

If real estate is to remain an investment and the ownership of a home desirable, taxes must be shifted to personal property to a large extent.

READING FOR CHILDREN.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—I have a 14 year old daughter attending Austin High school. In her history class she was assigned to read a book on "Catherine the Great, Empress of Russia." The cover of this book says: "We also see Catherine, the jealous mistress of men, who at 60 has a lover of 28." The fact is that much of the book is taken up with a vivid description of her twelve lovers. Surely with all the books of history printed, there was no need of assigning a schoolchild to read such volumes as this. E. H. WEB.

CREDIT WHERE DUE.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—In the editorial in today's TRIBUNE in reference to representative government in Illinois you state that the 1930 census figures for Chicago senatorial districts were obtained by Representative Ralph Church. As a matter of fact, these figures were obtained at Washington and furnished to your Springfield correspondent by Elmer J. Schnackenberg, representative of Chicago.

HERSH KELLER,
Secretary to Mr. Schnackenberg.

MR. WARBUCKS' PLANS.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—I hope you're not going to have Daddy Warbucks again run off and leave Annie penniless and alone in a cold and cruel world. He done that too many times already. If Annie has to have her adventures, why can't Daddy and she have them together? A. K.

STATE OFFICIAL DENIES SURPLUS OF ROAD MONEY

Says Instead Income Is Anticipated.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas J. Courtney's assertion that there is a $19,000,000 surplus in the state treasury which could be used to build hard roads in Illinois was challenged today by Director H. H. Cleaveland of the department of public works and buildings.

H. H. CLEAVELAND.
[Eckman Photo.]

Actually, says the director, on Jan. 1 there was but $3,427,536.93 in the road construction fund and against this the state had outstanding contracts totaling $11,213,267.56. "It is therefore obvious," he added, "that the state even now has overobligated its road funds to the extent of $7,785,730.63. It did this by anticipating assured motor license revenues for 1931 so there would be considerable road work available for the unemployed during the winter and early spring."

Plan Federal Aid Projects.

Illinois is proceeding to place under contract, within a short time, Mr. Cleaveland explained, several million dollars of federal aid work for which funds were recently made available by the emergency road appropriation passed by congress to relieve unemployment. From this Illinois will receive $3,400,000 and the bids on the first federal aid project for 1931—$5,000,000 worth of work—will be received Wednesday.

"However," added Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer, "the effectiveness of the department's effort to alleviate unemployment depends on whether the present sources of revenue are disturbed. Curtailment of road construction would reduce considerably the number of jobs available for the unemployed." This was in reply to Senator Courtney's bill to cut the state auto license fees in half.

"It is our plan," continued Sheets, "to break highway construction records this year unless some of the present sources of road revenue are closed to the department. But, owing to the fact that the constitutionality of the gas tax law is again before the supreme court, the department cannot anticipate any more of the 1931 road revenues than it has until a decision is made.

Metropolitan Area Projects.

"Besides anticipating motor license revenues for 1931, the highway department has committed itself to construction of about $12,000,000 worth of projects to provide traffic relief for the metropolitan area."

The exact condition of the road treasury on Jan. 1, Mr. Cleaveland said, was as follows:

Balance in all road funds	$21,845,057.98
Unsold state highway bonds	2,000,000.00
Total	$23,845,057.98
County gas (ax refunds to be spent in 1931	$11,546,667.36
Reserved for paying principal and interest on highway bonds	7,920,000.00
Reserved for refunds on non-taxable gasoline	360,637.71
Warrants issued in process of payment	$ 590,218.98
Total	$20,417,821.05
Amount available for construction	3,427,536.93
Contracts already made	11,213,267.56
Money for contracts	3,427,536.93
Deficit which must be made up from license fee collections in 1931	7,785,730.63

The drought and the depression, with its resulting unemployment, led the state to overobligate itself, the officials said.

AUTO KILLS YOUTH IN ROAD.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 1. — [Special.] — Francis Davis, 17 years old, was killed last night when struck by an auto driven by Andy Gill, athletic coach of the Michigan City High school, eight miles north of here. Davis was walking in the road with another boy and failed to see Gill's car coming from behind.

Representatives to Confer on Illinois Reapportioning

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washinggton, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Reapportionment of Illinois congressional districts is to be taken up in a conference of Republican representatives from the state in the near future. Word from Springfield that a serious effort is to be made at this session of the legislature to redistrict the state has started discussions as to how it should be done. Demands for an increase in the number of districts in Cook county promise to furnish the greatest cause for controversy.

According to the contention of Cook county members, they are entitled to an increase of four seats in congress. At present ten of the 25 congressional districts are in Cook county, one of the ten also taking in Lake county. Two of the 27 members from Illinois are elected at large.

Census Gives Cook 14.

On a basis of population under the new census, it is declared that Cook county is entitled to 14 out of 27 districts. The downstate members insist that they will not consent to this and suggest that Cook county should be satisfied with two additional districts, which, in effect, would give that county the two representatives now elected at large.

The Republican members from Illinois hope to work out a scheme which will take care of all present representatives of their party for submission to party leaders in the legislature. Their task is simplified somewhat by the fact that six seats which are now held by Republicans will be held by Democrats in the new congress. There will be only one Republican representative at large, Richard Yates, after March 4. It is figured that if Cook county gets the two seats for which members are now elected at large Mr. Yates may be able to win reelection in the Springfield district, where he resides.

New Man Is Democrat.

While the present representative from that district, Frank M. Ramey, is a Republican, his successor in the new congress, J. Earl Major, is a Democrat.

Illinois congressional districts are badly out of line from the standpoint of approximately equal population, according to the new census. With 435 members of the house and a population of about 122 millions, each district should have a population of about 280,000.

In Cook county the First, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, and Ninth districts have less than the average, while the Second, Third, Sixth, Seventh, and Tenth have more than the average.

Seventh Has 890,000.

The Fifth district, represented by A. J. Sabath, Democrat, has only a little more than 130,000. The First, represented by Oscar De Priest, Republican, has only about 145,000. The two largest are the Sixth, represented by James T. Igoe, Democrat, with about 650,000, and the Seventh, which will be represented by L. W. Schuetz, Democrat, in the new congress, which has about 890,000.

POLICE LAUNCH INQUIRY IN GAS DEATH OF WOMAN

Des Plaines street police are investigating the death of Miss Agnes Dittmer, a cook, 65 years old, found overcome by fumes from a gas heater in a rooming house at 224 South Laflin street. She died after being taken to the county hospital. She had rented the room but a few hours before, Mrs. Edna Walters, the landlady, told the police. Her bank book showed deposits totaling $4,335.

Although an inhalator squad revived her temporarily, she did not make a statement. The police learned she had moved to the Walters' place from 1834 Prairie avenue. She said she was without relatives or friends. She told Mrs. Walters she had a trunk coming, but investigation disclosed no orders had been issued to move it from the Prairie avenue address.

The inquest will be held today at the county morgue.

WILL REPLACE BURNED TREES IN U. S. FORESTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—With millions of young trees on hand in its nurseries, the forest service of the agriculture department is prepared to begin spring tree planting on some of the burned over areas in the national forests.

As soon as snow is off the ground the forest service will begin its annual planting operations where it left off last fall, principally in the lake states and Idaho.

The spring program calls for planting in the Monongahela national forest in West Virginia; near Halsey in the Nebraska national forest; on the Pike national forest in Colorado; the St. Joe in Idaho; in some of the national forests of the lake states, and probably on the Columbia national forest in Washington.

FIRE DRIVES 100 FROM HOMES.

Fire in a three story brick apartment building at 207 East 46th street early yesterday drove more than 100 Negroes to the street. The damage was estimated at $3,500.

DELAY DIRIGBLE FLIGHT TO ZONE; GIVE NO REASON

Lakehurst, N. J., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Without explanation the contemplated test flight of the navy dirigible Los Angeles set for tomorrow morning at 6:3 o'clock was canceled late today.

It had been planned to cruise over this territory preparatory to starting for the Panama Canal Zone. No announcement was made, but it was indicated the Panama flight might not start now before Wednesday.

One member of the crew originally listed for the flight was seriously ill tonight. He is Joseph W. Turner. His place will be taken by William F. Hook, radio, first class, of Arcadia, Utah.

When the Los Angeles finally starts south it will be under sealed orders. It will not be known until these orders are opened whether the giant ship of the air will take part in the maneuvers on the side of the defending forces or the attackers.

Young Wife, Estranged from Mate, Tries to Die

Mrs. Ruth Dwyer, 25 years old, reported to be estranged from her husband, Thomas Dwyer, attempted suicide early yesterday by turning on the gas in the kitchen of the home of her father, William H. Gilley, 6827 Lakewood avenue, secretary of the Independent Thread Mills company. Discovered by a neighbor, Stanley Schwartz, who smelled the escaping gas, Mrs. Dwyer was revived by an inhalator squad and taken to the Rogers Park hospital.

Basement Fire Routs 26 from Their Apartments

A basement blaze, starting from an overheated furnace pipe, sent 26 tenants of a six flat building at 926 Crescent place to the street last evening. No one was injured. Mrs. Mary Boda, 36 years old, living on the third floor, became frightened at the smoke and was carried to safety by firemen. The damage was estimated at $500.

U. S. RUM PATROL CUTS EXPORTS OF BRITISH LIQUOR

[Copyright: 1931: by the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The tightening grip of American prohibition patrols caused a decline of 31 per cent in British exports of spirits to Canada and the West Indies during 1930. This was disclosed today.

During 1930 a total of 1,070,551 gallons of spirits went from Great Britain to Canada, as against 1,367,570 in 1929 and 1,749,304 in 1928. Exports to the British West Indies fell to 233,727 gallons, compared with 270,064 in 1929 and 281,865 two years ago. Although exports to the Irish Free State and South Africa increased, there was a total decline for all countries of 1,552,216 gallons below the 1929 figure.

"Some of this decline was temporary," says a report by George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom alliance, "but part of the decline may be due to the strengthening of the prohibition cordon around the United States."

Russell Thaw Wins Plane Race by Fourteen Seconds

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—By the narrow margin of fourteen seconds, Russell K. Thaw, son of Evelyn Nesbit, won $500 by defeating his opponent in a race from here to Newark, N. J., airport and return. Thaw flew a 90 horsepower Monocoupe, while his rival, William Patterson, piloted a Westbrook Sportser, powered with a similar engine.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DUKE OF VENDOME OF BOURBON LINE IS VICTIM OF FLU

Life Embittered as Heirs Marry Americans.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, Feb. 1.—Emmanuel, duke of Vendome and Alencon, great grandson of King Louis Philippe and brother-in-law of King Albert of Belgium, whose life has been embittered by the tendency of his children to "taint" the royal line by marrying American commoners, died of flu today at his Saint Michel château. He was a member of the Bourbon family.

He was 59 years old, two years older than his cousin, the Duc de Guise, pretender to the French throne.

Son Marries American.

In 1928 his only son, Charles Philippe, duke of Nemours, married Marguerite Watson of Richmond, Va., a woman six years his senior. When his father's stern opposition failed to prevent the marriage, the outraged royal house of France refused to recognize the wedding and this decision still stands.

Later in the same year his eldest child, Princess Marie Louise, after obtaining an annulment of her first marriage with Prince Philippe of Bourbon-Sicilies, crossed the channel and married a wealthy New York society man, Walter Kingsland, at Chichester, England. When her father's bitter opposition failed to stave off this marriage, the exasperated royal house of France took action by suppressing the rank and prerogatives of all the princesses in the royal family.

Both Marriages Happy.

Despite the old school nobleman's dire prediction of domestic disaster, both marriages continue happy and successful. The late duke never visited the United States. Some explain this as the duke's dislike of the upstart new world, and others point out that the duke never had enough money to travel extensively anyway. He spent all of his spare change in building up picture collections and enjoyed a reputation as an art connoisseur.

Brutalities Inflicted Upon Political Enemies of Marshal Pilsudski Bared

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 1.—The complete text of the interpellation put to the Polish sejm by Deputy Czapinski protesting against the brutal treatment accorded to political prisoners in the Brest-Litovsk military prison during the two months preceding the last Polish election was made public here today.

EMILE VANDERVELDE.

The fragmentary excerpts which were permitted to be telegraphed from Warsaw at the time of the interpellation on Dec. 16 last indicated that it was a serious indictment of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski and his party's tactics toward members of the opposition parties. The full text was obtained and published by the commission of inquiry into the conditions of political prisoners, a department of the Labor and Socialist International.

Takes Rap at Pilsudski.

In a preface to the text Emile Vandervelde, noted Belgian Socialist leader, analyzes the points of the interpellation and adds several biting thrusts at the Pilsudski dictatorship. In it he declares that Poland "has escaped foreign servitude only to fall under the heel of a handful of politicians and soldiers associated to exploit, for the benefit of miserable interests, the senile rancours and furies of a megalomaniac who is intent upon destroying what he himself founded."

"The history of contemporary dictatorships contains pages more bloody," says M. Vandervelde. "I venture to say that it does not contain any more ignominious."

The interpellation, addressed to the marshal, declares that during the night of Sept. 9 to 10 last, 20 civilians, all former members of the sejm and holders of high state offices, were arrested by the state police and military gendarmerie. All belonged to the minority parties.

"The arrests took place without any order by the courts, solely on the basis of a written instruction from Minister of Interior Skladkowski," the interpellation says. "It was issued undated and without a statement of reasons.

Threatened and Beaten.

"This kind of arrest, which is contrary to the provisions in force governing procedure in criminal law, constitutes a flagrant violation of the law of the government of that time.

"The persons arrested in this unusual manner were removed by state police and the military gendarmerie in closed cars in an unknown direction. Throughout the journey they were insulted and threatened. Dr. Herman Liebermann [member of the sejm, public prosecutor for the sejm in the matter of the accusation of Minister Czechowicz before the state court] was beaten by the police until he lost consciousness. At an appointed moment the escorting commissioner stopped the car and ordered Dr. Liebermann to get out. A moment later he was ordered to enter a wood where, with shouts of 'You dare to accuse Czechowicz, you dare to raise your voice against the marshal,' he was beaten into unconsciousness and received over 20 bleeding wounds.

"The arrested persons were illegally accommodated in the military prison in Brest-Litovsk, which is under the military authorities, although all the prisoners were civilians. The prisoners were removed from the jurisdiction of competent legal authorities. They were completely cut off from the world in a manner unknown to legal practice."

Treated Worse Than Deserters.

The treatment accorded the prisoners, who held high positions in Polish official life, was that rarely accorded even to military deserters, the text continues, alleging that they were commanded by officers with vulgar curses and compelled to do the hardest of common tasks.

"Dr. Witos, twice premier of Poland, Dr. Liebermann and others were employed to clean the latrines with a cloth, which means practically with their bare hands, and to wash the floors and corridors under the supervision of soldiers," the interpellation goes on.

"Until Nov. 9 the prisoners were given a diet which was specially calculated to starve them. The examining judge refused to allow the members of their families to send foodstuffs and gave as reason for this prohibition that their rations were adequate.

"About once a week an inspection took place. These inspections, which were carried out in the night, consisted of leading the prisoners into a dark hall, stripping them naked, and obliging them to stand barefoot on the cold floor while being scoffed at by guards.

Beaten with Iron Rod.

"During the night of Oct. 9 the guard conducted former Deputy Carol Popiel to a dark room. Here he was seized by several hands. A gendarme seized his head and another his feet, and a wet cloth was thrown across the small of his back. He then received blows from an iron rod. Popiel received at least 30 such blows, during which he lost consciousness. The captain present at this punishment said to the victim: 'Be glad that it was so little. Next time Marshal Pilsudski will order a bullet through your head.'"

The prisoners were often threatened with execution, and, to keep these threats alive, sham executions were staged from time to time, the interpellation says.

The interpellation ends up by asking:

"[1] What does the prime minister intend to do in order to call the guilty to account and impose the punishment which they have earned?

"[2] What steps does he propose to take in order to avoid such a violation of the law in the future in respect to the citizens of the state?"

CHIEF WITNESS AGAINST POLISH PLOTTERS SHOT

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The principal witness in the case of five Socialists being tried here for an alleged bomb plot on the life of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski was abducted last night and left for dead in a country ditch, police revealed. The man, Purzycki, who was slightly wounded by a bullet in the head, probably saved his life by pretending to be dead. The trial of the Socialists was adjourned today in order to investigate the kidnaping.

Purzycki, who the Socialists claim acted as agent provocateur, met two men last night posing as detectives. They offered to escort him home in an automobile as a protection against the vengeance of the Socialists. The car made for the outskirts of the city and when the prisoner protested one of the men shot him. After Purzycki feigned death he was thrown from the automobile. Later, he was picked up by a military car and brought back to Warsaw. He refused hospital treatment.

The alleged plot against Pilsudski was planned for the election campaign last fall. A Socialist is credited with having exposed the conspiracy.

NEW YORK POLICE TRAP AND KILL 2 BANDITS IN TAXI

Pair Cornered After Wild Fifty Mile Chase.

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Telephone and teletype machine outraced the automobile today. As a result two desperate criminals were shot and killed and two others were captured after a 50 mile chase from Beacon, N. Y., to the Bronx, with the police of four intermediary towns participating in the wild pursuit.

Both slain men, trapped and shot to death by New York policemen as they sought to escape in a taxicab, were members of a gang that escaped from Eastview prison, Westchester, on Christmas eve. They were Charles Sirico, 27 years old, and James Clark, 30. Both had long criminal records.

The two men captured are Peter Reynolds, also an escaped convict, and John Creedon, most inexperienced of the quartet. Creedon was caught by the police of Beacon, where the fatal running battle between thieves and police began after the gang had held up a paint shop and looted a jewelry store of valuables worth about $10,000.

Caught Robbing Jewelry Store.

Operating with the aid of a swift sedan which they had stolen, the gang had broken out the glass in the window of the jewelry shop and were scooping out gems when they were surprised by two policemen.

There was a scuffle in which Creedon was seized. The others hurled themselves into their sedan and tore away from the curb at high speed.

The police car set out in pursuit, but the bandits increased the speed of their car to nearly 80 miles an hour and rapidly left the police behind. Then the Beacon authorities sent out a general alarm by telephone to all adjoining counties.

Within a few minutes White Plains, nearer to New York City, had picked up the warning and sounded its message in every station in Westchester county.

Pair Slain in Taxicab.

Soon afterward a Yonkers policeman caught sight of the sedan traveling toward New York. He commandeered a nearby automobile and took up the pursuit. Luck was with the policeman, for a minor accident detained the bandits south of Yonkers.

With drawn gun the policeman waded into the three bandits. He knocked Reynolds unconscious, but Clark and Sirico fled across the line into New York City. They jumped into a taxicab and sped away.

Patrolman William Scanlon, scanning traffic for the robbers' sedan, sighted the speeding taxicab. He set out in pursuit, and with two other patrolmen cornered the bandits.

Then a volley from the guns of the policemen followed, killing both of the bandits.

PARADE IN PROTEST AGAINST CITY FAILURE TO OPEN 103D STREET

Four hundred men, women, and children staged another parade yesterday in protest against the failure of the city to open 103d street from Cottage Grove avenue to South Chicago. The street development now is blocked by the tracks of the Nickel Plate and Chicago and Western Indiana railroads.

Starting at Cottage Grove avenue, the crowd marched along the route of the projected street to the Serbian community hall at 98th street and Commercial avenue where a mass-meeting was addressed by Ald. W. A. Rowan [10th] and State Representative W. W. Powers.

At the start of the march Mayor Thompson drove his car through the crowd and declared that the new switch tracks recently laid across the street site by the Nickel Plate will be removed within two weeks. The road has been given 30 days to remove the tracks.

A $100,000 bond issue for the 103. street improvement was voted in 1927. The only expenditure from it has been approximately $10,000 paid to experts.

UNEMPLOYMENT WOES FACED BY 315 U. S. CITIES

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Knights of Columbus employment service, through its national headquarters here, reported today that unemployment is acute in 315 cities and towns of the United States, with the eastern and midwest states showing the largest number of seriously affected communities.

Its report, based on a nation-wide survey made in over 1,100 communities during the last six weeks, showed 76 of the 93 cities in the country with a population of 100,00 or more have a serious unemployment problem. Massachusetts with 35 reported the largest number of seriously affected communities and was followed by New York with 34; Pennsylvania, 31; Illinois, 27; Ohio, 21; California, 19; Indiana, 15; Michigan, 12, and Connecticut, 11.

With the exception of California the far west and southern states reported ten or less communities as seriously affected.

BUILDING TOTALS $1,666,000 FOR END OF JANUARY

Craig Issues Appeal for More Construction.

Construction contracts awarded during the last two weeks in January in the metropolitan area amounted to $1,666,000 while the contemplated construction work scheduled for the same period amounts to $9,010,000. This was announced yesterday by E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association.

The city's construction program is now passing through a dormant period similar to that which characterized the war period of 1917 and 1918, according to Mr. Craig. Approximately $750,000 is being severed from the city's purchasing power daily as a result of the joblessness of 75,000 of Chicago's 115,000 building trade mechanics and laborers, he asserted.

"Statisticians claim that for every unemployed man in the building trades four other wage earners are directly affected," said Mr. Craig. "This should illustrate the importance of stimulating construction to retrieve normal business conditions. Immediately following the war there was an acute housing shortage. Because of the building plans shelved in the last 18 months a similar condition is developing now."

Boy Makes Tearful Pledge to Drop Cowboy Ambition

Joseph Tintoren, 14 years old, 1403 West 47th street, yesterday made tearful promises to his parents that he would never again run away from home to be a cowboy. Joseph's plans to go west were frustrated by his mount, a 17 year old horse known as Red Charley. The horse, which formerly followed a milk route and then a mail route, refused to stray from the streets with which he was acquainted and police finally captured both Joseph and Charley, returning the boy to his home and the horse to his stable at 4191 Emerald avenue.

'MURDER ON HIGH SEAS,' PASTOR CALLS SLAYING BY U. S. COAST GUARD

LUNENBERG, N. S., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Throngs attending funeral services today for Skipper William Cluett of the schooner Josephine K heard a minister describe his death during a rum running chase off New York as "murder on the high seas."

The Rev. Major W. E. Ryder eulogized Cluett as "a good husband and father, a good friend and a master mariner," and said his death by coast guard gunfire was "one of the inevitable tragedies that follow the hypocrisy of prohibition." Emphasizing that he was not justifying the business Cluett was engaged in, he declared he was "confident British justice will see fair play meted out."

"This tragedy must not be hushed up," he said. "Incidents of this sort are becoming almost a daily occurrence. They are evidence of the futility of trying to make a country dry by prohibition. Capt. Cluett was simply the commander of a supply boat carrying a commodity demanded by the people of the United States."

The pastor read two prayers written by Capt. Cluett. Business men, legislators, skippers, and able bodied seamen were in the funeral procession.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN IN BATTLE.

Walter Brooks, colored, was shot and severely wounded in a gun battle with Detective William Quitter at Bunker and Des Plaines streets yesterday. Brooks had shot and wounded his wife, Viola, following a quarrel in their home at 1136 South Des Plaines street.

Bodies of 2 Slain Men Are Found in Automobile

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The bodies of John Cook, 27, and Joseph Valentino, 35, joint proprietors of a restaurant at Salamanca, N. Y., near here, who had been slain in what police view as the revival of a bootleggers' feud in the Cattaraugus-Kane [Pa.] county district, were found today in a coupe at Tuna, a cluster of half a dozen houses in Pennsylvania just over the state line.

PLAN TO HOUSE NEW MILLIONS OF NEW YORK CITY

Migration from Populous Centers Encouraged.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—A plan to take care of 2,000,000 additional families of the future in the metropolitan area where people already "grow" thirty-six persons to the acre in the close in suburbs, and 500 per acre in the more populous sectors of the city, was presented today by the regional plan housing committee. It urged migration countryward.

The program for improving housing conditions in existing tenements and mushroom growth realty subdivisions and to maintain higher standards in future buildings.

The housing study, prepared by Thomas Adams, consultant of the regional plan, and Wayne D. Heydecker, acting general director, proposes municipal construction of dwellings only as a last resort.

Consider Undeveloped Areas.

The report urges the construction of sewers and rapid transit lines into undeveloped areas and the transfer of workers, factories and fabricating industries into the remaining sections of open country.

"Wholesome new or reconstructed dwellings for the working classes in Manhattan and other crowded centers," the report states, "are virtually impossible owing to the land's having a higher value for other uses."

"In Greater New York," Mr. Adams explains, "the average population density is 36 persons or about 8.5 families per acre. The largest population which New York is likely to have within the past century would require an average density of only 50 persons, or about 12 families per acre, as contrasted with maximum densities in some parts of the city of more than 500 persons per acre now."

Estimate Peak Population.

The peak population for the metropolitan area in this century on the basis of fifty persons per acre would be approximately 16,000,000.

The housing experts declared that strict enforcement of the highest standards for wholesale housing, regardless of previous investment in land and building which fall below such standards, must be achieved to reconstruct deteriorated districts. The report adds that "dwellings which cannot be made suitable for habitation should be demolished without compensation."

Encourages Migration.

For handling the housing problem the report recommends extension of transit lines, water supply, etc., into undeveloped areas to encourage migration from congested centers; rigid control over new subdivisions, definitely limiting housing densities, and limitation of density of population on all unbuilt land, either the number of families per acre or the minimum lot area per family, and demolition of all buildings that cannot be made fit for human habitation and reconstruction only when suitable space for playgrounds can be retained.

BENNETT ON WAY TO CANADA AFTER HE SEES HOOVER

Silent on What They Talked About.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Canadian prime minister, R. B. Bennett, left the capital for Ottawa late today without disclosing publicly the purpose of a busy three day visit described by him as strictly "unofficial."

R. B. BENNETT.
[(C) Harris & Ewing Photo.]

After a morning spent in a final conference with Canadian legation officials Bennett lunched with Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, together with Secretaries Lamont and Wilbur and Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the tariff commission. He previously had conferred and dined with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson, and Eugene Meyer Jr., governor of the federal reserve board.

Looks Over Legation.

The Canadian premier declined to ascribe any other reason for his visit than that of "looking over the legation" here, which he never had seen. At his conference with newspapermen yesterday, Bennett turned aside all questions touching upon Canadian-American affairs, including queries on wheat, finances, the St. Lawrence waterway project, prohibition, and the recent capture of the Canadian rum runner, Josephine K., a report on which has been sent to the Canadian legation.

The Canadian premier was escorted to a private car attached to the Washington-Montreal express by Sir Ronald Lindsay, Assistant Secretary Castle of the state department, and virtually the entire staff of his country's legation here.

Many Questions Discussed.

Traveling, as Secretary Stimson said, in an "incognito consisting of the wearing of a derby rather than a silk hat," Bennett and his party created little public stir as they passed through the railway station plaza.

Assistant Secretary Castle told newspapermen he had heard of no official reason for the prime minister's visit other than that of inspecting the Canadian legation, but added that he had "talked over all sorts of questions informally."

Flying Envoy in Argentina After Battle with Winds

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Bolivian counsel at Puerto Gallegos, Argentina, telegraphed the American embassy today that Ambassador William S. Culbertson and Capt. Ralph Wooten flew there from Rivadavia last night after a hard five hour battle with terrific winds. Mr. Culbertson and Capt. Wooten, who is the American military attaché in Chile, are covering much unexplored territory in a flight over southern Chile and lower Argentina.

ECUADOR INDIANS, STIRRED BY REDS, THREATEN REVOLT

QUITO, ECUADOR, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Menace of a general uprising among Indians in the region of the town of Cayambe was indicated in reports today from government agents. They said the Indians were being stimulated to join a peasant congress, a movement which has spread throughout the republic from coastal points.

Soldiers sent to Cayambe reported intercepting messages from which they deduced that the Indians had decided to attack the Changala estate, nearby. Dr. Luis F. Chavez, instigator of the movement, was captured in an Indian hut.

Authorities have prepared a vigorous counter campaign by arresting communist leaders.

TEETH WHITEN

When you remove Bacterial-Mouth

DULL teeth that are ugly, yellow and decayed, and receding gums are enemies of beauty, health and happiness. They are tell-tale signs of a condition offensive to all of us—and inexcusable. Germs sweep into the mouth with every breath and attack teeth and gums. They cause the condition known as Bacterial-Mouth. But Kolynos quickly conquers this foe by killing the germs. The result is astonishing.

Use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for 3 days—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then look at your teeth—fully 3 shades whiter.

In 10 days the improvement will be so marked you will never again say that white teeth are a gift received only by a fortunate few.

Dentists have long advocated the Dry-Brush Technique as the one way to use a dental cream full strength and keep brush bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly. Kolynos permits this approved technique.

This highly concentrated, double-strength dental cream is unique in action. It multiplies 25 times when it enters the mouth—thus a half-inch of Kolynos is equal in effectiveness to 12 inches of the ordinary toothpaste. It becomes a surging, antiseptic FOAM that makes wetting the toothbrush unnecessary.

You can feel Kolynos work. It foams into every pit, fissure and crevice. Germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth and lead to stain, decay and gum diseases are quickly killed. They vanish and the entire mouth is purified. Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 15 seconds, 424 million in 60 seconds.

This amazing Kolynos FOAM removes food particles that ferment and cause decay . . . neutralizes acids . . . washes away tartar and the unsightly mucoid coating that clouds teeth.

Easily and quickly, it cleans and polishes teeth down to the naked white enamel without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this cleansing, purifying process continues.

So long as you use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique teeth will remain gleaming white and sound, gums will be firm and healthy.

Look for Results in 3 Days

If you want whiter, sounder teeth and firm, pink gums start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry-brush, morning and night. Within 3 days teeth will look whiter—fully 3 shades. Gums will look and feel better. Your mouth will tingle with a clean, sweet taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist.

400 Copies of the Chicago Tribune Baited Destiny 83 Years Ago

June 10, 1847, the day on which the Chicago Tribune was born, was just another day in the Chicago of that distant period. No anticipation marked the attitude of Chicago's 16,000 souls towards the advent of a new daily. Most of them were unaware that it was forthcoming.

Chicago was then a huddle of wooden shacks. None but a clear-visioned few saw therein the beginning of a mighty metropolis. Among these were the men who, on a June day 83 years ago, baited destiny with 400 copies of a new newspaper.

Eight years later the Tribune had gained in stature. Reaching national importance in Civil war days, the Tribune in the years since has added immeasurably to its position and influence. Today the Chicago Tribune stands without a peer among the newspapers of America.

MASTER CRIMINAL OF BUENOS AIRES IS SHOT AT DAWN

Faces Firing Squad with Sarcastic Smile.

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 1.—Severino De Giovanni, Buenos Aires phantom gunman and dubbed Argentina's "Al Capone" by this afternoon's press, faced a firing squad at 5 a. m. today in expiation of a series of the most cold blooded assassinations in the annals of Argentine crime. Following sentence of death De Giovanni cynically confessed his share of a long list of holdups, murders, and bombings.

He was brought by prison warders from his cell to the courtroom. His walk was slow on account of the heavy shackles which were riveted to his ankles. With his head thrown back he smiled insolently. Earlier in the day he suffered from momentary weakness, but he died game.

Stands at Attention.

De Giovanni stood at attention, with his bluish-green eyes blazing, while Capt. Bacigaluppi, secretary of the supreme war council, read "the act," reciting the crimes of which the condemned man was accused. This took approximately ten minutes, during which time the bandit never flinched, but retained his sarcastic smile. He took his seat on the death chair with extraordinary sangfroid, and just as the prison guards sighted their rifles he shouted "Viva la anarquia."

Hurrah for Anarchy.

One moment more and he was a dead man.

De Giovanni died game following his promise to his sweetheart, Azrica Scarfo, who is sister to Poulino Scarfo who tomorrow at dawn also faces a firing squad for participating in the same series of crimes.

A Legendary Character.

For more than ten years De Giovanni has been almost a legendary character among Argentine criminals. His connection with spectacular holdups was firmly believed in by the public, but little real evidence could be secured to incriminate him. Even some of the police detectives asserted that De Giovanni did not exist except in popular imagination.

De Giovanni was born in Chieti, Italy, 31 years ago. He was a muscular middlesized man, with a shock of dark chestnut hair. But for a heavier build, he bore a likeness to the famous moving picture star, Ramon Navarro.

With the death of De Giovanni, and the arrest of most of his gang, the police of Buenos Aires are now rid of what has been a long obsession to them and the mystery which has surrounded a number of spectacular crimes has been definitely cleared. Five persons were killed in battles that led up to his arrest.

Condition of Mother of Queen Worries Doctors

U. S. Agents Seize $1,000,000 Distillery; 11 Men Arrested

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A $1,000,000 alcohol distilling plant, said by agents to have been the biggest and most elaborate taken in the state since the advent of prohibition, was raided here today by eight special department of justice agents under the direction of Deputy Prohibition Administrator Martin O. Hanson of New York.

Eleven men, found at the plant, were arrested on charges of conspiracy and operating an unlicensed brewery.

The equipment and materials at the plant were valued by the agents at $1,000,000. Hugh vats, valuable stills, railroad cars, and a large quantity of alcohol and alcohol mash were seized.

The men arrested gave their names as: Frank Wilson, 35, Brooklyn; Lawrence Blackman, alias Harris, 38, Buffalo, N. Y.; Sam Kirsch, Chicago; George Adams, 38, Troy, N. Y.; Benny Goldberg, 36; Irving Gold, 38; Charles Bennett, 38; Louis Schneider, 30; Jacob Fried, 49; Jack Friedman, 37, and Mike Jacobs, 34, all of New York City.

The agents, picked from the New York City office, arrived in Elmira about 1 o'clock. They surrounded the brewery before climbing over a high board fence. They said the plant was in operation when they entered into the rooms on the workmen.

Among the equipment and materials seized were one 1,000 gallon still, two 20,000 gallon stills, three 1,500 gallon copper condensers, 45 fifty gallon steel drums of alcohol, more than 7,000 gallons of alcohol in storage, one railroad tank car of molasses, one freight car of 50 gallon steel drums, six steam pumps, three blowers, seventy 25 gallons carboys of sulphuric acid, fourteen 50 gallon drums of straw oil, two 125 horse power boilers, with oil burners; 2,500 pounds sugar, six steel vats of 50,000 gallon capacity with alcohol mash, three 10,000 gallon wooden vats of alcohol mash, six 5,000 gallon wooden vats of alcohol mash, and three empty 10,000 gallon steel vats.

The plant was Briggs brewery before prohibition days. Several years ago, agents from Washington raided the place and seized a large quantity of "high power" beer. Its license for making near beer was revoked then.

CHINESE TRY OUT NEW CALENDAR, BUT RETAIN OLD

Refuse to Forego Fetes Held for Centuries.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Feb. 1.—The old customs die hard in China and the Nationalist government in Nanking finds itself at outs with the people in the provinces and with the banks, merchants, and manufacturers in the cities. It is true, not only of north China and Manchuria, but even south of the Yangtze, where the government finds most of its support.

Officially China adopted the Western calendar as of Jan. 1, but the Chinese calendars based on the lunar system made their appearance as well and even the large cities as Shanghai, Hankow, Canton, Tientsin have decided to observe the old custom.

The lunar new year falls this year on Tuesday, Feb. 17. Although most of the firms closed in keeping with the banks and the customs on Thursday, Jan. 1, the banks and customs have arranged to close for the lunar new year on Feb. 17, 18, and 19.

In other parts of China the close-down will be for a fortnight, when the workers will go to their homes, often some days' travel from where they are employed, and as a rule the shops and factories will not reopen until the ancient Festival of Light, with its gorgeous dragon parades and lantern festivals.

For business purposes the new China has adopted the western calendar and the Christian holidays almost as a whole, although it finds another way to mark them. But the lunar new year is a tradition centuries old and despite Nanking it will not down.

Finds Irish Calm as Dreams of a Real Democracy Crash

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—A tendency away from the old cherished ideas of democracy is becoming markedly apparent in the Irish Free State. Steadily the powers of the people are being taken away from them, and this especially in a country which, during the last forty years, shouted loudly for a democratic government. The strange thing is that the people are not only accepting the change but also seem to be glad to get rid of civic responsibilities.

This is easily the most remarkable development of the last ten years, or what may be called the post-rebellion period.

Under the British régime parliamentary representation at Westminster was jealously guarded and any attempt to curtail either the rights of the people or of their representatives was made the occasion of a first class demonstration. This may have been due to the fact that no matter what degree of representation Ireland got in parliament, it was always certain it would be crushed by the dead weight of the British vote, supported by the unionist element from Ireland. This state of affairs kept alive the spirit of resistance.

Take Rule Matter of Course.

Now that the Irish Free State has won greater home rule than its most ardent leaders had ever hoped for, there appears to be a tendency to sit down and take government as a matter of course. This, however, affects only the supporters of the government, for naturally Eamon De Valera's followers think that nothing will be right until they are in control. They are in a minority, and one cannot foresee any sudden change in the present position, which will give De Valera's party the opportunity it craves.

The British government by an act passed in 1898, caused a revolution in the management of local affairs by transferring to the peasantry, at one stroke, the power and patronage which until then were exercised by the aristocracy and the gentry almost exclusively. County councils and urban and rural councils were set up and elected on a wide franchise. The local representatives were of the people.

These councils have been continued down to the present day, but observers declare they have exhausted their usefulness. Anyhow, present indications are that they are about to pass on. At least they are to be drastically reorganized.

Duties Whittled Down.

President Cosgrave's government has in many ways already whittled down many of their functions, and some councils have been suppressed. Much of their highly prized local patronage has been removed. They cannot even appoint a local doctor. This work is done by bodies in Dublin under new legislation. All needs for local county homes are supplied by the combined purchasing committee, which contracts on an enormous scale and is consequently in a position to supply at the cheapest rates.

Doctors and other officials are appointed competitively on their degrees and experience. Even librarians for local libraries are sent where required and the local council is given no alternative but to appoint the individual offered.

Because it refused to accept a librarian according to this plan, the Mayo county council was recently suppressed and a paid commissioner appointed in its place. Other councils have been suppressed for various derelictions; but the curious thing to political observers is that the electors, who are thus deprived of their democratic rights, acquiesce without a murmur.

Cuts Duties of Councils.

The government, it is alleged, has noticed this reaction. Hence the new policy, which will reduce the personnel of county councils, and also further reduce their duties and responsibilities! The duties of the councils of the future will probably be confined to raising funds, while the spending will be placed almost entirely in the hands of paid officials.

Milk and Oranges.. make a great health team..

ORANGES are plentiful and cheap this year. Sizes that sold at 45 to 65 cents a year ago now cost only 30 to 40 cents. Milk, at its new low price of 13 cents a quart is more economical than ever. Treat the family to a variety of delicious dishes, using milk and oranges.

From babyhood on, milk and oranges make a great health team. Milk is rich in vitamins, particularly A and B; it also supplies an abundance of natural mineral salts. Oranges are the most reliable source of Vitamin C. Nutrition authorities say that these foods are essential to the growth and development of good teeth and bones . . . the lack of them results in susceptibility to colds and other winter ills . . . as well as the aches and pains of spring.

To keep your family fit and well this winter, use each day a quart of milk . . . and at least one good size orange, or two smaller ones . . . for each member of the family.

Serve oranges sliced, peeled or juiced. Use the fruit in making delicious desserts, salads, hot breads, and frozen sweets. Several recipes are given at the left. Other uses are: Orange waffles, orange omelets, orange covered coffee cake, orange shortcake, orange charlotte, orange biscuits, orange bavarian, orange sherbet, orange ice cream, etc. For health and economy's sake, plan several dishes a week using milk and oranges.

NAVAL LEAGUE URGES BUILDING OF 140 VESSELS

Treaty Fleet Advocated for United States.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The Navy league of the United States today issued a statement urging the construction during the next five years of 140 warships of a total tonnage of approximately 335,000 tons. Such a building program is necessary, the league pronouncement stated, if this country is to have a treaty fleet of the size permitted the United States under the terms of the London naval agreement.

The league indirectly criticizes the Hoover administration for proposing a small building program to the present session of congress, asserting that steps should be taken at once to authorize and construct one-third of the 335,000 tons of vessels needed by Dec. 31, 1936, if the United States is to have a treaty navy when the naval agreement expires. The warship authorization bill now before congress carries seven ships. To this should be added twelve destroyers, which are to be built if the authorization program is approved.

Action on Bill Sought.

As the league statement was being issued Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] of the house naval affairs committee was taking steps to secure action on the battleship modernization bill and the warship authorization bill during the coming week.

The Navy league statement, signed by William Howard Gardiner, its president, states that unless new warship authorizations are approved by congress the United States will have less than one-half its permitted aircraft carrier, cruiser, submarine, and destroyer quotas when the London treaty expires. It stated that the program submitted by the administration supplies about one-half the number that should be authorized this year as the first installment of a program to give this country a London treaty fleet.

Program Is Outlined.

"In order to bring the United States fleet up to the treaty quotas in underage vessels within the life of the treaty," says the league statement, "we must build four more aircraft carriers, aggregating 55,200 tons; three more large gun cruisers, aggregating 30,000 tons; seven or more small gun cruisers, aggregating not over 73,000 tons; an entirely new set of destroyers—over a hundred—aggregating 150,000 tons, and about twenty-five new submarines aggregating 25,950 tons—a total of close to a hundred and forty vessels, aggregating very nearly 335,000 tons.

"In other words, were we not to do any of this, at the end of the treaty we would have underage less than 60 per cent of our treaty quota of aircraft carrier tonnage, about 85 per cent of our large gun cruiser quota, about half of our quota of small gun cruisers, none of our destroyer quota, and just half of our submarine quota."

With Mrs. McPherson is Roberta Semple, daughter of the evangelist by her first husband.

LIVING COSTS CUT AS BUENOS AIRES BECOMES GROCER

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Living expenses dropped in Buenos Aires today. With the government entering the retail food business, potatoes were selling at less than one cent a pound, soap a cent a pound, milk approximately five cents a quart and flour at a reduced price. Rents are expected to be lowered correspondingly later. The public markets are being enlarged in anticipation of increased sales.

The high cost of living in Argentina was attacked after it was charged that the country's products could be bought better abroad than here. The agitators for lower prices protested against an increase in the cost of necessities as the peso dropped about one-fourth in foreign exchange value and federal salaries were cut.

Previously it had been noted that the price of bread in Argentina was slow to follow the fall of world wheat prices. The bakers voluntarily reduced their charges but the protest continued that the reductions were ineffective. Then the city took a hand and announced that bread would be sold in the municipal markets on a scale below the commercial prices. Little was said then about the source of this bread but it is known that the national penitentiary operates a large bakery.

FAMILY OF FIVE IN BRITAIN CAN EXIST ON $9.22 A WEEK

Workmen Fight Plan to Cut Wages to $9.12.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The British workingman's family goes hungry with less than $9.22 weekly to buy food and shelter. This sum provides just the bare necessities, J. Marchbank of the national union of railwaymen declared before the government board investigating counter claims of pay cuts and increases by owners and men.

His figures were submitted in opposition to claims by the line that a minimum of $9.12 a week be established for the men. Mr. Marchbank declared his table made no allowance for anything but the plainest food, and left out doctor bills, tobacco, and even the morning newspaper.

He looked into the workingman's pantry, computed what it cost to fill, based on figures of dieticians, itemized other living expenses and found the scale proposed by the roads just below the thin line separating a living wage and poverty. His figures furnish interesting comparison of wage scales here and those in America. His minimum weekly budget follows:

Food	$5.14
Rent	2.28
Gas or other lighting	.36
Clothes	.48
Shoes	.36
Matches and firewood	.12
Insurance and clubs	.48
Total	$9.22

By clubs under insurance Mr. Marchbank means loan clubs, Christmas clubs and the like. On this basis the average workingman must have a daily income of about $1.32 if he, his wife, and three children, the average generally accepted, are to eat.

"There is no provision for renewal of furniture," Mr. Marchbank said. "There is nothing for doctor's bills, no allowance is made for tobacco or a morning newspaper, and there are no luxuries whatever. I claim that the minimum rate of $9.12, which the companies are seeking to establish, is such that it would be impossible for any one to exist on it."

The board is expected to have its report ready within the next few days. Witnesses drawn from operators, railwaymen and users of the lines are being heard. Owners are pressing claims for wage reductions amounting annually to approximately $55,000,000, whereas the men want increases ranging from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 a year. The present minimum scale is $9.72 a week.

OLD GOLD SPILLS THE BEANS IN BOSTON

Upsets rival brands with Sweeping Victory . . . in Ripley's latest Taste-Test

They held another "tea-party" at Boston the other day. "Down with the tyranny of habit!" was the cry. "Let's find out which cigarette really tastes the best."

From Back-Bay to the Fishing Docks, it was another Boston rebellion. Throwing brand prejudice overboard . . . more than a thousand Boston smokers compared the four leading cigarettes, with the brand names hidden.

They didn't know which was which. They didn't care. All they wanted was to pick out the best tasting cigarette.

At Lexington . . . modern Minute Men needed hardly a minute to give O. G. a 2 to 1 victory. At Bunker Hill, OLD GOLD'S cool, throat-easy quality completely routed the enemy . . . while all along the trail of Paul Revere, habit-embattled smokers cast aside their old brands and joined in the majority verdict.

"No taxation without representation" . . . said the Boston of long ago. "No throat-tax . . . and unlimited smoking joy," says the Boston of today. I guess that's why Boston prefers O. G.

PROPOSES TO AID CHINA BY USE OF WAR PAYMENTS

SHANGHAI, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A plan intended to alleviate the world-wide depression in America and Europe and to ease China's acute economic situation by use of German reparation payments is under consideration within official Chinese circles. Paul Monroe, New York, educator, author, economist, and author of the American plan of returning Boxer indemnity funds to further Chinese education, has approached Washington with his plan. Monroe said Nanking Nationalist officials were favorable to it.

Briefly, Monroe suggests that by international action Germany be enabled to make reparation payments both in money and goods to furnish China the credit and machinery for badly needed domestic economic development. Such German advances simultaneously would be credited by France and England as reparation payments to them, while the United States would credit France and England with like amounts as payments on the latters' war debts due America. The United States in turn would accept China's obligations secured on improvements in China made possible by German advances.

LOST ON LAKE ISLAND MONTH, RETURNS HOME

Grand Marias, Minn., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Iver Anderson, 53, a fisherman, returned to his home here today after having been lost on Isle Royale in Lake Superior for almost a month.

Confused when a blizzard covered his trail while locating a trap line on the island, Anderson said he wandered in the forest for days, emerging on the west end of the island. Following the coast line he came to Washington harbor, where he saw the Rock of Ages lighthouse. He set out in a rowboat he found, but high seas swept him to a desolate spot on the Canadian shore.

With abatement of the wind he set out for Grand Marias, hugging the shore line. After days of rowing he landed at the mouth of Reservation river and was fed and given first aid by fishermen, who returned him to his home.

THE LONG LOOP

BY B. M. BOWER

SYNOPSIS.

Dixie Larrabee, head of Whistling Creek ranch, was swindled in an oil well frame-up by Owen Gray, neighboring rancher and banker. Everything he owned, except the home ranch, was mortgaged. Dix, an orphan, keeps from his grandmother and his young brother, Chuck, the true state of affairs. Gram has her heart set on seeing Chuck a doctor. Chuck has expensive tastes and his indulgent older brother has a hard task paying for his college tuition and material demands.

Mart McGuire tempts Dix with the idea of changing the brand of the cattle from Gray's O T ranch to a coffeepot, symbol of Dix's own.

Tom, an Indian helper, discovers a lost valley with a geyser on the Coffeepot ranch. Only one passage leads to it, through what is seemingly a blank cliff wall. It is an ideal hideout for cattle.

With vague misgivings Dix begins rustling from Gray's herd, hiding the stolen cattle in Lost valley. A blizzard obliterates all traces of the crime. After a second long Dix was ready to call quits, but Mart and Tom continued night riding on their own. Dix's profits mounted steadily after every shipping.

Chuck and a flyer friend, named Frosty, arrive at the ranch.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

A CONFESSION.

All through dinner Dix watched, and knew that he was being watched in return. Glad as he was to see Chuck once more, the chatter and confusion of that dinner set his nerves on edge. There was something back of Chuck's coming home before school ended for the summer; something more than a whiff of Wyoming air that this lean, long, keen eyed young aviator was after. An undercurrent of tenseness, of mental strain, lay under that hilarious talk and what Chuck called wisecracking.

Gram didn't see it. Gram was twittering over Chuck like a Jenny Wren over her nest of young ones. Telling him her symptoms—when she could get a word in edgeways—and plainly expecting Chuck with his new wisdom to ease all her aches and pains and give her back the strength she used to have. Dix noticed that Chuck always eased away from that subject. He had a funny story to tell about the trip; a good one on Frosty, usually it turned out to be. He had to tell Frosty certain of his childhood adventures on the ranch. He hadn't a minute, it would seem, to go into the physical condition of his old grandmother. Dix thought perhaps Chuck was following a professional rule which Gram kept trying to break; a rule of keeping symptoms for office hours.

But all that was no reason why Chuck and Frosty should send those keen, covert glances toward Mart and Tom and Dix—Dix most of all. That was no reason why Chuck should skim so lightly over his college work, why he should have so few funny stories to tell of the campus and the frat house. Before they reached the blanc mange with whipped cream and the two kinds of pie and a four story cocoanut cake which Minny and Gram had considered a simple menu for dessert, Dix had decided that Chuck for some reason was deliberately "laying off" Johns Hopkins. He wouldn't let himself wonder why. He waited for the time when he could drag the truth from Chuck. He'd have to get him off alone somewhere.

And there was another thing that bothered Dix. How long was Frosty going to stay? There was work to be done all through the spring and summer, darned ticklish work at that. He had to get a couple hundred head of cattle out of Lost valley and he had to do it by twos and threes, just dribbling them back onto the range so gradually and scattered over so wide a territory that they would not be noticed. It had to be done. And how were they going to do it with these two having the run of the place?

Gram had almost her fill of flattery and petting that day. Mart and old Tom eased away from the family and went off to duties of their own, but Dix stayed and listened and watched and waited. So at 4 o'clock when Chuck announced that he had promised Frosty a swim in Whistling spring and wanted to show him the ranch before supper, Dix got up from the ground where he had been sitting in the shade of the big cottonwood tree, brushed off his pants with two sweeps of his palms and said sure, he'd go along with them. If Frosty could ride there was an extra saddle.

"Sure, I can ride, if the horse is willing," Frosty told him grinning. "I wouldn't want any argument about it, though. You understand."

Halfway to the stable Chuck drew a long breath and turned to look over his shoulder at Dix, who walked at his heels.

"Why didn't you tell me how Gram's failing?" he demanded. "She—why, I wouldn't have known her in a crowd! I never saw such a change in a person. Maybe you didn't notice it so much, being right with her—how old is she, Dix?"

"Eighty-one her next birthday. I thought she was holding up pretty well for a woman of her age."

"Yeah—maybe. But her age is old, do you realize it?"

"Well, you're a doctor—or you oughta to be by this time. You can do something about it. I sure can't."

Chuck had no answer for that, but presently was pointing out old landmarks to Frosty. Dix had the horses saddled and had smoked two cigarets, squatted on his bootheels in the shade of the stable, before Chuck finally flung out both hands palm upward in a plain gesture of dismissal or surrender, and the two came over to where Dix was waiting.

"Well, we got into an argument as usual," Chuck half apologized, a short laugh punctuating the statement. "Frosty won't swallow that whistling spring story. He's got to see where the whistle comes from before he'll believe it, he says."

"He'll have to look deep to see the whistle," Dix said laconically. He knew that they had not been talking about the spring; they had been talking about him. But why? They couldn't possibly know or suspect. Then he gave his head a slight shake as he put that thought from him. He'd have to look out, or he'd be getting jumpy about it. They didn't suspect—how could they? But the bare thought held him silent all the way up the pasture. When he got Chuck alone he meant to have the truth out of him; but he'd have to watch his chance.

"Now here's the spring," Chuck announced at last when they pulled rein beside the pool and the horses immediately bent knees to sip at the water, pretending to be thirsty. "If you stick around a while you'll get the whistle. How long is it, Dix, between times?"

"Four or five minutes, just about. I never timed it. Well, what's on your minds, you two?" he challenged in a tone Chuck at least should well remember.

Again their eyes met and Chuck's shoulders lifted in eloquent defeat.

"Might as well spill it now as any time," he said. "I did want to hold off a while——"

"Hold what off?" Dix backed to a flat topped rock and sat down upon it, crossing his legs as he reached for tobacco and papers. "Might as well come clean, Chuck. What did they fire you out of college for?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, they didn't exactly—or—you see, Dix, here's the lowdown——"

Frosty moved up and squatted on one heel beside Dix, one hand going out automatically for the tobacco sack dangling by its drawstring from Dix's white teeth. "He hates to take the jump—afraid he might forget to pull the string or something. Larry's been with me for the last ten months. He never was cut out for a doctor. He's air minded, that boy. He never went back to Johns Hopkins last fall—he's been in training with me; learning to fly, what I mean. Larry only needs a few more hours in the air and he's ready for a pilot's license. Uh course——" Frosty interrupted himself to lick his cigaret into shape.

"You've gone that far, what you stalling for?" Chuck demanded nervously. "I'm going to tell him."

"Go ahead," muttered Frosty, long fingers cupped around his match flame, cigaret waggling between his lips.

"Well, we want to enter the safe performance competition, Dix. They've hung up a prize of a hundred thousand dollars first, and on down—ten thousand and so on—for the plane that tests out as the safest, fastest, slowest—well, the plane that can beat the world on safe performance——"

"Straighten out, boy!" Frosty had his cigaret going by now. "The idea is this—can I call you Dix? I've got some original ideas I want to build into a test plane, and we came here to build it. A competition like this, you see—with a fortune to the winner and the prestige that goes with it, and any contestant has got to keep strictly under cover till he's ready to compete. You see that, of course.

"Well, Larry told me about this ranch; how it's walled in with mountains, only one approach to watch, eighteen miles from town, and so on—it looked to us both like the ideal place to build and test our plane. We won't have to dodge observation, like in a thickly settled country. Plenty of open prairie for forced landings, if we should have to make any. Looks ideal to me, any way you take it. Seems as though we should be able to build our plane and make altitude and landing tests and not a soul the wiser, outside of this ranch.

Good Morning!

Again the question is raised, "Should a woman tell?" And the answer seems to be that, men being as they are, she'd be smarter if she didn't.

"Once a Sinner" is an entertaining little opus, well done, but never getting away to the unusual. Dorothy Mackaill is seen as one Diana, who gives up a luxurious past, in which she has been maintained by a really charming chap, who wants to marry her, for life in the country with the young inventor she loves. WHY? Don't ask me! He's one of those long haired, intensely noble yahoos that the average frail mortal would like to see fall and break a leg.

Diana tells this Tommy person everything—save the name of the man with whom she has lived, and Tommy says high mindedly that that's ALL RIGHT! The past is past and the future is theirs, and he doesn't want to hear who was the man.

Lovely! Sweet! ONLY, you see, the great, big, noble man later changes his mind and acts up like a male hell cat. With results that the picture will show you. You never cease regretting Diana's bad taste as a picker.

Miss Mackaill gives a sincere performance and wears some good looking clothes. John Halliday, as the man she leaves for true love in the suburbs, is a real and likable chap. Joel McCrea, as the husband, I've told you about. His hair is long and you don't like him. Minor players give laudable characterizations, according special mention to Ilka Chase.

The film is nicely produced and most of the dialogue gets over in good shape.

Georgeous scenery in this one! Photographed in Jasper park, dominion of Canada. It has some pretty music, too.

The story is a drama concerned generally with the northwest mounted police and especially with one of their number, a British war ace, who joins them under an assumed name, for reasons that you'll never learn from me.

The film packs considerable suspense and good acting. J. Harold Murray, who, as you know, sings delightfully and can also act, plays the hero pleasingly and Lois Moran is a charming vis-à-vis. George Brent as the villain is the worm he's meant to be—could a worm BE a villain?—while J. M. Kerrigan and Erwin Connelly contribute a fair number of laughs. All other rôles are satisfactorily taken care of. However—It's the scenery of "Under Suspicion" that gets you—AND HOW!

See you tomorrow.

Former Chicago Preacher Will Go to Butler, Mo.

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The Rev. B. A. Wickizer, for many years pastor of the Ravenswood Christian church, Chicago, but recently pastor of churches in the Ozarks area, has accepted a call to the Christian church at Butler, Mo.

"DRIVING 200 MILES AN HOUR SEEMS TO BE ETERNITY OF WAITING"

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Fifteen seconds may be only a fleeting period of time to some people but to a man driving an automobile 200 miles an hour or more it seems like an age.

Take it from Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England, who is here waiting favorable beach conditions to attack the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour.

If Campbell can cover a mile twice in the average time of 15 seconds for each run he will set a new world's record of 240 miles an hour—four miles a minute. But to him, he says, those few seconds will seem "eternity."

The 46 year old driver, who has had more experience at super speed racing than any other man in the world, today described some of the sensations he encounters while traveling at such breath taking paces.

"How does it feel to drive a car more than 200 miles an hour?" he asked and, answering the question himself, said:

"Like waiting an interminable time for something dreadful to happen and expecting all that time that it will. The 15 seconds or so that it takes to make a record run of one mile seems like an age—an eternity.

"From each flag to the next that are set out a hundred yards or so apart to mark the outside of the course on the local beach—although you are conscious of going terribly fast—somehow it seems an appalling distance—an ordeal that never ends."

Jerusalem Suburb Yields New Data on Early Jewish Customs

JERUSALEM, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic agency says that discoveries which may prove to be the key to much unwritten history of the pre-documentary period have been uncovered at Ramatrachel, the new name given the elevation near Talpiot, a suburb of Jerusalem.

The excavations which are under the direction of the Jewish Archaeological society, besides yielding sarcophagi and ossuaries pointing to the existence of an ancient Jewish cemetecy and therefore an early Jewish settlement between Jerusalem and Bethlehem, have brought to light ancient pitchers, oil lamps and bronze figures.

The elevation is strewn with mosaic prehistoric flints and caves with niches, one probably Hellenic.

Give Dinner Tonight.

The Hyde Park Postprandial will give a dinner this evening at the Windermere East hotel.

True Teeth and False Ones Get Their Due Today

Dentists to Consider Both Merits, Demerits.

The American tooth, its aches and ailments, will be subjected to a critical analysis by some 10,000 dentists today at the opening of the 67th annual convention of the Chicago Dental society in the Stevens hotel. The convention will last four days.

More than 100 speakers will read papers during the convention on every phase of the dental problem. How to prevent toothache, the cause and treatment of trench mouth and pyorrhea, diet in relation to teeth, the need of municipal health programs, the relationship between dental and general bodily disorders, all will be discussed.

A plea for more substantial endowments for dental research was made last night by Dr. Homer C. Brown of Philadelphia at a preliminary meeting of the International Association for Dental Research, meeting in conjunction with the convention. He stated that $917,000,000 is available from 108 different sources for general health and welfare activities. Of these 108 sources, he said, 34 have an aggregate of $502,000,000 available.

The Rockefeller Foundation is endowed for $150,000,000, Dr. Brown said. Others he cited were the Carnegie Foundation, $135,000,000; the Commonwealth and Duke Foundations, $40,000,000 each; the Rosenwald fund, $34,000,000; the Carnegie institution, $33,000,000; the Elks National Foundation, $20,000,000, and the Milbank and Senator Couzens children's funds, $10,000,000.

With such money available for general health, Dr. Brown asserted, there should be sufficient financial assistance to dental research which medical men realize is important, he said, in discovery and treatment of bodily ailments.

One of the chief features of the convention will be an exhibit of false teeth. In this exhibit, wipla, a new chromium alloy recently developed by a German concern, will be shown as a base for false teeth.

This alloy is lighter in weight and stronger than gold or platinum and may replace those metals almost wholly in the future, according to predictions. Wipla does not tarnish or absorb odors, thereby increasing the sanitary qualities of store teeth.

Tomorrow evening, President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin will deliver an address on "A Guess at the American Future." With him at the speakers' table will be President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, and the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, president of Loyola university.

Sally Getting More Pleas for Work, Food and Clothing

Passing weeks continue to bring to the desk of Sally Joy Brown appeals for help in finding positions. The jobless, knowing of the work Sally has been doing in locating positions and reporting them to the Illinois Free Employment Service, at 116 North Dearborn street, beseech her in every mail for this or that type of work. But until she hears from the public at large about definite jobs and opportunities for these workless ones Sally cannot extend the help they seek.

"Won't you please aid me in getting a position?" writes Fred F——, "I am a plasterer, a world war veteran, nearly 40. I haven't had anything steady since a year ago last October. Am a general handy man, do cleaning, have also been night watchman, and can mend and carve. My wife is ill and we owe so much to the people we are living with, also doctor bills. Will gladly do anything."

"I am a young married man with two dependents," another correspondent says. "I can do electrical assembly or any kind of bench assembly work, and also have some experience in office work, such as operating addressing machines, filing, order recording, timekeeping, and stencil cutting for addressing machines. If it's not asking too much of a favor, may I make a request also for a suit, size 40, and a pair of shoes, 8½, as I am badly in need of same? I pray that you may be able to aid me, as I have been out of work for some time and really need help."

Still another jobseeker, a young girl, sends this note:

"Dear Miss Brown: May I ask you to help me to get a position? I am out of work four months today. I am a switchboard operator and telephone solicitor, inspector of garments in a cleaning and dyeing establishment, and can do all kinds of office work. I can furnish good references."

"Have been waiting patiently to hear from you," Charles J. H—— informs Sally. "You promised to see if you could get me a suit, size 54, so that I can try and get work. Somebody may have what I need. We are going deeper and deeper in the hole all the time. There is due now $93 to our landlord for rent. We owe the grocer $30 and are behind in insurance, etc. I must do something or we will be in the street. Please see what you can do about getting me the necessary clothing so I can try and get work."

Any one who can provide assistance for these or other cases on Sally's lists may be certain of providing a great deal of cheer for some family if they will relay their information to Sally Joy Brown at Superior 0100.

THE STAGE

"SOUR GRAPES."

A comedy by Vincent Lawrence; given at the Adelphi theater Feb. 1, 1931, with Eugene O'Brien and Edna Hibbard as stars, under the management of George M. Gatts.

THE CAST.

Milburn.....Franklyn Fox
Phillips.....Bennett R. Finn
Alice Overton.....Edna Hibbard
Overton.....Eugene O'Brien
Margy.....Ivy Merton

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

WHEN a dramatist undertakes to write a comedy with only four characters in its cast he should have something impressive to say. "Sour Grapes," which had a première at the Adelphi theater last night, has that many characters (plus an inconspicuous butler), but practically nothing to say.

This play is a piece of light cynicism dealing with a couple of swell Americans on the verge of an uninteresting divorce, and it is thin to the point of emaciation. It flutters feebly through a few attitudes of pseudo-worldliness; it twitters and chirps about love and passion, and once in a while it tries to galvanize itself into virile reality by uttering a big, bold, brazen G. D.

"Sour Grapes" offers us Edna Hibbard, the pert, quaint little comedienne who deserves a hero's medal for keeping the drama alive in Chicago last summer, and Eugene O'Brien, returned to the stage after a career in the films to flutter the hearts of the matinée girls with his graceful nonchalance. They form an attractive pair as the Mr. and Mrs. of this formula in casual matrimony, and they cause one to regret that the characters they represent are so hollow and the story they tell so vapid.

Miss Hibbard is a "lady" in "Sour Grapes," and therefore not placed in the center of her métier. She is at her best as a hard boiled, rough tongued little rascal, and although the heroine of "Sour Grapes" is fairly calloused when it comes to considering a quick change of husbands, she is far from being another sister of the chorus. Still, the Hibbard edge of ironic comedy makes itself felt.

Mr. O'Brien plays the sophisticated husband with an air and an accent that recall the good old days of William Faversham. He is so tolerant and genial when his wife tells him that she loves the other fellow; he represses his emotions [if any] so handsomely, and says "What?" in answer to amazing revelations so calmly that he compels admiration. One feels that here is the perfect type of American gentleman—a jolly sportsman who belongs to all the best clubs in London. I am certain that the "two for one" ticket holders are going to say Mr. O'Brien is just grand.

"Sour Grapes" is written in a vein of dialogue which seems to be "ad libbed"—that is to say, the play sounds as if it were being invented as the players go along. And not successfully improvised, at that. This is a style affected by Vincent Lawrence, the author, and except for "Two Fellows and a Girl," some ten years back, it hasn't got him very far in the playwriting profession. Broken sentences and elisions are a vice with Mr. Lawrence. I suspect that there are more dashes than words in this manuscript.

The show "opened cold" last night—it was given without preliminary performances. It will have a quicker tempo tonight and will march with more assurance. Last night's acting, however, was not responsible for the sinking feeling that "Sour Grapes" communicated. That can be blamed on the authorship.

Swedish Prince Yearning for Life on Farm

Non-Royal Sweetheart Is Former School Friend.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 1.—(AP)—All Sweden is thrilled today at the royal romance of a 21 year old prince and a 20 year old daughter of a commoner which has drawn the frown of the youth's grandfather, King Gustave.

A family council was held at the palace today to consider the engagement just announced of young Prince Lennart and Miss Karin Nissvandt, the daughter of a wealthy Stockholm industrialist who is not of royal or even noble blood.

And while the royal grandfather sought to stop the marriage of the two, who were childhood sweethearts, the whole country, from prince to peasant, awaited the outcome of a romance which is following the traditionally rough road of true love.

Should the marriage take place, young Lennart, who has always wanted to be a farmer, would be shorne of his title of royal highness and the right to succession to the throne.

Prince William, Lennart's father and second son of the king, today returned hastily from a vacation on the Riviera on summons of the king. Today he and the king held a long discussion of the situation but made no announcement.

Lennart and the young daughter of the prosperous business man first met ten years ago. At that time the girl's older halfsister had married Birger Moerner, Swedish author, who lived near Prince William's country estate.

The two children became close frends. They attended school in Stockholm and were together so much that their friends spoke of them as "the pair."

Perhaps their common loneliness brought them closer together, for each had lost a mother through divorce—Lennart's mother, the former Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, leaving the country after her marriage to Prince William was dissolved in 1914. She now is in New York, and the girl's mother being replaced by a stepmother.

Their sudden announcement that they intended to marry caused the aristocracy at the court to raise its hands in horror and a tempest in a teapot broke about the heads of the young lovers. While no official action was forthcoming from the palace, news was circulated in sources close to the court that King Gustave had forbidden the love match.

Some are convinced that the action of the king, who is noted for his kind heartedness, was merely aimed at changing the harsh old law. It was thought possible that the old monarch saw a chance of making use of the present public feeling to bring about legislation which would permit princes marrying commoners without jeopardizing their royal rights.

Sets 5 Year Probation?

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Young Prince Lennart's roman will come out all right, says a Daily Mail dispatch from Stockholm, if he will wait a bit.

The paper quotes King Gustave, grandfather of the youth who seeks to marry the daughter of a Swedish industrialist, as saying:

"If, after five years, Prince Lennart insists on marrying Miss Karin Nissvandt he has my consent."

The mail also stated that Prince William, father of Lennart, referred to Miss Nisavandt as a "charming, good hearted girl" as he arrived for a family council.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Vilma Banky Here, So's Rod La Rocque, for Stage Engagement

Vilma Banky, petite and blonde, and her movie star husband, Rod La Rocque, tall and dark, yesterday took over possession of the bungalow atop the roof of the Hotel Sherman on their arrival here from Detroit. They are co-starred in the stage comedy, "Cherries Are Ripe," opening tonight at the Erlanger theater, the first legitimate stage venture of the feminine half of the duo since her arrival in this country a few years ago from Hungary to play opposite the late Rudolph Valentine.

La Rocque, who has been either on the stage or in pictures since his childhood, is no stranger to the footlights in Chicago. He and his wife, who was extremely smart in a black and white spring ensemble over which she wore a luxurious mink wrap, solicitously inquired of newspapermen who greeted them what had become of winter weather in Chicago. Their first expedition after settling in their temporary quarters was to look in at the championship cat show held in the same hotel.

Grant Withers, who was stricken with appendicitis while appearing at a loop film palace, yesterday left the Passavant hospital, where Dr. Arnold Kegel had performed an emergency operation several days ago. He went to a local hotel to recuperate.

Society Hears Gigli Concert, Fund to Charity

BY THALIA

SUNDAYS—especially late winter ones—are particularly nice, socially speaking. There usually is a breakfast or luncheon or tea, and in the afternoon a wide selection of concerts and recitals to choose from. Evenings, there is a diversity of things—hockey games sometimes, sometimes a party like the Arts club's Segovia supper musical last night, theater openings, and buffet suppers.

Pretty nearly everybody in town seemed to be at the Olivet institute concert by Gigli at the Opera house yesterday afternoon. The house was well filled away up to the rafters, and the audience was tremendously enthusiastic. It was apparent, too, that most of the people who had bought tickets were using them themselves, and this, if you must know, is quite an unusual state of affairs. There are lots of philanthropic souls who will buy tickets for benefits, but they won't always attend them. Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman and the Edward Shedmways were down front in the first row, and others sitting well towards the stage included the Carter Harrisons, the Walter S. Brewsters and the John Alden Carpenters [they had to leave early because the program was so long and they were entertaining at supper]. Present also were Harold F. McCormick, Samuel Insull, the Ernest R. Grahams, the George H. Langhornes, and—O, my, the list is far too long to even begin. The boxes were filled and fashionable as well as the main floor, and altogether it seemed to be a great success. The proceeds were about $10,000.

Generous Hostess Meets the Ultraliberal Guest.

Have you heard—the tale going 'round about the hospitable matron who invited a visiting "arteest" to be her house guest, and discovered when the lion—he was a good big one, too—arrived that he had understood the invitation to include his party of FOURTEEN [P. S. The family moved out]—that more than 900 reservations have been made at the Union League for La Argentina's performance there tonight—and that Phillip L. Reads and Phil Jr. are enjoying the springlike weather at French Lick—

The lovely needlework which Miss Elsie McCormick brought back from Europe last fall will be exhibited to the members of the Needlework guild at a tea this afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, at 2450 Lake View avenue.

Miss McCormick had planned to return to Europe immediately after the holidays, but lengthened her stay because she found so many things to occupy her here. She will be leaving again shortly, and after a visit with her sisters in New York, will sail for France.

Next fall she'll be back in Chicago earlier than usual to be on hand for the debuts of three of her young relatives, Miss Helen McCormick, daughter of the Robert Hall McCormicks, Miss Janet Ayer, the Walter Ayers' daughter, and Miss Margaret Chapman, daughter of the John Adam Chapmans, are all scheduled to make their bow next season and Miss McCormick intends to entertain for them.

Drama Leaguers Tea Today; Many Guests of Honor.

The Drama leaguers will be busy this afternoon at their lecture tea at the Blackstone hotel, because they're having such a raft of guests of honor. Isabel Jeans and Leslie Banks and the rest of the cast of "The Man of Possession"; the cast of the Junior league's "Pinocchio"; and Mr. Hatcher Hughes, who is to give the speech of the afternoon, "Hell Bent for Broadway," will all have to be properly looked after with tea and sandwiches and conversation. The Junior league girls will be in costume, so they'll be easy to spot anyway. Mrs. William E. Wright is in charge of the tea arrangements, and Mrs. Godfrey Haggard, Mrs. Sam Rinaker, Mrs. Joseph Schreiner, and Miss Clara Landon will preside at the tea tables.

The Junior Friends of Art's February meeting tomorrow afternoon at the Drake has, according to the enthusiastic announcements sent to the membership, an "unusual attraction, a Miss La Vonne Field, "a singer who paints as she sings—an artist who sings as she paints—around the world "on wings of song." Mr. Figita is to be guest of honor. The various groups are getting along fine, and the dramatics group is to have an open meeting this morning in room M-17 of the Drake. [Patty Eastman, Berg Crane, and Kay Healy are in the cast, and Alice Bremner has directed the play]. The French group is to have a tea on Thursday at Mme. Vanly's studio in the Lyon & Healy building.

The several hundred people at the Arts club party were so enthralled with Mr. Segovia and his guitar that you could hear a pin drop in the galleries while he was playing. The late comers tiptoed in, and the flu victims fled the premises when they felt coughs imminent. There was a buffet supper in the lounge before the musical, and everybody had wedged into a place before the program began. Mr. Segovia had been to supper with the John Alden Carpenters, whose other guests included Mr. Foujita, Frederic Bartlett, the John Storrs, Miss Alice Roullier, and the Walter Brewsters. The Hubert Burnhams had had a supper party for Lady Chamberlin beforehand, and they arrived with their entire party.

Keep Brains as Well as Body Youthful, Antoinette Advises

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"It's the mental mileage that counts!"

The above line is an extract from an article on travel—rather, on foreign travel, the foreign writer advising more emphasis on mental mileage covered than on physical mileage.

Apropos a remark on a certain fading beauty, one of the saddest of beauty sights, I stole the line to bring home the point that a face has to use up mental mileage as well as cold cream and rouge.

"She'll go on fading quickly," was the remark made about the already fading beauty," because she hasn't exercised her brain since she was proclaimed a beauty." And, of course, some catty one present asked if there were any records to prove she had used it before.

Now, in beauty talks women want to hear about magic lotions more than they want to hear about mind lotions; that is, many women do. Yet it is pretty hard business dissociating the two when a woman gets over the border line where physical youth has lost its lines and a full sized maturity is taken on. That's when mental image counts. Maybe it isn't so necessary when one is young and delightfully silly, charming, and gay. But you can't keep on selling those girlish wares when the wrapping is worn thin on the edges, as time and life must surely wear it down.

At a dinner, the other evening, there was present a woman who proudly announced a sixty-fifth birthday. Now, I'm not going to tell that she looked 35 because she didn't. But of the half dozen women present she was the youngest minded there. And the best listened to, also. She was amusing, gay, and grand fun. Certainly she was well groomed, well dressed. That kind of live mind of hers would demand a physical counterpart to keep up with it. Youth was the impression you got, held and carried away with you about this 65 year old wonder.

She's grandmother to four or five children, and holds an exacting position involving constant travel. And she runs not a house, but a hospitable home. She has covered her mental mileage and she'll never be a day older.

Bostrom, the Netherlands minister and Mme. van Royen, the Chinese minister and Mme. Wu, Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Kellogg of California, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, formerly of Chicago, and Miss Mabel Boardman.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

S. W. G.: HAIR THAT IS THIN should be brushed morning and night. It is also well to massage the scalp with the fingertips. Rub until you produce a feeling of life, and a sense of warmth to the scalp. The object is to stimulate the roots of the hair and keep the scalp loose. A tonic for thin hair may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Junior and his brother were discussing their weight the other day.

"How much did you weigh?" asked Bobbie.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

Smart simplicity is shown in this dress for the college or school girl, and a rust red wool crêpe will make up well in this straight line type. It is also an ideal design for the business woman. A plaited inset of grouped plaits keeps the silhouette slim, yet gives ample fullness at the hem. Dark blue wool crêpe, monk brown flat crêpe silk or novelty rayon crêpe are smart material to use.

The pattern, 3417, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 2½ yards of binding.

RACHMANINOFF AND GIGLI ARE STARS OF SUNDAY'S PROGRAMS

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Sergei Rachmaninoff turned his attention yesterday to a program of the romanticists of the piano, and played it in the mood of saturnine kindliness which is his wont. In this list he was willing to include himself, at least to the extent of two compositions. Elsewhere there was a work by Schubert, Schumann's "Davidsbundler," two of the Chopin Scherzos, and a group by Liszt.

Superb craftsmanship as well as mental attitude put the Rachmaninoff recitals among the foremost events of the season. A brilliant virtuoso when he cares to be, most of his playing comes out as the product of an original brain applied to what other composers have set down in notes. His Chopin, for example, is exultant and full blooded and virile. The exotic, the anemic is not in the Rachmaninoff scheme of things. Incidentally, his Chopin is uncommonly good to hear.

A large audience filled the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon to hear Beniamino Gigli, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera house, give a song recital for the benefit of Olivet institute. He is an astonishing singer, able to turn from dramatic to lyric singing with expert ease, and in his most forceful as well as his finest spun tones unfailing in rich, charming beauty of tone. He is skilled as well in the art of constructing a program that will be liked by the public, passing from aria to Sicilian song, to Neapolitan song, to art song, and back to aria, greatly generous the while with encores. His first encore on yesterday's program was "M'Appari" from "Martha," sung with an emphasis ranging from italics to large capitals, and accepted with equally marked emphasis.

He was assisted by two young Chicago artists, Eulalie Kober, pianist, who played a Chopin Polonaise, and Josef Rosenstein, violinist, who played works by Ravel and Bazzini.

Meanwhile the Chicago Civic Choral society and the Waukegan Civic Choral society appeared in concert at the Studebaker, directed by Ambrose Wyrick, and assisted by some nine soloists. A feature of the program came at the end, the one-act opera, "Frithiof," by Mrs. Eleanor Everest Freer, sung in concert form. The chorus has been trained to sing easily and freely, not venturing, however, to make long journeys without piano accompaniment.

Those who went to the Civic theater to hear Frances Cowin in song recital were confronted by a placard at the door stating that the artist was ill and that the program would be deferred for six weeks.

Among the other events of the afternoon was a joint recital by Jacob Ellenhorn, tenor, and Ruth Ina Schley, reader, with several assistants at the Chicago Woman's club.

Some Other Events

BY HAZEL MOORE.

In the midst of the foreign dance invasion of Chicago, Ruth Page and Jacques Cartier joined forces at the Playhouse yesterday afternoon in a program mostly of new dances. The creation of new dances both for her personal use and in connection with her duties as ballet mistress of the Ravinia opera, as well as her ever ready participation in any new music showing [she is to dance next week in Strawinsky's "Story of the Soldier"], have made Miss Page a very vital part of the dance life of Chicago.

Her new dances yesterday combined as usual a nice discrimination for the music used and an intellectual fancy. The contrasted "Diana" costumed and danced daintily to the music of Mozart, and the "Diana" of Hindemith in the modern manner as to costume and dance were cleverly done in the "Evolution of a Goddess."

"Pre-Raphaelite," "Garçonette," and "Incantation" presented other facets of Miss Page's versatility, but I believe that her public were with me in considering her most perfect expression is the delightful Barnum and Bailey "Tight Rope Dance" and the "Flapper and the Quarter Back," the litter danced with Paul du Pont. The "Vecchio Minuetto" with Mr. Cartier was another familiar and much applauded number.

Jacques Cartier showed himself an artist with a marvelous imitative sense. His dances ranged wide, from a Vancouver Indian, an impression of a famed Japanese dancer, beautifully costumed, to a Mexican Beau Brummel, strutting his stuff. In each he conveyed a distinct sense of character and an authenticity of action. I liked him least in his "Dances of Color," though the audience differed from me, especially in the one called "Brown," which was a good jazz cakewalk. Why brown?

Letters for Parents Who Still Hold to the Silence System

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Suggestions for keeping the well baby well will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Many letters from various parts of the country state that they receive this newspaper daily but do not see or subscribe to the Sunday edition. For those readers I want to say that yesterday's [Sunday's] article was on a subject we have not discussed here for some months—that of sex education. The contents of the new revised edition of our sex education booklet were listed and a very few opinions on the wisdom of educating children in this direction quoted.

Of the many extracts that I have made from letters here are a few for those parents who still believe in the silence and ignorance [innocence] system:

"I have always talked to my children and feel the boys need it as much as the girls. When my oldest boy was five and began to ask me questions I always told him the truth. Now at 24 years he can come to me with everything. I have had some beautiful experiences with him."

"My little girl is only 6 years old, but I want to be prepared when she starts to ask me the questions that are a little confusing at times. I want to be able to explain them in the right way."

"I have a boy and a girl who are beginning to ask questions. Could you suggest a book for me to buy for them to read which would help them more as it is hard to explain all they want to know."

"I have two young girls and I would like to know what to tell them when the time comes for I did not know myself but had to learn from experience."

"I am a mother and realize that this information must be imparted to a young growing child with exceeding care. The proper phraseology of such information is something that has been puzzling me for a long time."

"I have always tried to tell my daughter everything regarding this subject that I could but think perhaps I may get a few more pointers from this booklet."

A FRIEND IN NEED

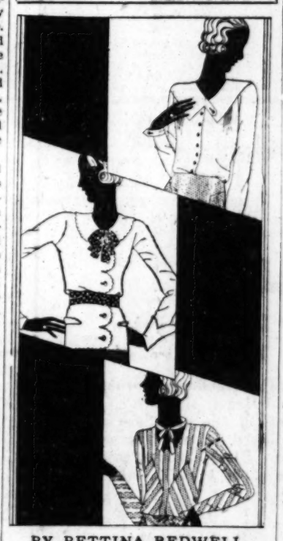
BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Victims of Misfortune.

"I wonder if your readers would help a poor family I am interested in, who live in Kentucky. They have had one streak of bad luck after the other—drought which ruined their crops, illness from which the father and one of the boys never recovered, and, finally, the burning of their home, from which they were able to save neither furniture nor clothing. There are five boys in the family, the eldest 15, and they are all in need of wearing apparel. Any bedding you may be able to secure would be greatly appreciated also. M. C."

Their share of ill fortune seems to be almost greater than one group of people can possibly bear. Can you give relief to them in the form of clothing for the boys, or bedding?

Blouses Are Equally Chic Tucked In or Out



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Blouses occupy an important place in the new Paris styles, what with smart women wearing suits for all times of the day—only excepting formal evening. Different blouses can freshen up a plain suit and vary its effect ad lib.

Outside blouses and inside blouses dispute the tailored mode. Both have their partisans among the Paris couturiers, so you can choose whichever is most becoming to your style and figure.

Sketched here are three new blouses to wear with strictly tailored suits. You will notice that they are all perfectly washable so that you can keep them looking immaculately crisp.

Louiseboulanger makes the one at the top of the page of fine white linen. Its collar shaped yoke and buttoned tab closing, recalled by the pointed buttoned cuffs, give it a simple smartness. Groups of hand run tucks below the yoke soften the front. It buttons straight down the front with pearl buttons.

The tunic blouse in the middle is from Lyolène. It's in white piqué. Hand embroidered scallops edge its turn down collar, its flaring cuffs, the standing flaps on its hip pockets and the larger scallops down the front, as well as its hem. It's worn with an artistic bow tie and a draped workman's sash of navy blue foulard dotted with white.

The third blouse is from Cheruit, who makes it of tub silk striped in vivid green and canary yellow—a springlike combination. The stripes are used to form the only decoration, being cut on the bias for the lower sleeves and encrusted in points on the front of the blouse. The décolleté and the tiny band collar and tie are smart and unusual.

Food Talk.

"Mother's cooking has a powerful influence in determining our food standards. I have never seen a man or woman yet who didn't like some of his food at least cooked after the maternal fashion. And this is neither silliness nor sentimentality. It is the physical and mental effect of a wholesome habit. And cooks who wish to give pleasure should bear this in mind. My sympathy is with a man whose wife refuses to cook anything as his mother did. Housewives naturally cook like their mothers and they do so because it tastes best to them that way."

Just these last few weeks we have had a number of requests for cooking cranberries and, in many instances, the housewife has related her difficulty in getting a cranberry sauce or jelly as good as her mother used to make.

To make a mild flavored, ruby red sauce add 1 cup of water to 1 pint of berries and cook in a covered pan only until soft. This requires about 10 minutes over a medium flame. But do not be guided by the time entirely. Lift the lid occasionally to see if the berries are getting soft. When soft add sugar and heat just long enough to dissolve the sugar, stirring to hasten the dissolving. This should require only 3 or 4 minutes.

Cool berries and turn into the serving dishes. If a stiff jelly made of a cranberry purée is desired, cook 1 pint cranberries and 1 cup water until soft as described above. Put through a potato ricer or rub through a coarse sieve. There should be about 1 cup pulp. Put purée into saucepan in which berries were first cooked. Heat to the boiling point, then add sugar and continue heating until sugar is thoroughly dissolved.

While hot turn into molds and allow to cool and stiffen. To make a stiff sauce add ¾ cup water to 1 pint cranberries. Cook in the usual way until soft. Add ½ cup sugar and heat, stirring until sugar is just dissolved. Cool and turn into the serving dish.

Cranberry sauce is better after standing several hours to allow berries to absorb some of the sirup.

KIDNEY BEAN SOUP.

1 cup kidney beans
1 cup cold water
1 onion
2 tablespoons butter
6 cups water
1 cup potatoes
2 cups water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Soak the beans overnight in cold water; drain. Mince onion and cook in butter until onion begins to brown. Add beans, water and the 6 additional cups of water. Cook until the beans are tender, about 2 1-3 hours. Boil 1 cup of potatoes in water to which ½ teaspoonful of salt has been added. Press the beans through a sieve. Add potatoes and water in which they were boiled to the pulp. Season with salt and pepper. Heat to boiling point and serve immediately.

Yield: 4½ cups or 4 servings. One serving: Total, 265 calories; protein, 49 calories; fat, 63 calories; carbohydrates, 153 calories.

FRUIT BOWL.

1 orange
1 pear
1 apple

Have fruit cold. Peel grapefruit and orange carefully, being sure that all white membrane is removed. Separate into sections. Peel pear and apple, remove cores and cut into pieces of a shape similar to grapefruit and orange sections. Alternate fruit on serving dish and serve before pear or apple discolors. Some may prefer a little sugar with this bowl, but it is delicious without once one has learned to appreciate the flavor of all these fruits without sugar.

Yield: 4 servings. One serving: Total, 107 calories; protein, 6 calories; fat, 4 calories; carbohydrates, 97 calories.

Married 17 Years, Wife Says Husband Now Loves Another

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been married about seventeen years and have three darling children, a daughter and two sons. Until two years ago my home was one of the happiest and my husband the best of men. He was a loving father and a devoted husband.

"Now we hardly ever see him any more. Of course, it's the same old story—another woman. He says he's not happy at home and that we don't interest him any longer. What do you think I ought to do? Should we separate or should I let him go on that way? HEARTBROKEN."

I call that a tough break! And I don't care whether the woman has fallen down on her job as sweetheart, or even as an interesting woman. If there's anything harder to take than another woman, whether you're guilty of neglect or not, it hasn't been discovered yet by the feminine sex. Just the other day I read about a woman who had hired a couple of gangsters to do away with her husband. For nearly twenty years she had stood for his beatings and maulings. She even exhibited in court, so the story read, a nose with the end chipped off, a token of her husband's esteem.

But it wasn't till she heard about another woman that she took action to get rid of him permanently. And that, in greater or less degree, is woman's reaction to the other woman's entrance upon the domestic scene. Certainly it doesn't bestir murderous thoughts, except in rare instances, but it does stir the bitterest and the unhappiest emotions. It's a hard dose to have to swallow, no matter how generous the deserted one may appear, on the surface.

But what the remedy is for the man who can be lured away—I don't know. With some men there isn't any. With others, if you give them enough rope they'll come back. But the hurt has been done to the youngsters and to the woman, their mother.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Amused Them All.

My husband unexpectedly brought a friend, a man of small stature, home to supper. I had picked up a bad habit of calling things "little animal." I was having baked potatoes for supper, and one, a little larger than the rest, was so slow in baking that I feared there would not be enough.

While setting the table in the dining room, I said "I wonder if that "little animal" out there is about ready for supper. My daughter giggled and glanced toward the kitchen. My glance followed hers, and there stood the little man washing his hands at the sink, grinning. Embarrassed explanations were in order. E. E. M.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Justified in Being Angry.

"Dear Miss Blake: I made an appointment with the boy I love and failed to keep it. He is angry with me and doesn't seem to care whether I explain or not.

MARION."

It's quite disheartening to be given a "stand up," Marion. No wonder he is indifferent. He will be until you offer the necessary explanation.

ABE ESPINOSA'S 281 WINS TEXAS OPEN GOLF MEET

Chicago Pro Takes $1,500 Prize.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A half dozen rival stars drew the gallery today but Abe Espinosa, swarthy little Chicago professional, won the tenth annual Texas open and $1,500 first money.

While an estimated throng of 5,000 swarmed after Harry Cooper, Denny Shute and Joe Turnesa, the new champion went quietly about his business of shooting two par shattering rounds of 69 to post a 72 hole total of 283 strokes, two lower than his closest competitors. Shute, Cooper, and Turnesa, not so quietly, ruined their chances with disastrous final rounds.

Cooper, Walsh Tie.

The best Cooper and Turnesa could do was to create a three way tie with Frank Walsh, Chicago professional for second place, and dividing $1,500 in prizes. Walsh came through with a fine 69 on his final round, while his comrades at 283 turned in poor 73's.

Turnesa, a former champion, had a heart breaking finish. Needing only pars on the last two holes to tie Espinosa, who had finished an hour earlier, the Elmsford star missed easy one foot putts on both.

Shute, the defending champion, went to pieces on the last nine. After having led the field for two rounds, the Columbus, O., sharpshooter started the final 18 in a triple tie with Cooper and Turnesa. He had a fine 35, one under par going out but lapsed on the way home and went four over to finish with 284 and tie Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn veteran, for third place.

Leads Nearly All Way.

Until he lost out at the very last, Shute had not been out of first place in 135 holes of play in the last two Texas opens. He led all the way to win last year with 277 strokes.

John Golden, winner of the Agua Caliente open, finished with a spar kling 68, low score for the day, to compile a total of 285 and capture fifth place. Bunched at 286 were Tom Lally, San Antonio; Charles Guest, Los Angeles, and Craig Wood of Deal, N. J. Wood finished with a strong 70 while Lally, only two strokes behind the leaders at the start of the last round, fizzled his chances with a 74.

Horton Smith, the New York sensation of two winters ago, tied with Francis Scheider, veteran Dallas pro at 287. Ralph Guldahl, young Dallas star who won the movie industries match play event last week at Los Angeles, lost control today and finished in a tie with Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur, at 290. Dawson led his closest amateur rival, Tod Menefee of San Antonio, by six strokes.

Gallery Overlooks Abe.

Six blows behind the leader, Shute when the field ted off for the final 36 holes today, Espinosa was almost entirely overlooked by the big gallery that overran the bunkers and fairways. Where the star threesomes had to wait for the crowd to be controlled before every shot, Espinosa had no distractions. Even after he came in with his 69 at noon and was only two strokes out of the lead, the fans failed to give hima tumble. Only a small ring of spectators saw him hole out a birdie two on the final green.

Espinosa, who had played in six previous Texas opens without finishing on top, had to overcome a poor 74 on his second round to win out. He put three 69's with it and capped his entire performance with birdies on the last three holes. His putting was steadly all the way.

Espinosa's money winning card:

Leads Nearly All Way.

Until he lost out at the very last, Shute had not been out of first place in 135 holes of play in the last two Texas opens. He led all the way to win last year with 277 strokes.

John Golden, winner of the Agua Caliente open, finished with a sparkling 68, low score for the day, to compile a total of 285 and capture fifth place. Bunched at 286 were Tom Lally, San Antonio; Charles Guest, Los Angeles, and Craig Wood of Deal, N. J. Wood finished with a strong 70 while Lally, only two strokes behind the leaders at the start of the last round, fizzled his chances with a 74.

Horton Smith, the New York sensation of two winters ago, tied with Francis Scheider, veteran Dallas pro, at 287. Ralph Guldahl, young Dallas star who won the movie industries match play event last week at Los Angeles, lost control today and finished in a tie with Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur, at 290. Dawson led his closest amateur rival, Tod Menefee of San Antonio, by six strokes.

Gallery Overlooks Abe.

Six blows behind the leader, Shute, when the field teed off for the final 36 holes today, Espinosa was almost entirely overlooked by the big gallery that overran the bunkers and fairways. Where the star threesomes had to wait for the crowd to be controlled before every shot, Espinosa had no distractions. Even after he came in with his 69 at noon and was only two strokes out of the lead, the fans failed to give hima tumble. Only a small group of spectators saw him hole out a little two on the final green.

Espinosa, who had played in six previous Texas opens without finishing on top, had to overcome a poor start in his second round to win out. He put three 69's with it and capped his entire performance with birdies on the last three holes. His putting was good all the way.

Espinosa's money winning card:

Now New York Backs Sharkey and Walker

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—Behind the statement issued the other day by James Farley, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, that "a world's heavyweight championship bout will be held here this summer involving Jack Sharkey and the most logical contender," is seen a decision to put as many crimps as possible in the proposed Max Schmeling-Willie Stribling fight which is to be staged elsewhere.

Just whom Farley had in mind when he spoke of "the most logical contender," opens a wide field for speculation. But when one takes the trouble to fine comb the list of contenders, near contenders, and would-be contenders the field narrows down to such logical candidates as Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, who was suspended here for not defending his title within the regulation period of six months, and Tuffy Griffith of Chicago, who recently gave Stribling a tough fight.

Forgiveness Around Corner.

No local promoter could deal with Walker in his present status. But since the refusal to defend his title doesn't constitute a heinous crime, even in the eyes of the New York commissioners, forgiveness and subsequent reinstatement, probably would be just around the corner for Walker if Jack Kearns, his manager, would walk that far to obtain it.

In view of the scarcity of worthy contenders for the middleweight title and Walker's avowed determination to confine his labors to the heavyweight ranks in future, Kearns probably has visualized the futility of hanging on to a title that isn't earning any dividends.

If Kearns took such a step, the reinstatement of Walker here would be only a matter of simple detail and the way for a fight with Sharkey would be cleared.

Sharkey Gets Proposition.

Sharkey's managers admit they have been juggling a proposition to fight in New York. They further admit that they have been asked to sign for Jack to fight Walker. They refuse to state who made them such an offer. There is only one outfit in New York that could handle such a bout—the Madison Square Garden corporation—but beyond admitting that "it would be a great match" the Garden officials refuse to discuss its possibilities.

Maybe it was only a coincidence, but Farley's statement came on the heels of an announcement that the Sharkey-Walker fight was going to Chicago.

In reinstating Walker, the New York commissioners would have to eat a little crow, because Kearns has never pulled a strong oar with the local solons. He has defied and ignored them for years. But crow becomes a palatable dish when one has to eat it to satisfy a grudge. And there is no doubt but that a real grudge would be satisfied if the commission could throw the harpoon into Schmeling's next fight.

GOPHERS CLIMB, MAROONS FALL, IN BIG TEN RACE

TONIGHT.

Iowa at Minnesota.

SATURDAY.

Purdue at Indiana.
Chicago at Northwestern.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Two games last week and three this week mark the dog days of Western conference basketball. However, last week's two engagements dropped the Maroons from a tie with Northwestern for first place to a tie for fifth, and elevated Minnesota to equal terms with Indiana, in second position. The Gophers have an excellent chance to take undisputed possession of the runner-up position when they meet Iowa tonight at Minneapolis.

Iowa has lost three games, but in its one victory walloped Purdue, defending champion. So it is possible that the Hawkeyes may surprise Minnesota as Chicago did early in the season at the Midway.

Gophers Even Score with Maroons.

The Gophers gained revenge for that reverse Saturday night, whipping Chicago, 30 to 27. In many ways the game was similar to the first between the rivals. Minnesota led, 15 to 12, at the half. In the first game Minnesota led, 19 to 14, but Chicago rallied twice and finally won by a point, 32 to 31. Saturday night the Maroons were not equal to the task.

Capt. Marshall Fish led Chicago's assault with five field goals and two free throws. In the first game Sid Yates was the high scorer, but Yates, hardly recovered from an attack of influenza which kept him out of the Michigan game last Monday, was held scoreless from the field.

Purdue, which has engaged in only three of its 12 scheduled games, warmed up Saturday night for resumption of Big Ten competition by defeating Miami university, 42 to 25. With Wooden shifted to forward and Harry Kellar now at guard, the Boilermakers may be ready for a rush to the first division.

By defeating Ohio State last Monday, Michigan split its series with the Buckeyes, and although the Wolverines have only five more games to play, they seem to be much improved over early season. Michigan now holds fourth place. Coach George Veenker has a squad of juniors and sophomores, indicating strength for next season.

Saturday Games Important.

Despite the light schedule, the games Saturday night are important. Chicago threatens Northwestern's undefeated record at Patten gymnasium, and Purdue and Indiana engage in Hoosier title play at Bloomington. If Chicago can handle the ball 60 per cent of the time, it will defeat the Wildcats by its speedy dribbling and blocking attack. The task will be quite easy if Northwestern persists in missing its free throws, for the Maroons have demonstrated their ability in this department.

However, with the exception of center, where Parsons may outjump McCarnes, Northwestern will gain possession of the ball at held balls. Northwestern also will have an advantage in height under both back boards, and all of its five men are scoring threats. Chicago must depend on Yates, Fish and Stephenson to score.

The Indiana-Purdue game, of course, is important to the Hoosiers, for second place at least is at stake. Purdue must win if it expects to rank with the leaders. The Boilermakers still might place in the first five, but they will be counted out of the championship race if defeated.

Frank Stack's 120 Points Win National Skate Meet

BY CHARLES NEVADA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oconomowoc, Wis., Feb. 1.—Frank Stack, winner of THE TRIBUNE'S Milwaukee Silver Skates Derby, today was crowned national senior champion. Stack, a Chicagoan, Canadian born, clinched the 1931 United States title by winning the 440 yard race and placing second in the three-quarters and five mile events. Combined with 50 points yesterday, today's point achievements enabled the Amphion Athletic club speedster to head the list with 120.

WILBUR MARKS.

Eddie Schroeder, Stack's most persistent rival and winner of the Chicago Silver Skates Derby last Sunday, and Charles Delpier, Detroit, finished in a tie for second place, each with 70 points. Schroeder had the best chance of any to tie Stack for major laurels. By winning the final event on the program, the five mile race, Schroeder could have gained a tie, but he slipped on the next to last lap and by the time he had recovered his stride the field had passed him. There were 50 starters in this event.

Wins in Stretch Drive.

Schroeder's only victory today came in the three-quarters mile race. A stretch drive sent the Walton Arrows A. C. star a step ahead of Stack at the finish.

Delpier, tied with Schroeder for second place yesterday, maintained that position to the end. On top of his first day's 40, he added 30 more by taking the five mile grind.

Stack, also holder of the Illinois and Canadian outdoor championships, had little to fear from Allan Potts, defending champion from New York. After winning preliminary and semi-final heats of the 440, Potts tired in the finals under the terrific pace set by his rivals.

Marks Beats Krux.

In the only other class involving a national championship, Wilbur Marks, a clubmate of Schroeder, was crowned king of the country's intermediate skaters. Marks won the 440 final and finished second in the mile and third in the 880 for 60 points, which, with yesterday's 20, gave him enough to beat out Albert Krux, New York youth, and Ed Stundl, a member of the Majestic Skate club, Chicago. Krux had 70 points and Stundl 60.

Clayton Burnett, Detroit junior, skated off with honors for his class. He had 80 points, 30 more than three runnerup Chicagoans, Sig Jablonowski, Vic Ronchetti and Junior Davin. Milton Dussault, Milwaukee juvenile, was high in his division with 80.

In special invitational exhibitions by girls Elizabeth Du Bois, Majestic Skate club of Chicago representative, won the 220 and 440 yard events. In beating the field in the half mile, Miss Du Bois covered the distance in 1:35, time that approached within three-tenths of a second of the national record.

Not New Record.

Officials of the Amateur Skating Union of the United States today said that Sig Jablonowski of Chicago's Franklin Park Skating club did not set a junior 880 yard record yesterday. Although Jablonowski's time was faster than that in the 1929 record book, it did not eclipse the performance reported at Lake Placid, N. Y., in 1930. Last season's mark, yet to become a matter of record, is the standard by which 1931 records are to be compared, they explained.

BUFFALO SWEEPS SHAMROCKS OFF ICE, 3 GOALS TO 2

Second Period Rush Routs Chicagoans.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Buffalo Majors won their fifth straight home game tonight, defeating the Chicago Shamrocks, 3 to 2, before a crowd of nearly 6,000.

The game was marked by close checking and at times bordered on the rough. The Shamrocks were the first to score when Brydson shot in a long one five minutes after the start. Buffalo evened the count in the same period when Donnelly went almost the length of the rink to score.

The Majors jumped out in front by scoring two goals early in the second period, Desy poking the puck into an empty net and Contant counting on a solo rush. Sixteen seconds later Chicago scored, when Riley slipped the puck past Stark from a face off near the goal. The Shamrocks battled desperately to tie the count and in the final period sent four and five men into the attack. Lineup:

Dean Votes to Abolish Football at Johns Hopkins

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Dean Edward Wilber Berry of Johns Hopkins university, said today he was in sympathy with the movement to abolish intercollegiate athletics at the university and form in its stead a comprehensive program of inter-mural sports.

"It should be emphasized," Dean Berry said, "that if we abolish intercollegiate football after the schedule arranged for next fall is completed, it will be to solve our own problems and set an example to other institutions, and not because Hopkins does not turn out winning teams.

"The public seems to forget that institutions can produce winning teams if they are willing to adopt certain methods and invest the necessary cash."

Dean Berry is a member of the committee appointed by Dr. Joseph S. Ames, president of the university, to study the athletic situation at the university.

Bruins Whip Majestics in Rough Battle

The Chicago Bruins defeated the Majestics, 19 to 16, in a rough game last night at the Broadway armory. It was a test of pro basketball against the amateur brand, and the "cash and carry" athletes did not have much of an advantage at the finish.

The game was enlivened by a fist fight between Mack Harper of the Majestics and Charley Murphy of the Bruins. It was declared a draw.

The Majestics led at the end of the first half, 9 to 8. Tommy Cunningham widened the margin when the second half got under way by a long field goal, but Ray Kennedy bagged one to make the count 11 to 10. Ralph Miller tied the score a second later with a free throw.

It wasn't until the last five minutes of play that the Bruins went ahead. Miller put the pros in front, 17 to 15, with two free throws. The Bruins never were headed from then on.

Maury Farber and Bud Foster, former Wisconsin stars, shared 11 of the Majestics' 16 points. Ralph Miller cashed in eight for the Bruins.

In the opening game, the Carl Zepps beat the Chase Parks, 17 to 16, in an overtime period.

OIMEN VICTOR IN CANTON SKI MEET; PAULSON SECOND

Canton, S. D., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Casper Oimen, representing the Sioux Valley Ski club here, won the central amateur ski tournament championship here today. Oiman also won the prize for the longest standing jump in the regular events with 164 feet and the longest standing jump in the special trials, 146 feet.

Oimen scored 152.9 points to win the honors in class A. Guttorm Paulson, Norge Ski club, Chicago, was second with 138.9 points. Russel Froberg, Minneapolis Ski club, was third; Gunnar Oman, Ogden Dunes Ski club, Chicago, fourth; William Anderson, Norwegian A. C., Minneapolis, fifth.

C., Minneapolis, sixth; John Stolt, Minneapolis Ski club, seventh.

GAGNON, LEPINE, MORENZ SCORE FOR MONTREAL

Cook, Adams Tally for Chicagoans.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Brute strength availed the Blackhawks nothing last night at the Stadium in their National Hockey league battle with Les Canadiens of Montreal. The Chicagoans by their determination managed to bring about a 2 to 2 tie by successive goals in the second period, but in the stretch the finished passing of the Canadiens prevailed and they triumphed by 4 to 2 before a new record crowd of 18,007.

The speed that makes the Montreal puck pushers a success showed itself at the very outset. They led, 1 to 0, before a minute had elapsed. They were almost as speedy about making it 2 to 0 when the second session opened, but before its close the Hawks were back on even terms, only to fall behind at the finish when Johnny Gagnon, Pete Lepine and the unequaled Howie Morenze swung into action in a serious way.

Gagnon's individual act, which put Montreal in front almost before the spectators knew the fight had started, began at his own end of the rink. He took the puck down the center until he reached two Hawk defense men. He slapped the missile against the wall at the left, leaped to get it on the rebound and lined it into the net at a spot Goalie Gardiner didn't happen to have plugged. All this happened in the first 30 seconds of play.

Mantha Sent to Box.

On top of Montreal's score, Silvio Mantha of the visitors' defense, grew overenthusiastic about the advantage and tripped one of the Hawks against the fence. He was sentenced to the penalty box and the Chicagoans immediately launched a vicious attack against Les Canadiens' weakened defense, but the exertion netted nothing. Cook, Somers, Couture, and Gottselig all took shots at the hostile goal, but the visiting defender, Hainsworth, bounced the puck right back where it came from.

With the period about half elapsed the action grew heated in the middle of the arena and a casualty instead of a goal was recorded. The flashy Morenz fell in a collision and as he dropped to the ice his stick caught Gottselig, the Hawk wing man, between the eyes. Blood gushed from the tall boy's nose and he tried to leave the floor under his own power, but collapsed and had to be carried. For the remainder of the period the Montreal boys confined themselves to a safety first defense. Gottselig returned to the ice at the close of the period.

A dizzy, marrow chilling second period started with Montreal's cause again in the ascendency. At the outset March tried a futile shot at Les Canadiens' net. Then Morenz captured the puck for Montreal, carried it down the ice in a sensational spurt, and passed to Gagnon in front of the Hawks' net. Gagnon gave it a push past Gardiner, putting the visitors ahead by 2 to 0 in one minute.

Hawks Tie Score.

The Hawks broke into the point column at 2:05. Cook rushed the puck down the ice and shoved it to Adams, who passed it back. Cook rammed it into the net from about ten feet out on the ice.

The Hawks' tying goal came out of a chaotic mess of eleven struggling men in front of Montreal's goal. March took a short shot at the net and the rubber rebounded. Cook rammed the puck pack against Goalie Hainsworth and it bounced out again. Then with four Canadiens, including their goal tender, stretched on the ice, Adams jabbed at the disc and it slid into the net less than six feet away. The time was 19:30.

The final period was only a minute old when it again became evident the boys meant business. In a scramble to get somewhere, Cook of the Hawks and Burke of the enemy defense charged each other with unnecessary vigor and were ousted for two minutes. The dashing Morenz then tried to make some of his individual skill

Indian Meets GreekTonight on Mat Card

The athletes who make their living by twisting each other's ears, toes, and other portions of the anatomy will offer five matches tonight at the 132d infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell.

Jim Clinkstock, the Indian, will try to outrough George Zaharias, Greek-American, in the windup, scheduled for two out of three falls. Clinkstock is 6 feet 4½ inches tall and weighs 260 pounds. Zaharias is 20 pounds lighter.

Fans will have their first chance to see Karl Pojello since the former lightweight champ moved into the upper strata. The Lithuanian star is pitted against Hans Bauer, Germany, in a special match. In the semi-windup Frank Brunovicz, New York Polish youngster, will try for his fifth straight victory here against Nick Velcoff, Bulgarian giant.

Ray Steele, California, will test his strength and skill against Marshall Blackstock, southern youngster.

A fifth match is between Pat O'Shocker, Salt Lake City Irishman, and Jack Washburn.

Match Races to Open Six Day Bike Grind

Franko Georgetti of Italy, world's motor paced champion for the last four years, will meet Freddie Spencer, thrice holder of the American sprint championship, in a one mile match race, best two out of three heats, at the Stadium Saturday night. This race will be one of the features of a card of professional and amateur races which will serve as an appetizer for the six day grind which starts Sunday night with fifteen teams competing.

Bobby Walthour, who has been missing from competition for two years here, will clash with Paul Brocardo of Italy in a mile match, the best two in three heats.

Pietro Linari and Gaetano Belloni, Italian six day stars, will meet Jimmy Walthour and Reggie McNamara, American riders, in a one mile team match. This race will be a test of stamina and speed.

Walthour is not as good a six day rider as Linari or Belloni; the New York boy thinks he can outsprint either.

"This Campaign Awakens Public Consciousness Against Spit" Says
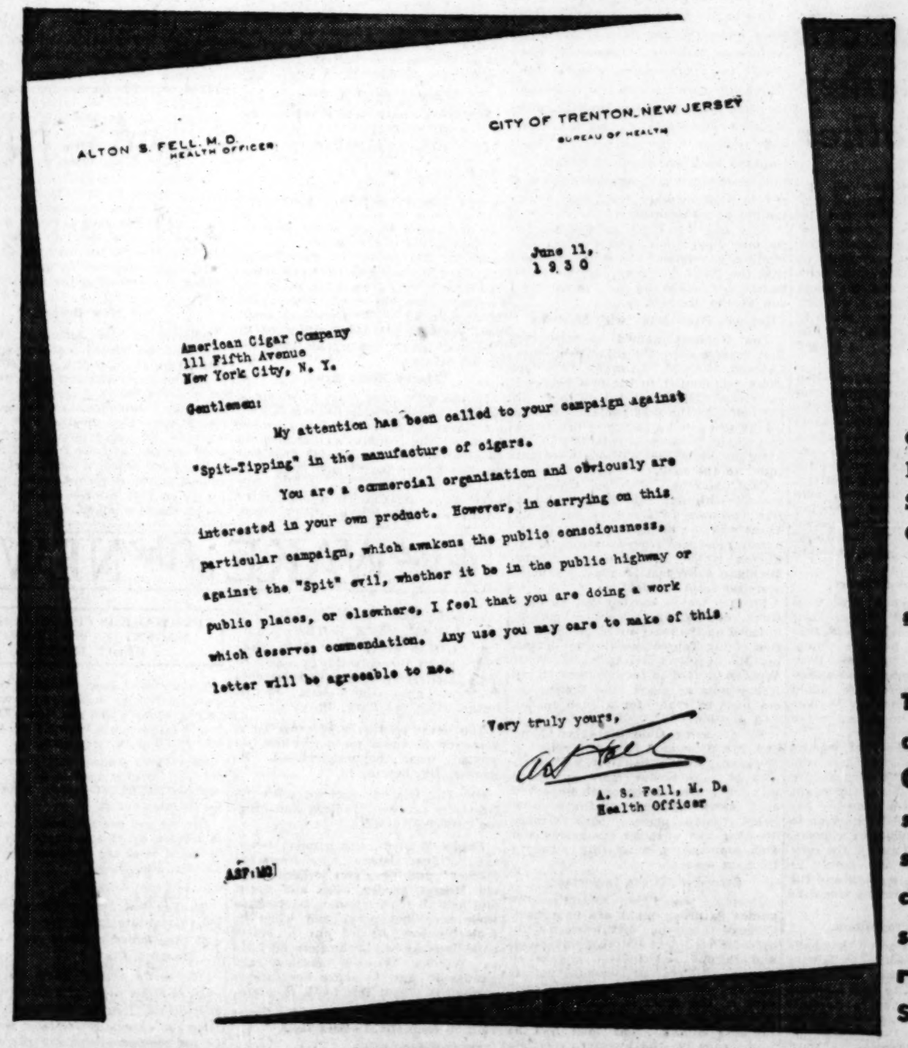
DR. A. S. FELL
Health Officer, City of Trenton, N. J.



ALTON S. FELL, M.D. HEALTH OFFICER
CITY OF TRENTON, NEW JERSEY BUREAU OF HEALTH

June 11, 1930

American Cigar Company
111 Fifth Avenue
New York City, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

My attention has been called to your campaign against "Spit-Tipping" in the manufacture of cigars.

You are a commercial organization and obviously are interested in your own product. However, in carrying on this particular campaign, which awakens the public consciousness, against the "Spit" evil, whether it be in the public highway or public places, or elsewhere, I feel that you are doing a work which deserves commendation. Any use you may care to make of this letter will be agreeable to me.

Very truly yours,
A. S. Fell, M. D.
Health Officer

ASF:MG

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Fell's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Fell writes: "You are doing a work which deserves commendation."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

SHASTA BROOM IS VICTOR IN AUGUA CALIENTE STAKE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Shasta Broom, purchased yesterday by H. H. Cotton for the La Brea stable, won an impressive length victory in the $5,000 added Speed handicap, the six furlong feature of the racing program here today. The time was 1:12.80 over a slow track.

Caruso, running in the colors of W. R. Coe, was closely pressed by his stablemate, Black Majesty, but managed to hold on to take the second slice of the purse, which amounted to $1,000. Black Majesty won an additional $500 for Coe as third place winner. The victory was worth $4,855 to Mrs. H. H. Cotton, in whose name Shasta Broom was entered.

Eleven thoroughbreds went to the post. Two dollar mutuel prices on Shasta Broom were $16.20 to win, $5.40 to place, and $5.00 to show.

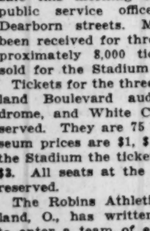
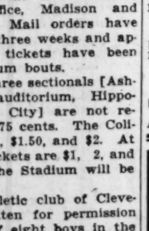
Crain to Box as Welter for Golden Gloves

Chancy Crain, Golden Gloves lightweight champion in 1930, will fight in the west section tournament at Ashland Boulevard auditorium Feb. 16 and 17. Chancy has outgrown the 135 pound class, but he is ready to battle with the welterweights.



JOE ROMAN.



CHANCY CRAIN.

Crain is one of the topnotchers representing the Lawndale gymnasium. George Kamberson's Lawndale squad captured the team trophy last year. Charles Scully is training the team. In addition to Crain, Lawndale will have Earl Watson, the second place winner in Chicago in 1930; David Areen, Illinois outdoor middleweight titleholder; Harold Gunnington, Max Stotland, Tommy Novak, Frank Szarfinski, Johnny Phagan, and Terris Hill, Central A. A. U. light heavyweight champion.

Joe Roman, scrappy Spanish lad who represented Chicago last year in the intercity Golden Gloves bouts with New York in the featherweight division, will compete in the White City preliminary bouts Feb. 23 and 24. Roman again was a winner in the annual Will county tournament held by the Steel Works club, Joliet, Ill., and, according to M. P. Gleason, athletic director, the club will send its team to White City.

Bob Poisall, sports editor of the Danville, Ill., Commercial-News, reports that interest in his sectional Golden Gloves tournament is doubled over last year. Danville draws a number of entries from the University of Illinois. Edwin F. Steeve, middleweight champion in 1930, won his title while a senior in the school of civil engineering at the state university.

Tickets for the Coliseum bouts March 2, 3, and 4 and the final night at the Stadium, March 11, will be placed on sale this morning at THE TRIBUNE public service office, Madison and Dearborn streets. Mail orders have been received for three weeks and approximately 8,000 tickets have been sold for the Stadium bouts.

Tickets for the three sectionals [Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Hippodrome, and White City] are not reserved. They are 75 cents. The Coliseum prices are $1, $1.50, and $2. At the Stadium the tickets are $1, 2, and $3. All seats at the Stadium will be reserved.

The Robins Athletic club of Cleveland, O., has written for permission to enter a team of eight boys in the White City tournament Feb. 23 and 24.

Stadium Names Three as Likely Canzoneri Foe

Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Stadium, today will submit the names of three fighters to the boxing commission, any one of whom he considers a worthy opponent for Tony Canzoneri in the main event of Wednesday's boxing show. Canzoneri was to have fought Goldie Hess but influenza forced the latter's withdrawal.

Tommy Grogan of Omaha is the outstanding fighter of the three. He lost a close decision to the lightweight champion after having him on the floor for a nine count. The other two are Cecil Payne of Louisville, Ky., and Tony Herrera of Forth Worth, Tex. If the commission approves one of the three it remains for Canzoneri to agree to the selection.

effective, but his long thrusts at the Hawks' net were turned back.

Montreal broke the deadlock at 8:00 when Gagnon got the puck under the protection of his stick up at the Hawks' end. He dodged down the right side and when just over the blue line let fly for the net. The disc caromed off Goalie Gardiner and settled about ten feet away from him. Before he could lunge out to slap it away, Lepine, who had charged down the middle of the rink, pounded the puck into the webbing.

With the final whistle about ready to blow, Morenz made victory a certainty when he took the puck at his own end of the rink, nudged it past the one defense man the Hawks were using, and shot it into the net after skating to within reach of Goalie Gardiner's stick. The time on this feat was 19:50.

Lieut. Hunter scored in the second chukker, but the goal counted only a half point because he committed a foul. In the final period, Barger's goal for North Shore also was ruled foul.

The Brooklyn Riding and Driving club, national indoor champions, was defeated by the Chicago Riding club in the battle for third place. Led by James Hannah, who scored three goals, the Chicago team won, 9 to 4. Three pony goals, points kicked in by the mounts, were made.

BAER THREATENS TO SUE MEMBER OF BOXING BOARD

Orangeburg, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Max Baer, heavyweight fighter from Livermore, Cal., said today he had instructed William Hornblower, San Francisco attorney and state assemblyman, to investigate reports that the Rev. Leslie Kelley had made defamatory statements against him. Baer is training here for his fight with Tommy Loughran at New York Friday.

The California fighter said he told the attorney to bring suit for defamation of character against Mr. Kelley, San Francisco member of the state athletic commission, if the reports were true.

N. U. to Start Drill Today for Chicago Game

Northwestern university athletic teams resume activities this week after the midyear examination period.

Coach Dutch Lonborg's basketball squad will start practice today in preparation for Saturday night's encounter with Chicago at Patten gym. The players were excused from practice last week. With four straight conference victories chalked up, the Purple will endeavor to continue in the lead of the title race at the expense of the Maroons.

Lockhart Still on Bench.

Barring any loss through ineligibility as a result of examinations, the Wildcats will present the same lineup which was used in the first semester. Coach Lonborg almost has given up hope of getting any further service this year of Bob Lockhart, star guard. His injured knee has slowed him up too much to enable him to work regularly.

The Purple swimmers open their collegiate season with a dual meet with Washington university at Patten gym Friday night. Coach Tom Robinson's national champions have only two regulars back, Capt. Bill Covode and Bill Wilson, both free style men.

Wrestlers Travel East.

The wrestling team will leave Thursday night on a brief invasion of the east, meeting West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va., Friday night and the Navy at Annapolis Saturday. Coach Orion Stuteville and eight men will comprise the squad.

BRICKIES AND SPARTAS TAKE SOCCER GAMES

The Spartas won from the Jugo-Slavs, 2 to 0, and the Bricklayers defeated the Maccabees, 7 to 1, in the indoor soccer double header yesterday at the 124th Field Artillery armory. Two thousand fans attended.

Willie Maclean scored three goals for the Brickies, while Munro, Greenlees, Martin, and Scott each added one. Perlman scored the Maccabees' goal.

Kratochvil and Stevenson netted the points which won for the Spartas.

Under the Mercury Quartz Lamp, $1.50
This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only a part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself!
For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicaments. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp. THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorder of the scalp from every angle and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and tightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. This complete treatment, Including the Ultra-Violet Ray, is $3.50

FARM BOARD IS QUESTION MARK TO GRAIN TRADE

How Long Will Legge Stay in Office?

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

When the farm board will liquidate its holdings of wheat, how are they liable to be disposed of, and how long will Chairman Legge of the farm board continue in office, are questions uppermost in the minds of grain traders.

The best answer, as near as speculative traders can discover, is that holdings of cash wheat will eventually be largely taken by mills and elevator interests, and possibly considerable will be sold for future delivery and the cash grain delivered. That there will be a loss is conceded by all interests.

The loss of a hundred million or two hundred million dollars by the farm board, however, is small considered with what business in general might have suffered had the farm board not supported the wheat market last November. Chairman Legge explained at a luncheon here last week. If the gossip about Chairman Legge's retirement is correct, he will not be in office very long. His close friends, however, say they know nothing about his intentions regarding retirement.

See Unusual Situation.

There is a most unusual situation in the world's wheat markets, traders say, there being too large a surplus which is reflected in lowest prices in years, and it is generally agreed that the only relief can come from a greatly reduced acreage and a crop calamity this year in all producing countries. It is freely remarked by traders that there is a famine in the midst of plenty. People are said to be starving in some sections of the United States, and congress has passed a measure appropriating 20,000,000 bu of wheat held by the farm board to be ground into flour for distribution in the drought sections. This will produce over 4,000,000 barrels of flour, and relieve the farm board of 20,000,000 bu of wheat, reducing its holdings to 40,000,000 bu of cash grain, as it has been credited with having 60,000,000 bu.

Aside from the farm board situation, drought and abnormally high temperatures over the greater part of the country, particularly in the winter wheat sections, are attracting increased attention as the season is rapidly approaching the point where general rains are absolutely necessary to permit a replenishment of streams and wells and provide moisture for plant growth.

Farmers Selling Wheat.

Cash wheat is passing into the hands of the farm board in the southwest at a liberal rate, as the movement there being the largest in recent years, and there is also more wheat back in the country than in any former year.

Millers are absorbing a great deal of wheat, and have made fair sales of flour for July and August shipment. The general trade of flour, however, is of a hand to mouth character.

Canada, Argentina, and Australia are exporting wheat in a liberal way, Canada competing with other countries in foreign markets. Importing countries, however, are buying as supplies are required, seeing nothing in the situation to necessitate anticipating future needs.

March and December wheat prices in Chicago are within a fraction of

Jan. Dividends Show Changes from Year Ago

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—Dividend declarations in January showed some drastic changes from a year ago and are less in the aggregate than in 1930. Although an exact comparison with last year is not available, the curtailment is reflected in the accompanying figures.

Payments voted by 1,183 corporations in January totaled $349,571,195 compared with $308,338,685 for 702 corporations in January, 1930, and with $567,877,243 for 2,192 corporations in December last.

Included in the total corporation payments for January were disbursements by 201 bank and insurance companies totaling $37,548,163 compared with payments of $95,437,027 by 545 of these companies in December and $8,547,313 by 31 bank and insurance companies in January, 1930.

Reflect Depression.

The severity of the business depression which prevailed throughout last year was forcibly brought to the attention of shareholders in January when many dividends were reduced and others omitted entirely. Earnings as reported showed several large corporations had not earned dividends they were paying in 1930. Others elected to continue the rates for 1930 despite poor earnings in the last quarter of the past year.

Some idea may be gleaned of the increase in smaller payments to shareholders from the special dividend actions taken in January. There were 96 divisions omitted, compared with 67 last year; 51 reductions, against 10 in 1930, and 17 stock payments, contrasted with 39 in January, 1930. Extra payments numbered 115, against 87 in 1930, due in part to the greater number of corporations used in 1931 figures.

Continue Payments.

Payments to shareholders were continued by the United States Steel corporation at the regular rates, also by the Bethlehem Steel corporation in announcements for the first quarter of 1931.

Shareholders of American Tobacco company received an extra $1 dividend on the common and class B shares, together with the regular payments. The Liggett & Myers company also paid extras of $1 on both the common and class B shares, and dividends were resumed by the Art Metal Works with the payment of 15 cents on the common.

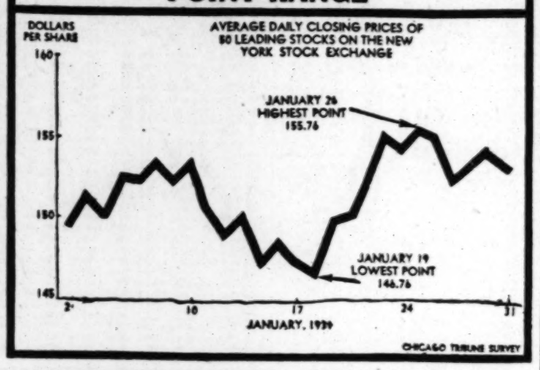
THE AVERAGE PRICE OF FIFTY LEADING STOCKS DURING JANUARY HELD WITHIN A NINE POINT RANGE



U. S. INVESTORS' FOREIGN LOANS ARE $1,085,613,000

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—(AP)—American investors loaned more money to foreign corporations and governments last year than in 1929.

The commerce department announced today that despite the business depression the loans for 1930 amounted to $1,085,613,000, compared with $705,767,000 in 1929.

While the 1930 foreign investments were less than the average for 1925-'28 inclusive, their totals ran far above the average in all other previous years.

The bulk of the foreign advances were made during the first half of 1930. In the last half the outflow shut off sharply.

Only Canadian governmental borrowers were successful in floating large issues in this country during the last three months of 1930. The dominion and provincial governments were able to obtain $122,500,000 at a time when other new issues were being held off the market. For the entire year, new American investment in Canada totaled $330,000,000.

Selected Industries, Inc., Reports $2,240,309 Net

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Selected Industries, Inc., an investment trust, reports net income of $2,240,309 for 1930. Security holdings which cost $66,275,305, had a market value on Jan. 22 of $49,477,139, a depreciation of 22 per cent.

WEST SIDE TRUST & SAVINGS ACQUIRES SCHIFF BANK ASSETS

The West Side Trust and Savings bank, 735 West Roosevelt road, has acquired the deposits and business of the Schiff Trust and Savings bank, 728 Roosevelt road, it was announced last night. The Schiff Trust is one of the oldest banks in Chicago outside of the downtown loop.

The West Side Trust was founded over 25 years ago by L. H. Heymann, its president, the Morris family and other stock yards interests. Acquisition of the business of the Schiff Trust and Savings bank gives it total assets exceeding $15,000,000.

The directorate of the West Side Trust and Savings bank includes Louis Boisot, formerly vice president and trust officer of the First Union Trust and Savings bank of Chicago; L. H. Heymann, president; Walter M. Heymann, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago; C. L. Jernberg, vice president; Irving N. Klein, Nelson Morris, A. G. Leonard, president of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company; M. B. Mervis, W. H. Regnory, H. S. Pflaum, and H. Isaacs.

Budd Wheel Shows Net Earnings of $1,456,725

The annual report of Budd Wheel company, Philadelphia, for 1930 shows net earnings of $1,456,725, equal after preferred dividends, to $1.36 a share on the common stock. Net earnings in 1929 were $1,791,809.

PEOPLES GAS 1930 NET INCOME EXCEEDS 1929 AGAINST LOWER SALES

Smaller sales of gas by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, which serves Chicago, occurred last year but efficiency and economy in operations enabled the company to earn larger profits than in 1929.

This is shown in the annual report, made public last night. A decline in gas sales of 2.84 per cent resulted largely from smaller sales to large industrial users because of the general depression. But total operating revenues declined only 2.81 per cent, while operating expenses declined nearly 3½ per cent.

The final figures confirm the preliminary report issued several weeks ago. Net income for 1930 was $7,197,072, equivalent to $11.50 a share on 625,400 shares of capital stock outstanding, compared with net income of $6,782,959, or $11.97 a share on 566,400 shares, in 1929. After dividends of $8 a share, a balance of $2,364,052 was added to surplus, which now stands at $28,751,444.

President George F. Mitchell reaffirms the belief that natural gas from the Texas panhandle district will be available for Chicago consumption toward the end of this year. It will be mixed with artificial gas now manufactured in the company's plants.

WINTER INFLUX OF MERCHANTS BEGINS TODAY

Encouraged by an advance registration 16 per cent greater than for the same occasion a year ago, Chicago's great central wholesale market today will launch the semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants' council and its attending style shows and merchandise exhibits. A total attendance during the week, which normally represents the peak of activity in the wholesale district, is expected to total about 10,000 buyers and retail merchants from all parts of the continent.

The convention at the Hotel Sherman of the Interstate Merchants' council, which is an affiliate of the Chicago Association of Commerce, should attract 2,000 retail store owners. Its opening sessions begin tomorrow noon with John McKinlay, president of Marshall Field & Co., addressing the convention on the subject, "Some Thoughts for Retailers."

A feature of this year's market of spring, and summer lines will be a style show of the Interstate Merchants' council, which will be limited to new fashions created in Chicago. These will be displayed on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Other style, giftware and general merchandise exhibits will be held in the Merchandise Mart, Furniture Mart and at various hotels.

January Justifies Business Expectations, Review Finds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—January justified expectations of an improvement in the business situation, according to the current bulletin of the National City bank. Activity in the steel and automobile industries has increased, the bank says, and has been paralleled by a general broadening out of business in other important lines. Employment reports indicate a substantial expansion of pay rolls, and sentiment among business men is distinctly more confident.

"To what extent the improvement in sentiment is due to the better trend in the security markets is impossible to say," the bulletin continues. "Whether at any given point it should be said that business reflects the stock market or that the stock market reflects business is always a question for debate. Doubtless in the long run the stock market will take its cue from business rather than the reverse, but the two influences act and react upon each other, and there can be no doubt that the swing of stock prices is an important factor in shaping public psychology.

Reveal Low Point.

"Figures which have become available during the last month reveal in striking fashion the extreme low point to which industrial activity fell in December. At 82 per cent of the 1923-25 average, the composite production index of the federal reserve board was down 2 points from the November level and the lowest for any month since May, 1922. Moreover, if any allowance is made for the normal growth of business from year to year the current showing as compared with previous years is even worse."

With the recovery in industrial activity since the year-end, steel mill operations have been stepped up to around 46 per cent of capacity, the bulletin says. It continues:

"While this represents a considerable percentage increase from the low point, the gain started from such a low level that the current rate falls a good way short of the 74 per cent rate in effect at this time a year ago. Some disappointment has been felt that the advance has not been more vigorous, yet it could hardly be otherwise in view of the status of ultimate consumption. It is now clearly seen that the advance a year ago was too rapid and led to overproduction, and the feeling of most authorities at the present time is that business progress will be on a sounder basis if it moves slowly.

Reflects Preparation.

"So far as the revival of manufacturing already witnessed is concerned, it must be recognized that this reflects to a large extent an expansion of production in preparation for an expected consumer demand. This is particularly true of the automobile industry, whose enlarged activity in recent weeks has been a prime factor in the stimulus to industry generally. It remains yet to be demonstrated to what extent these larger programs of production have been justified, and in our judgment the decisive test as to recovery will lie in the extent to which industry is successful in distributing this enlarged output to the consumer.

This, coupled with the trend of building operations this spring, particularly in the residential field, should give more reliable indication as to whether or not the turning point in the depression has really taken place."

1930 EARNINGS REPORTS SPOIL CURRENT HOPES

Situation Follows Year of Slump.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 1.—Last week the actual state of financial feeling was put to the test which preliminary recovery after a year of severe depression always has to face.

Such a year first presents to the financial mind and imagination visible evidence of greatly diminished sales and of falling prices; then, after a considerable lapse of time, reports come in of the actual results of company profits and company dividends.

These dismal quarterly or annual statements often appear when markets are beginning to pick up confidence; sometimes they operate as a fresh and formidable shock. One notable instance occurred in the closing week of January, 1915. The markets had been recovering cheerfully from the shock of war; the good points in our own financial outlook were coming to be recognized; the month had already produced advances ranging from 4 to 10 points—a rapid rise for those days. On Jan. 26 the U. S. Steel corporation reported a decrease of 50 per cent in the fourth quarter

AMERICAN COMMONWEALTHS POWER SYSTEM

CONTINUES TO GROW

Gross Revenues of more than $4,500,000 and Net Revenues of over $2,200,000 have been added to the increasing gross and net of American Commonwealths Power System through the acquisition of the properties of Dominion Gas and Electric Company, as of December 30, 1930. The newly acquired utility properties serve a population of over 250,000 with electricity or gas for light, heat and power in 102 communities situated in the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia of the Dominion of Canada; the larger centers of which are Calgary and Edmonton.

The areas in which the new acquisitions are located are among the most productive agricultural regions in the Dominion. These areas are adequately served by the important Transcontinental Railway Systems of Canada and are rapidly developing in financial and commercial importance.

In adding these properties to its system of electric and gas services, the management of

has further extended its operations into territories where the possibilities for growth are unlimited—thus enlarging upon the policy of diversification in its investment in utility properties and by so doing further adding to the stability of earnings.

The properties now comprising the Corporation's System render one or more utility services to a population exceeding 2,850,000 in over 400 communities in the United States and Canada. The areas served are well diversified as to industry, agriculture and natural resources and give definite promise of future growth and development.

For further information regarding the Corporation, its Securities, and areas served, inquire of your Investment Security Dealer, or address Secretary.

1930 EARNINGS REPORTS SPOIL CURRENT HOPES

Situation Follows Year of Depression.

The market responded by an immediate 13 point decline in "Steel." All other stocks fell rapidly, and financial discouragement began to spread again. Somewhat the same experience overtook the January markets of 1922, when the Steel company reported a $5,290,000 deficit after dividends for the fourth quarter of 1921 and a $14,000,000 deficit for the whole of that unlucky year.

Both in 1922 and 1915 some time elapsed before the financial community seemed to realize that the earnings reports which had so greatly disturbed it were in the nature of past history, picturing industrial conditions which had been fully "discounted" on the stock exchange months before, and which, in their acute form, at any rate, had already ceased to exist.

Show Greater Composure.

Last week's markets exhibited greater composure. It was, to be sure, with something of a shock that Wall street read last Tuesday afternoon the official statement of a $9,000,000 deficit for the December quarter in Steel earnings after dividends, as against a $19,000,000 surplus the year before, and learned that the quarter's net earnings, with all the interesting additions to productive plants, which turned out to be the smallest since the first quarter of 1922: December's earnings alone being actually the smallest of any month since February, 1915.

Yet the resultant decline in stocks was only momentary, and rather quickly followed by recovery. It will be interesting to see what happened afterward in the trade itself on those two earlier occasions.

Comparison with 1915 would not be fair, because the deluge of European "war munition orders" descended on the American steel trade only a few months after January. In 1922, even when the stock exchange had regained its sense of confidence, "Steel earnings" both for January and for the year's first quarter, turned out to be actually less than in the closing month and quarter of 1921. That was a not unnatural consequence, when mills were then making delivery on the orders placed in the depression of two or three months before. But net earnings in each of the three ensuing quarters ran about 30 per cent above the opening quarter of 1922; before 1923 was over, monthly and quarterly results had matched the best of 1921.

Associated Apparel Industries.

It will be appreciated if you will give me helpful investment data concerning Associated Apparel common and prospects of maintaining the present dividend.—M. K. H.

Associated Apparel Industries, Inc., makes corsets, brassieres and other articles of women's wear. Factories are at Belvidere, Ill.; Elkhart and Logansport, Ind.; Janesville, Wis.; Ishpeming, Mich.; Toronto, Ont., and Leighton Buzzard, England. There are sales offices and distributing warehouses throughout the United States and in Canada, South America, and Australia. The present company was formed in 1919 as H. W. Gossard company. The present name was adopted in 1928.

Sales and earnings have increased steadily in the last six years. There was a sharp gain in 1928 as a result of an expansion program begun the year before.

In the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1930, net profit was $1,028,404, equal to $4.95 per share on 207,500 common shares. This covered the $4 annual dividend, which has been in effect since 1926, and left $202,415 to be credited to surplus.

Previously the fiscal year had coincided with the calendar year. In the eleven months to Nov. 30, 1929, net profit had been $1,224,964, including $167,869 profit on sale of capital assets. This was equal to $5.90 per share on the same number of shares.

On Nov. 30, 1930, current assets were $6,522,610, and current liabilities were $2,612,249. This left a working capital of $3,920,361, against $4,158,358 a year before.

There is only one class of stock. Funded debt amounted to $1,064,000. Surplus was $1,749,212, against $1,965,467 at the close of 1929.

The company was recently reported holding conversations with Munsingwear, Inc., looking toward a consolidation of the two concerns. The report stated that definite action would depend upon the report of auditors, who were working on Munsingwear's books. The latter company manufactures hosiery and underwear for men, women and children, and its product is distributed largely through the same shops that sell Associated Apparel products. It was believed that economies in distribution could be effected through the proposed merger.

The management of Associated Apparel has stated that retail stocks are low and that the company's prospects for 1931 are favorable.

The stock is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

Tonopah Eastern Mining.

Is the stock of Tonopah Eastern Mining company, incorporated in Utah in 1926, of any value?—B. N.

This company was reported to be out of existence shortly after it was incorporated. In 1918 no value was found for the stock for inheritance tax purposes.

FARM BOARD IS QUESTION MARK TO GRAIN TRADE

How Long Is Legge to Stay in Office?

the "pag" price, and there was liquidation by holders. July wheat has been oversold in Chicago and Winnipeg, and a rectifying of this position was responsible for a good upturn in prices, with a break following with the completion of the short coverings.

Operators expect that with the opening of trading in September delivery in Chicago, there will be greater latitude for spreading operations which, they say, should increase the volume of trading.

An increase in the visible supply of wheat is expected in today's report. supplies, however, are abnormal, being 190,730,000 bu a wheat ago against 168,000,000 bu last year. In Canada supplies were 87,000,000 bu a week ago against 104,000,000 bu last year. Canada has between 250,000,000 and 260,000,000 bu surplus, while the United tates also has heavy supplies, ever 200,000,000 bu.

Closing trades were ¾c lower on old crop futures and 1¾c higher on new, March being 79¼c; May, 81⅝c, July, 65¾@65⅞c. Winnipeg May closed at 58c and July 59¼c, gaining 1@1¼c for the week. Prices follow:

New Low On in Corn Prices.

Corn prices were on the downgrade practically from start to finish, with the lowest close of the season, March at 61⅜c, May 62¾@63⅝c, July 64½@64⅝c, and September 64¼@64⅝c, net losses being 2¼@2⅝c.

Liquidation by those who have believed that corn should sell higher than wheat under existing conditions, combined with sales by traders who say that corn is relatively too high as compared with wheat, were largely responsible for price recessions. Another factor was the absence of outside buying support, leaving the trade to professionals.

Mild weather reduced consumption, and indifference on the part of distributors in largest consuming sections to anticipate requirements contributed to the weakness and decline. Prices for the week follow:

BETHLEHEM HAS 25,000 EMPLOYE STOCKHOLDERS

New York, Feb. 1.—In the last eight years 25,000 employés of the Bethlehem Steel corporation have become stockholders through annual savings, Eugene G. Grace, president of the corporation, said today.

Mr. Grace announced that under the employés' savings and stock ownership plan for 1931 employés might purchase the company's 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $121 a share and pay for it in 28 months at $4 a share monthly. The subscriber owns the stock outright after paying $109.10 a share in installments, as the dividends and special benefits more than offset the 5 per cent interest on the unpaid balances during the installment period. Employés receive benefits of $1 a share the first year, $2 the second year, $3 the third, $4 the fourth, and $5 in the fifth year of their ownership of each annual issue.

The investment of employés in Bethlehem stock totals $17,000,000. Continuance of their holdings during the business recession has been aided by the maintenance of the wage scale and freedom from unemployment, according to a statement by the corporation. The statement adds that the regular pay roll force had been maintained without permanent layoffs, by allocating the work on a distributed employment basis.

PEABODY BUYS CRERAR CLINCH DUQUOIN MINES

Duquoin, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—It became known here today that the two Duquoin mining properties of the Crerar Clinch Coal company of Chicago have passed into the hands of the Peabody Coal company of Chicago, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the middle west, effective today.

Negotiations for the sale of the Duquoin mines began shortly after the death of R. Floyd Clinch, president of the Crerar Clinch company. While the consideration involved has not yet been announced, it is known to be substantial since both mines are among the most valuable in this field.

The Majestic mine is a shaft property and the underground working conditions are among the most favorable in the state. The mine employs about 600 men and with its present available coal acreage of 2,000 acres can be operated for at least thirty years. The other property acquired was the Gyle Strip mine, which has been under the development of the Crerar Clinch interests for several years. No changes in the personnel of the local organization are expected.

Organize Group of Detroit Bridge Co. Bondholders

Discusses the Time Worn Outcry Against Machine Age

BY SCRUTATOR.

The machine age has been painted as something like a dragon devouring men. This idea has been prevalent for hundreds of years. It was shown here some time ago that laws were passed in England before the year 1400 to prohibit the making of caps with primitive machinery. Much more than a century ago there was a tremendous outcry against the displacement of labor by steam mechanism.

Soft pedaling the oft quoted argument that machinery makes jobs faster than it destroys them, it yet remains true that machinery must renew itself or be renewed even faster than any human labor which could by a stretch of the imagination be conceived as taking its place. The amount of reconstruction that must be done on this machinery is in itself an important factor in the employment of labor.

Machine Age Here to Stay.

There are very definite reasons why we have the machine age with us and why we cannot get away from it; why on the contrary we must continue to increase our diplomatic relations with it.

First of these is that a whole people can consume only what it produces or can get with a part of its production in foreign commerce. A man with a spade and a hoe and nothing else but land can grow a certain amount of corn. Chinamen with wheel barrows can compete fairly well, although not entirely with success, against a steam shovel.

Complaint has been made that the new development in telephony are acting to cut down employment. The number of switchboard operators required is less than it was before the dial system was perfected. Telegraph operators have been displaced by the improvement in methods. Estimates vary, but perhaps the majority of those who would have been needed under old time methods have lost their places.

For individuals these developments are often tragic. But half a century ago, or thereabouts, there was no telephone employé anywhere. A century ago the telephone operator was nonexistent. Forty years ago the automobile industry was nothing. Today, in some form or other, it employs 3 to 10 per cent of the working population in the United States.

Where, it might well be asked, could the millions in the industries named be employed if these occupations, certainly products of the machine age, had never been found? They would be in simpler work, in farming, in weaving, herding sheep. They might be as happy, but they would be more ignorant, less traveled, harder worked so far as muscles go and living with fewer comforts.

Where Profit Lies.

That nation is most prosperous which consumes most. Bankers and others who urge more thrift, if they speak to individuals, are right. If they are talking to people in the mass they are wrong. If machinery makes it easier to accomplish work, we have to take the dividend some way, in more consumption or in shorter hours of labor. It is idle to believe that most of our people would rather have fewer hours than more comforts as yet. An attempt to hamper new discoveries or products to fill new wants that can be created would be as foolish now as it would have been a hundred years ago.

A great deal of our machinery is actually outmoded now. The American Machinist finds that of the 1,400,000 machine tools in our metal working plants today 48 per cent date back to the war or pre-war days. These are machines to make machines. A billion dollars ought to be spent in replacing them now. Billions more would be required to replace all obsolescent machinery. To that extent the machine age has been making its own work.

NET OF ASSOC. INVESTMENT IS ONLY 4% LOWER

Although total volume of notes receivable purchased during 1930 decreased about 10 per cent from 1929, net profits of Associates Investment company of South Bend totaled $962,568 after provision for all reserves. This represents a four per cent decrease from the previous year, according to E. M. Morris, president.

Net profits equal $11.17 per share on the 77,972 shares of common stock outstanding, after provision for preferred dividends, which for the year amounted to $91,000. The full year's dividend requirements [$4 being paid annually on the common] were covered by a margin of $562,246.

Will Resign as Head of Richfield Oil Committee

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Philip De Ronde, chairman of the common stock holders' protective committee of the Richfield Oil company of California, now in receivership, said today he would resign from the committee tomorrow as a protest against statements issued on behalf of the committee of which he has no knowledge. Mr. De Ronde in particular took exception to a statement appearing in this morning's Herald-Tribune, attributed to S. P. Woodard, vice chairman of the protective committee, in which Woodard is quoted as saying that a "prominent oil company is formulating an offer which the committee believes will be attractive to stockholders."

"I know of no such offer," said Mr. De Ronde. "Neither does the receiver."

NET OF COMMERCIAL INVESTMENT TRUST IS BEATEN ONLY BY 1929

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Commercial Investment Trust corporation today reported that the gross business and earnings in 1930 were the largest in history with the single exception of 1929.

The corporation, which is not an investment trust but a finance company, reported net profits available for dividends amounted to $8,318,793, against $9,132,610 in 1929 and $5,278,262 in 1928. Net volume of bills and accounts purchased during the year totaled $392,044,170 against $489,544,018 in the record year of 1929, and $282,162,896 in 1928.

Deducting dividends for preferred and preference stock there remained available for dividends on the common stock $5,580,724, equal to $2.75 a share of common on the average number of shares outstanding during 1930, compared with $4.47 a share on the same basis in 1929, and $3.88 in 1928.

"The experience of 1930 confirms our faith in the fundamental soundness and safety of installment paper," says President Henry Ittleson, in a report to stockholders. "While repossessions and charge off items arising out of installment paper acquired by us have been somewhat larger than usual in proportion to the volume of business, they have not been disturbing at any time."

ENDORSES BRITTEN BILL.

Henry S. Chatfield, chairman of the industrial alcohol committee of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish association, has endorsed the Britten bill for the regulation of methanol wood alcohol in interstate commerce.
